Reeves, 2014 Affordable and Social Housing Policy and Practice is a candid and critical appraisal of current big ticket issues affecting the planning development and management of affordable and social housing in the United Kingdom The successor to the second edition of the established textbook An Introduction to Social Housing the book includes new chapters reflecting the focal importance of customer involvement and empowerment regeneration and the Localism agenda which will have radical impacts on housing provision and tenure as well as the town and country planning system which enables its development There is also a new chapter on Housing Law in response to demand for a clear and signposting exposition of this often complex area Reeves indicates how each theme affects the other and suggests policy directions on the basis of past successes and failures Paul Reeves takes a people centred approach to the subject describing the themes that have run through provision of social housing from the first philanthropic industrialists in the 19th Century though to the increasingly complex mixture of ownerships and tenures in the present day The book is ideal for students of housing and social policy and for housing professionals aiming to obtain qualifications and wanting a broad understanding of the social housing sector The Routledge Handbook of Housing Policy and Planning Katrin B. Social Care and Housing Ian Shaw,David Clapham,1998 Drawing out the implications for policy and practice from the latest research in housing and social work this volume illustrates the lack of communication between practitioners that is hindering service provision and provides suggestions for improving current practice The contributors examine the relationship of such factors as youth gender race education poverty health social exclusion and housing developments to the provision of housing for those in need Social workers have many clients including young people leaving care offenders people with disabilities or mental health problems and those at risk of domestic violence for example who require intervention on their behalf to meet their housing needs Social Care and Housing argues that professionals need to be aware of the role of wider social problems in particular poor housing in reinforcing the deprivation of the lowest income groups that form the bulk of service users The contributors suggest that raising the profile of housing and welfare research within the social services and encouraging practitioners and educators to introduce a broader social context into practice would improve understanding of the relationship between housing and social care They also examine strategies for formulating coherent responses to client problems and explore the development of practice at the boundaries of social care and housing
