Lesser, 1988 Designed for a general audience as an introduction to Edwards Puritan thought 18th century philosophy in America      In a Dark Time Joseph Dewey, 1990 What was gunpowder Trivial What was electricity Meaningless This atomic bomb is the Second Coming in wrath Winston Churchill July 1945 Commencing earnestly in the 1960s the American novel began its exploration into how mankind could adjust to life in the shadow of the mushroom cloud how we could begin to think about the Unthinkable American writers faced squarely the age birthed by nuclear physics and found in its very darkness difficult avenues to hope by rediscovering that most potent traditional response to a history in crisis the apocalyptic temper Dewey focuses on seven novels that touch the variety of generic experiments and postures of the post World War II American novel These novels by Vonnegut Coover Percy Pynchon Gaddis and DeLillo represent a significant argument concerning the American literary response to living within the oppressive technologies of the Nuclear Age Departing from other studies that veer toward speculative fiction toward the more narrowly defined religious angles In a Dark Time defines the apocalyptic temper as a most traditional literary genre that articulates the anxieties of a community in crisis a way for that community to respond to the perception of a history gone critical by turning squarely to that history and to find in that gesture the way toward a genuine hope Dewey's new approach consists of applying the theory of apocalyptic literature to a body of essentially secular writings Dewey resists the traditional approach studying works dealing with nuclear devastation to focus on how a generation of literary responses have dealt with the larger questions about how to live with the recognition of End times Dewey convincingly demonstrates that this literature reminds its moments in history that only in a dark time will the eye begin to see Books in

 Identities is a study of Midwestern American literature as well as of Norwegian American immigrant texts Many readers have judged the latter to be a mere reflection of immigrant experience a judgment that is neither fair nor correct These American writers were forced to confront an essentially modern experience complicated by the contextual duality of bilingualism For early Midwestern immigrant writers and their readers the task of homemaking in a new setting was a philosophically challenging and highly problematic endeavor These Midwestern writers were not lost divided nor rootless They had the unique privileged ability to draw on the resources of two worlds As writers they enjoyed and helped to strengthen twofold
