House Price Indices:

House Price Indices Thomas G. Thibodeau, 1997-03-31 This book contains a special issue of the Journal of Real Estate Finance and Economics comprising thirteen articles on house price measurement These articles address the various procedures used to compute cross sectional or temporal house price indices Specifically these articles contain research that 1 evaluates hedonic repeat sales or hybrid approaches to constructing house price indices 2 evaluates alternative sources of data on house prices and corresponding housing characteristics 3 identifies the most influential land structural neighborhood and proximity determinants of house prices and associated changes in house prices 4 provides a methodology for identifying housing market segments 5 incorporates spatial autocorrelation in house price indices and 6 provides more accurate estimates of the variance in house prices

Construction and Application of Property Price Indices Anthony Owusu-Ansah, 2018-07-11 The importance of house prices to households real estate developers banks and policy makers cannot be overemphasised House price changes affect consumer spending and business investment patterns which in turn affect the wider macro economy and the entire business cycle Measuring and understanding house prices is therefore essential to a functioning economy but researchers continue to disagree on the best methodological approach for constructing real estate indices This book argues the need for more accurate house price indices outlines the various methods used to construct indices and discusses the existing house price indices around the globe It shows how the raw data of property transactions can be prepared for the purpose of constructing indices discusses various applications of property price indices and empirically demonstrates how the index numbers can be used to model the supply of new houses and to estimate the price elasticity of supply Essential reading for economists real estate professionals and researchers and policy makers

Handbook on Residential Property Price Indices OECD, Eurostat, International Labour Organization, International Monetary Fund, The World Bank, United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, 2013-04-22 This Handbook provides for the first time comprehensive guidelines for the compilation of Residential Property Price Indexes and explains in depth the methods and best practices used to calculate an RPPI

How to Better Measure Hedonic Residential Property Price Indexes Mick Silver, 2016-11-16 Hedonic regressions are used for property price index measurement to control for changes in the quality mix of properties transacted The paper consolidates the hedonic time dummy approach characteristics approach and imputation approaches A practical hedonic methodology is proposed that i is weighted at a basic level ii has a new quasi superlative form and thus mitigates substitution bias iii is suitable for sparse data in thin markets and iv only requires the periodic estimation of hedonic regressions for reference periods and is not subject to the vagrancies of misspecification and estimation issues

Global Liquidity, House Prices, and the Macroeconomy Ambrogio Cesa-Bianchi, Luis Felipe Céspedes, Mr. Alessandro Rebucci, 2015-01-29 In this paper we first compare house price cycles in advanced and emerging economies using a new quarterly house price data set covering the period 1990 2012 We find that house prices in emerging economies grow faster are more volatile less persistent and less synchronized across countries than in advanced economies We also find that they correlate with capital flows more closely than in advanced economies We then condition the analysis on an exogenous change to a particular component of capital flows We find that a global liquidity shock identified by aggregating bank to bank cross border flows and by using the external instrumental variable approach of Stock and Watson 2012 and Mertens and Ravn 2013 has a much stronger impact on house prices and consumption in emerging markets than in advanced economies In our empirical model holding house prices or the exchange rate constant in response to this shock tends to dampen its effects on consumption in emerging economies

Consumer Price Index Manual International Monetary Fund, International Labour Office, Statistical Office of the European Communities, United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, World Bank, 2025-06-30 The Theory publication and the companion on the practice of compiling consumer price indices CPIs is jointly published by the member agencies of the Inter Secretariat Working Group on Price Statistics IWGPS the Statistical Office of the European Union Eurostat the International Labour Organization ILO the IMF the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe UNECE and the World Bank The IMF managed the update of the Theory publication and the CPI Manual Drafting of this publication was led by Erwin Diewert with support from various authors The Theory publication will be translated into Spanish French Arabic and Russian

House Prices and the Macroeconomy Charles Goodhart, Boris Hofmann, 2007 House price bubbles and their aftermath have become a focus of macro economic policy concern in most developed countries This book elucidates the two way relationship between house price fluctuations and economic fundamentals Housing has many features which make it distinct from other assets like equity Real estate is not only an asset but also a durable consumption good for households providing shelter and other housing services As a result a house is often the largest and most important asset of households and therefore accounts for a major share of household wealth Similarly a large share of bank assets is tied to housing values House price fluctuations may therefore have a major effect on economic activity and the soundness of the financial system Following an introductory chapter the book is structured into three parts The first demonstrates the importance of house prices as determinants or indicators of inflation and economic activity The second focuses on the inter relationships between bank credit extension and housing prices and how bubbles can lead to financial crises The third discusses resultant public policy issues such as whether and how to include housing prices in a general inflation index and how to restrain the housing bank credit cycle

Residential Real Estate Anupam Nanda, 2019-03-20 Residential Real Estate introduces readers to the economic fundamentals and emerging issues in housing markets The book investigates housing market issues within local regional national and international contexts in order to provide students with an understanding of the economic principles that underpin residential property markets Key topics covered include Location choice in urban areas Housing supply and demand Housing finance and housing as an asset class Demographic shifts and implications for housing Sustainable homes and digitalisation in housing Drawing on market level information readers are encouraged to recognise the supply and demand drivers and modelling of dynamic housing markets at various spatial scales and the implications of trends within an urban and regional context e g urbanisation ageing population migration digitalisation With research based discussions and coverage of relevant literature this is an ideal textbook for students of residential real estate property and related business studies courses at UG and PG levels as well as a reference book with research topics for researchers This book will also be of interest to professionals and policymakers

Handbook on Residential Property Prices (RPPIs) Statistical Office of the European Communities, International Labour Office, International Monetary Fund, Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development, United Nations, World Bank, 2013-05-21 For most citizens buying a residential property dwelling is the most important transaction during their lifetime Residential properties represent the most significant component of households expenses and at the same time their most valuable assets The Residential Property Prices Indices RPPIs are index numbers measuring the rate at which the prices of residential properties are changing over time RPPIs are key statistics not only for citizens and households across the world but also for economic and monetary policy makers Among their professional uses they serve for example to monitor macroeconomic imbalances and risk exposure of the financial sector This Handbook provides for the first time comprehensive guidelines for the compilation of RPPIs and explains in depth the methods and best practices used to calculate an RPPI It also examines the underlying economic and statistical concepts and defines the principles guiding the methodological and practical choices for the compilation of the indices The Handbook primarily addresses official statisticians in charge of producing residential property price indices at the same time it addresses the overall requirement on RPPIs by providing a harmonised methodological and practical framework to all parties interested in the compilation of such indices The RPPIs Handbook has been written by leading academics in index number theory and by recognised experts in RPPIs compilation Its development has been coordinated by Eurostat the statistical office of the European Union with the collaboration of the International Labour Organization ILO International Monetary Fund IMF Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development OECD United Nations Economic Commission for Europe UNECE and the World Bank

National and Regional House Price Indices - Headline Indicators, 20?? Residential Property Prices Indices RPPIs also named House price indices HPIs are index numbers measuring the evolution of residential property prices over time RPPIs are key statistics not only for citizens and households across the world but also for economic and monetary policy makers This dataset includes RPPI compiled by official statistical agencies following international statistical guidelines It covers all OECD member countries and some non member countries Whenever possible these RPPIs are broken down by region dwelling type single and multi family dwellings and vintage new and existing dwellings

House Price Indices, 1995

Why House Price Indexes Differ Mick Silver, 2012-05-01 A key element in the build up to the global recession and subsequently was the movement in house price indexes HPIs These indexes are particularly prone to methodological and coverage differences which can undermine both within country and cross country economic analysis The paper outlines key measurement issues and reports on empirical work using an international panel data set that i considers whether differences in HPI measurement matter and if so in what way and ii revisits the measurement of global house price inflation and the modeling of the determinants of house price inflation using HPIs corrected for differences in measurement practice

Housing Prices ,20?? Housing prices include housing rent prices indices real and nominal house prices indices and ratios of price to rent and price to income In most cases the nominal house price index covers the sales of newly built and existing dwellings following the recommendations from the RPPI Residential Property Prices Indices manual The real house price index is given by the ratio of the nominal house price index to the consumers expenditure deflator in each country from the OECD national accounts database Both indices are seasonally adjusted The price to income ratio is the nominal house price index divided by the nominal disposable income per head and can be considered as a measure of affordability The price to rent ratio is the nominal house price index divided by the housing rent price index and can be considered as a measure of the profitability of house ownership The price to income and price to rent ratios are indices with base year 2015
