

NEW DESTINY HOUSING 2024 NEW YORK STATE POLICY PRIORITIES

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AND HOMELESSNESS IN NEW YORK STATE

More than 1 in 3 New Yorkers across the state will experience abuse by an intimate partner in their lifetime.^[i] According to the latest national survey, New York State reported the highest demand for domestic violence services in the country.^[ii] However, many survivors are unable to access the resources and services they need, especially when it comes to permanent housing. In fact, the majority of the unmet requests for services from domestic violence survivors in New York State are housing-related.

Without a safe place to rebuild their lives, survivors may be forced to remain in abusive situations, putting their lives at risk. In 2021, 1 out of every 7 homicides in New York State were domestic homicides, where the victim was either an intimate partner or a family member.^[iii] Women of color are disproportionately impacted. In 2022, 89% of intimate partner violence homicide victims were reported as female and 70% were reported as Black or Hispanic.^[iv]

Survivors who can flee to shelter may spend years homeless before securing safe, affordable housing and, once they do, they are faced with a myriad of challenges to keep it. Soaring rent prices heighten the barriers. New York continuously ranks as one of the states with the highest cost burdens.^[v] Almost 40% of New York households pay 30% or more of their income for housing, the most commonly used threshold of affordability, and 1 in 5 are severely cost-burdened, paying more than 50% of their income for housing. Hispanic, Black, and Asian New Yorkers are affected the most by housing insecurity. The steady decrease in housing availability is a major contributing factor to the crisis. Over the last decade, New York State created new homes at a rate of 5.7%, which is lower than the job growth rate, 8.3%, and far below other states, like Texas and Florida. In New York City, the housing vacancy rate dropped to 1.4% in 2023, the lowest since 1968.^[vi]

The devastating and long-lasting consequences of abusive behavior only compound the challenge of finding a permanent home for survivors. While physical abuse is the most visible, perpetrators often utilize multiple tactics to exercise power and control over their victims, including isolation and economic violence. Up to 99% of survivors report enduring financial abuse and being stripped from their social safety nets.^[vii] Public benefits, rental assistance, and flexible funding programs are essential for survivors to regain self-sufficiency. In 2022, there was a 21% increase in the number of survivors applying for cash assistance across the state.^[viii] But not all survivors are able to access the resources they need, especially survivors of color, survivors with a disability, non-citizens, and survivors from marginalized communities.^[ix]
