Housing And Human Rights Law:

Housing Rights Legislation ,2002 HUMAN RIGHTS LAW AND PRACTICE JATINDRA KUMAR DAS,2016-07-01 The book written with a rich teaching and research experience of the author emphasises the critical evaluation of contemporary human rights law and practice with special reference to India It also evaluates the ongoing discourse on various issues relating to life liberty equality and human dignity and their reflections in international human rights law referring the state practices through constitutional guarantees judicial decisions as well as through enacting appropriate legislations This lucid and comprehensive book is logically organised into nine chapters Beginning with the theoretical foundations of human rights law referring to origin development and theories of human rights at preliminary level the book proceeds to International Bill of Human Rights demonstrating various facets of civil and political rights as well as economic social and cultural rights It further discusses the importance of human rights law in protection against inhuman wrongs and examines a large number of debates concerning human right to development and protection of environment Then it moves on to explore various issues relating to human rights in Indian Constitutional Law The latter part of the book emphasises on the protection of rights of women and children which has been the focal point of all human rights discussions It also deals with the scope and ambit of the rights of indigenous peoples and minorities including their protection At the end the book examines the utility and justifications of human rights law in protecting the rights of people with disabilities divyang Though the book is primarily designed for LLB BA LLB and LLM and courses on human rights it will be equally beneficial for the researchers academicians jurists lawyers judges as well as members of civil society Justiciability of Human Rights Law in Domestic

Jurisdictions Alice Diver,Jacinta Miller,2015-12-15 This collection of 16 essays by 19 contributors calls into question the notion of domestic justiciability across a wide range of human rights issues such as health human dignity criminal justice property and transitional democracy The authors offer critical analyses of a number of rights frameworks focusing in considerable detail upon specific countries e g Libya Colombia Ireland the United Kingdom Northern Ireland South Africa Nigeria Zimbabwe Kenya India and regions e g Europe Africa to highlight the various challenges which continue to vex human rights advocates and scholars In doing so they pinpoint some of the major tensions that still exist within developing and developed jurisdictions via a myriad range of perspectives The essays collectively present a diverse assortment of themes unified by a single golden thread that of the domestic interpretations given to human rights protections They raise questions as to how such rights might be made substantive at the level of domestic implementation and query the extent to which these rights can or even should be enforced by the courts The potential strains in the relationship between human rights and the rule of law is further called into question by another central theme that of human dignity A fundamental dilemma arises in respect of the extent to which a right to dignity can best be promoted protected or monitored by domestic decision makers Similar issues are apparent within the context of the protection of those human rights which increasingly tend to engage

social political or economic considerations and interests Whilst these arguments are often framed principally in terms of rights the collective message that emerges from this book is that such rights may often be in fact essentially non justiciable Readers of this text will perhaps feel compelled to reflect carefully and fully upon what it tells us about human rights law generally and the extent to which such rights may be truly amenable to adjudication by the courts HUMAN RIGHTS LAW AND PRACTICE, SECOND EDITION DAS, JATINDRA KUMAR,2022-03-24 The book written with a rich teaching and research experience of the author emphasises the critical evaluation of contemporary human rights law and practice with special reference to India It evaluates the ongoing discourse on various issues relating to life liberty equality and human dignity and their reflections in international human rights law referring to the state practices through constitutional guarantees judicial decisions as well as through enacting appropriate legislations This lucid and comprehensive book is logically organised into nine chapters Beginning with the theoretical foundations of human rights law referring to origin development and theories of human rights at the preliminary level the book proceeds to International Bill of Human Rights demonstrating various facets of civil and political rights as well as economic social and cultural rights It further discusses the importance of human rights law in protection against inhuman wrongs and examines a large number of debates concerning human rights to the development and protection of the environment Then it moves on to explore various issues relating to human rights in Indian Constitutional Law The second half of the book emphasises the protection of the rights of women and children which has been the focal point of all human rights discussions It also deals with the scope and ambit of the rights of indigenous peoples and minorities including their protection At the end the book examines the utility and justifications of human rights law in protecting the rights of people with disabilities divyang NEW TO THIS EDITION Law on HIV AIDS Management Covid 19 Management law Legislative aspect of protection of the environment Recent law on triple talaq Decriminalisation of adultery Right of Hindu women to offer worship in Sabrimala temple Right to access to justice judicial review legal aid and speedy trial Surrogacy and reproductive right Law on POSCO Hard law and soft law and Recent law on divyang Though the book is primarily designed for LL B B A LL B LL M and courses on human rights it will be equally beneficial for the researchers academicians jurists lawyers judges as well as members of civil societies TARGET AUDIENCE LL B B A LL B LL M and courses on human rights The Right to Housing Jessie Hohmann,2013-03-01 A human right to housing represents the law s most direct and overt protection of housing and home Unlike other human rights through which the home incidentally receives protection and attention the right to housing raises housing itself to the position of primary importance However the meaning content scope and even existence of a right to housing raise vexed questions Drawing on insights from disciplines including law anthropology political theory philosophy and geography this book is both a contribution to the state of knowledge on the right to housing and an entry into the broader human rights debate It addresses profound questions on the role of human rights in belonging and citizenship the formation of identity the perpetuation of forms of social organisation and ultimately of the relationship between the individual and the state The book addresses the legal theoretical and conceptual issues providing a deep analysis of the right to housing within and beyond human rights law Structured in three parts the book outlines the right to housing in international law and in key national legal systems examines the most important concepts of housing space privacy and identity and finally looks at the potential of the right to alleviate human misery marginalisation and deprivation The book represents a major contribution to the scholarship on an under studied and ill defined right In terms of content it provides a much needed exploration of the right to housing In approach it offers a new framework for argument within which the right to housing as well as other under theorised and contested rights can be reconsidered reconnecting human rights with the social conditions of their violation and hence with the reasons for their existence Shortlisted for The Peter Birks Prize for Outstanding Legal Scholarship 2013 National Perspectives on Housing Rights

Scott Leckie, 2021-10-18 More than one billion people around the world do not have adequate housing How far does human rights law help to remedy this problem What measures must governments take to protect people against housing rights violations What are the strengths and weaknesses of human rights law in the housing area Is the current law enough or are new laws necessary These and many other questions are addressed in the various chapters contained in National Perspectives on Housing Rights While most coverage of economic social and cultural rights has tended to focus on international standards and principles this book examines the more challenging question of how housing rights are implemented at the national and local level Chapters from recognised housing rights practitioners from Brazil Canada India Kenya Mexico Nigeria Philippines South Africa the US and elsewhere provide some of the first national level legal analyses of the implementation of housing rights standards recognised under international law A foreword by Nelson Mandela and a preface by international legal scholar Professor Philip Alston provide interesting perspectives on the fundamental role of housing rights within the broader human rights field Intersectionality and Human Rights Law

Shreya Atrey, Peter Dunne, 2020-12-10 This collection of essays analyses how diversity in human identity and disadvantage affects the articulation realisation violation and enforcement of human rights The question arises from the realisation that people who are severally and severely disadvantaged because of their race religion gender age disability sexual orientation class etc often find themselves at the margins of human rights their condition seldom improved and sometimes even worsened by the rights discourse How does one make sense of this relationship between the complexity of people s disadvantage and violation of their human rights Does the human rights discourse based on its universal and common values have tools methods or theories to capture and respond to the difference in people s lived experience of rights Can intersectionality help in that quest This book seeks to inaugurate this line of inquiry Comparative Human Rights Law Sandra Fredman, 2018-11-08 Courts in different jurisdictions face similar human rights questions Does the death penalty breach human rights Does freedom of speech include racist speech Is there a right to health This book uses the prism of comparative law to examine the fascinating ways in which these difficult questions are decided On the one hand the shared language of human rights suggests that there should be similar solutions to comparable problems On the other hand there are important differences Constitutional texts are worded differently courts have differing relationships with the legislature and there are divergences in socio economic development politics and history Nevertheless there is a growing transnational conversation between courts with cases in one jurisdiction being cited in others Part I sets out the cross cutting themes which shape the ways judges respond to challenging human rights issues It examines when it is legitimate to refer to foreign materials how universality and cultural relativity are balanced in human rights law the appropriate role of courts in adjudicating human rights in a democracy and the principles judges use to interpret human rights texts The book is unusual in transcending the distinction between socio economic rights and civil and political rights Part II applies these cross cutting themes to comparing human rights law in the US UK South Africa Canada and India Its focus is on seven particularly challenging issues the death penalty abortion housing health speech education and religion with the aim of inspiring further comparative examination of other pressing human rights issues

Housing and Property Restitution Rights of Refugees and Displaced Persons Scott Leckie, 2007-05-28 The legal recognition of the housing land and property rights of refugees and displaced persons has expanded steadily in recent years as the realization has grown that securing these rights will be beneficial to long term peace stability economic vitality and justice This volume first published in 2007 contains more than 240 of the laws cases and materials that have been adopted during the past century which accord those unjustly and arbitrarily displaced from their homes and lands with rights not simply to return to their countries or places of origin but to return to the original home land or property from which they were initially forced to flee The breadth of the restitution standards found within this volume combined with selected examples of case law and other materials are a clear indication that a right to housing land and property restitution for refugees and displaced persons has emerged within the global legal domain

Applying International and European Anti-Discrimination Law to the Housing Context Juan Carlos Benito Sanchez, 2023-10-05 This is the first study of anti discrimination law as it applies to housing law in Europe It offers an important perspective in a field dominated by employment law studies while drawing on concepts significant in that field as well Legislative discussion looks at EU law the European Convention on Human Rights the European Social Charter and related case law The book goes further to examine United Nations human rights instruments and related practice of UN committees This unique focus allows for a fuller understanding of anti discrimination law s implications potential and challenges

The Legal Right to Housing in India Anindita Mukherjee, 2019-12-12 Examines the benefits of seeking legal recognition for the right to housing within the Indian legal context

The Right to housing in law and society Nico Moons, 2018-05-16 From the very first negotiations of the International Covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights half a century ago to the present day socio economic rights have often been regarded as less enforceable than civil and political rights The right to adequate housing even though protecting one of the most basic needs of human beings has not escaped this classification Despite its strong foundations in international regional and domestic legislation many people are still deprived of one or more of the different key elements that comprise adequate housing How then can international human rights theory and case law be developed into effective vehicles at the domestic level Rather than focusing merely on possibilities for individualized relief through the court system The Right to Housing in Law and Society looks into more effective socio economic rights realization by addressing both conceptual and practical stumbling blocks that hinder a more structural progress at the national level The Flemish and Belgian housing legislation and policy are used to highlight the problems and illustrate the pathways here presented While first and foremost legal in its approach the book also offers a more sociological perspective on the functioning of the right to housing in practice It shows the latest state of knowledge on the topic and will be of interest to researchers academics policymakers and students in the fields of international socio economic rights law and human rights law more generally

Contemporary Housing Issues in a Globalized World Padraic Kenna, 2016-05-13 The globalization of housing finance led to the global financial crisis which has created new barriers to adequate and affordable housing It presents major challenges for current housing law and policy as well as for the development of housing rights This book examines and discusses key contemporary housing issues in the context of today's globalized housing systems The book takes up the challenge of developing a new paradigm working towards the possibility of an alternative future Revolving around three constellations of writing by diverse contributors each chapter sets out a clear and developed approach to contemporary housing issues The first major theme considers the crisis in mortgage market regulation the development of mortgage securitization and comparisons between Spain and Ireland two countries at the epicentre of the global housing market crisis The second thematic consideration focuses on housing rights within the European human rights architecture within national constitutions and those arising from new international instruments with their particular relevance for persons with disabilities and developing economies The third theme incorporates an examination of responses to the decline and regeneration of inner cities legal issues around squatting in developed economies and changes in tenure patterns away from home ownership This topical book will be valuable to those who are interested in law housing rights and human rights policy making and globalization

Economic, Social and Cultural Rights in International Law Manisuli Ssenyonjo, 2009-07-03 The effective promotion protection and fulfilment of economic social and cultural ESC rights is an important but under explored component of international human rights law of which ESC rights form an essential part They are fundamental to the dignity of every person At the international level ESC rights are protected in several international instruments the most comprehensive being the International Covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights the Covenant ratified by a majority of States However claims of violations of ESC rights are treated less seriously This book subjects ESC rights protected in the Covenant to a deeper analysis in light of the practice of the Committee on Economic Social and Cultural Rights while taking into account other relevant sources of ESC rights at national regional and international levels It also analyses key issues relevant to ESC rights with particular emphasis on various themes including State obligations non State actor s obligations women s ESC rights domestic protection of ESC rights and State reservations to ESC rights The book further makes a thorough examination of the rights to work health and education By so doing it demonstrates that ESC rights are justiciable and must not be marginalised The book also brings together a collection of essential materials on ESC rights needed to understand and analyse the subject Written by an international human rights scholar this timely work will be of value to all those interested in human rights and international law

Returning Home: Housing and Property Restitution Rights for Refugees and Displaced Persons Scott Leckie, 2021-11-15 This volume is a unique effort to cover the topic of the restitution of housing and property in light of lessons learned in the Balkans South Africa East Timor and in a range of other countries that have made the shift from conflict to peace Individual chapters by authors with direct experience dealing with housing and property restitution in particular contexts will bring into focus the legal and human rights aspects of this question All parties involved in human rights refugee assistance post conflict reconstruction and reconciliation and property rights will find this volume to be an indispensable resource now that housing and property restitution is viewed as an essential element of post conflict reconstruction and a primary means of reversing ethnic cleansing
