Housing For The Millions John Habraken And The Sar 196:

Housing for the Millions Koos Bosma, Dorine van Hoogstraten, Martijn Vos, 2000 Home represents a fundamental value in a person's life. Although many factors pertaining to his housing situation are beyond the occupant's control, he still attempts to create his own domestic domain, the finite center of a world in which he is free to be himself. As long ago as 1961 in his book Supports, an alternative to mass housing, John Habraken suggested a completely different approach to mass housing in the Netherlands. In an effort to offer the occupant of a mass-produced dwelling the opportunity to make a personal statement, he introduced the concept of a separation of support and infill. Habraken sees the support structure as the aspect of housing production that represents communal responsibility and the infill as the aspect that stands for individual control. He formulated the support and infill concept to introduce variation and personal authority into millions of dwellings. This alternative was to be put into practice by the Foundation for Architects Research SAR, which made Habraken its first director. The ambition of the SAR to radically change the production methods of mass housing led to concepts and rules of play that had repercussions on the entire building cycle, from architectural design to product development. All the achievements, disappointments, successes, and failures involved in the realization of an alternative to traditional housing construction can be discovered in this book. This is the first time that the intellectual heritage of the SAR has been brought together in book form and considered within a broader international perspective. Bookjacket Palladio's Children N.J. Habraken, 2007-04-11. Based on many years of personal observation, Palladio's Children critically examines the role of the architect as a professional descendent of Palladio and as an heir to his architectural legacy. Seven innovative and carefully crafted essays explore the widening ideological schism between today's architects whose core values, identity, and education remain rooted in the Renaissance legacy of creating artful masterpieces and the practical demands on a profession which acts within an evolving, ubiquitous, and autonomous built environment or field. Clearly written yet expressing complex, evolving ideas, this extended argument opens a new forum of debate across design theory, professional practice, and academic issues. Moving the subject on from a historical perspective, Habraken shows how architects are increasingly involved in the design of everyday buildings. This must lead to a reassessment of architects' identities, values, and education and the contribution of the architect in the shaping of the built environment. Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1971.
