Sustainable Development of Rural Household Economy Qinghua Shi, Yan Gao, 2020-04-23 This book focuses on the transition of hundreds of rural households in ten villages in Zhejiang from 1986 to 2002, based on the theme of rural household sustainable development. Drawing on a large amount of first-hand data collected from fixed observation sites for 17 consecutive years, this book has depicted the changes in household behaviour in rural Zhejiang and analysed the origins of such changes. The contents of the book contain examinations at household and village level. Chapters One to Seven describe the changes in rural behaviour at the household level from different aspects such as land transfer, saving and borrowing, and rural tax burden. Chapters Eight to Ten analyse the transition concerning household behaviour based on the village level data. This book will help readers with a better understanding of rural China from the micro perspective of household behaviour. This book won the Monograph Award, ranked 1st out of 6 winners in total, in the Third China Rural Development Research Award 2008. It was also awarded the Second Class Excellent Research Achievement in Humanities and Social Sciences by the Ministry of Education 2009. With the help of rich and detailed first-hand data collected from fixed observation sites in ten villages in Zhejiang for 17 consecutive years, this book gives a panoramic analysis of Chinese rural society in transition from the viewpoint of rural household behaviour. It starts the examination from individual rural households, before developing the investigation to the whole villages so that the study could be carried out in a coherent, reliable and systematic way. Viewing the countryside from its micro perspective under the national political economy framework, the book steps out of the traditional way of inspecting exclusively the rural households and therefore is able to generalise its conclusion at a macro level. The award selection panel in 2008 believed it a unique monography for understanding the macro transition of the Chinese agriculture countryside and peasant issues from the micro aspect of household behaviour.

Measuring the Role of Livestock in the Household Economy Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-08-14 This guidebook presents a module template for effectively including livestock in multitopic and agricultural household surveys in low and middle income countries. It is a practical tool for survey practitioners to collect data on the role of livestock in the household economy and its contribution to livelihoods. The data will assist in generating statistics on key features of the smallholder livestock sector from herd size and composition to husbandry and production practices from meat, milk and egg production to livestock income. These statistics represent the backbone for effective livestock sector policies and investments.

The Underbelly of the Indian Boom Stuart Corbridge, Alpa Shah, 2016-02-05 As India emerges as a major economic power producing dollar billionaires rising at the rate of 17 per year more than 800 million Indians eke out a living on less than two dollars a day This book takes the reader to the underbelly of the Indian boom an India that is not shining but is struggling to survive From the Indo Soviet Bhilai Steel Plant in Chhattisgarh where an aristocracy of labour is increasingly being replaced by a more vulnerable contract labour force we move to the banks of the Hoogly River Here Norwegian shipping companies exploit a precarious labour force that is as vulnerable to the vagaries of global finance and its crisis as the elderly especially women and wage workers who live in the slums of Chennai Also in Tamil Nadu but this time in Tiruppur we find that the garment and textile industries boom has nurtured new regimes of debt bondage among industrial workers Though public concern about the vulnerability in which poor people find themselves has resulted in new nation wide schemes framed in the language of rights we find in Bihar and Madhya Pradesh that the practical workings of these schemes are dependent on the regional political systems in which they are enmeshed We end in the belly of the Maoist inspired Naxalite insurgency denounced by the Indian government as the country's greatest security challenge where the poor are being mobilised to rise against the injustices of the Indian state This book was originally published as a special issue of Economy and Society

Land, Proto-Industry and Population in Catalonia, c. 1680-1829 Julie Marfany, 2016-04-22 This monograph makes a fresh contribution to a longstanding but far from exhausted debate concerning the transition to capitalism in Europe The work investigates key aspects of this transformation the changes on the land the origins of the industrial revolution the modern rise of population and the growth of markets It does so from a new perspective however by focusing on an area of southern Europe Catalonia Catalonia's interest as an area for study lies in its precocity within a southern European context as one of the few regions on the European periphery to industrialise in comparable ways and at the same time as areas of northern Europe Population growth was similarly rapid The study engages critically with several important debates in economic and social history such as the transition to agrarian capitalism whether or not sharecropping should be viewed as a backwards form of agricultural production theories of proto industrialisation and theories of population change It also questions claims that the nuclear family of north western Europe was a superior model for industrialisation than the more extended family structures prevalent in southern Europe Not only could the extended family be as dynamic as the nuclear family when required but more importantly attention needs to be paid to other institutions and factors that may have conditioned family forms and decision making processes The approach taken by this work is a micro study of one community Igualada an important proto industrial centre but also situated within the viticultural region It grew rapidly over the eighteenth century from around 1 700 inhabitants in 1717 to 4 900 in 1787 and around 7 700 by 1830 Only at the micro level is it feasible for an individual study to reconstruct networks of relationships and patterns of decision making at the household level At the core of the book therefore is a family reconstitution of 8 700 families supplemented by a wide body of additional sources such as landholding contracts tax records manorial surveys inventories marriage contracts and letters
