Journalism And Mass Communication In Africa:

Journalism and Mass Communication in Africa Festus Eribo, Enoch Tanjong, 2002-01-01 Journalism and Mass Communication in Africa provides the first in depth analysis of the evolution of mass communication and the impact of new media technologies in Cameroon Written and edited by African scholars this one stop volume maps out for the student of international communications and the Africa specialist the changing media ecology of Cameroon and provides practical survey methods for communication research The work details the impact mass public communication has had on the empowerment of Cameroon s 15 million people and the development of grassroots participatory democracy It offers new insight into the development of Cameroon s state and privately owned oral print and electronic media and analyzes the growth of the West African country s public relations advertising and publishing industries     Aspects of Mass Communication and Journalism Research on Africa Francis W. Ochola, 1983     Mass Media in Sub-Saharan Africa Louise M. Bourgault, 1995-06-22 Mass Media in Sub Saharan Africa analyzes how historical political economic social cultural and stylistic factors have shaped media products in African radio television and newspapers Bourgault investigates three principal influences the pre colonial legacy of the oral tradition the presence of an alienated managerial class and the domination of African nations by systems based on political patronage The first two chapters provide the theoretical framework Subsequent chapters look at the management of the electronic media radio and television broadcasting in content and practice the history of print media and the discourse style found in the press This work provides a wealth of historical information on media systems particularly those of the former anglophone and francophone countries together with recent developments in satellite communication small systems technology and the current move toward decentralization and privatization Bourgault also considers the political shifts affecting Africa in the 1990s and offers a radical blueprint for more responsive and informative media in the sub Saharan area     Press Freedom and Communication in Africa Festus Eribo, William Jong-Ebot, 1997 Recent years have seen considerable growth in the media in Africa with increases in the number of newspapers and radio and television stations At the same time there has been an increase in the number of arrests of journalists and broadcasters and various forms of censorship have been introduced The essays in this volume examine press censorship past and present and bring a fresh perspective to the position of the mass media in the African continent     Media and Communication Theory in Africa Nelson Okorie, Babatunde Raphael Ojebuyi, Ngozi Okpara, 2023-03-21 This contributed volume explores theories of media and communication and focuses on providing African perspectives on global conversations Using broad cases relating to media and communication theories this book explores socio cultural issues affecting most modern African societies providing a conceptual and empirical framework for explicating the potential place of media techniques and structures in Africa As a good template for understanding and applying communication theories and approaches in the African context the volume is a priceless asset for Media and Communication scholars     Media and

Democracy in Africa Michael Leslie, 2017-07-05 Recent discussion of democratization in Africa has focused primarily on the reform of formal state institutions the public service the judiciary and the legislature Similarly both scholars and activists have shown interest in how associational life and with it a civil society might be enhanced in the countries of the African continent Much less concern however has been directed to the communications media although they form a vital part of this process Media and Democracy in Africa provides the first comprehensive and up to date assessment of the role of the media in political change in sub Saharan Africa The central argument of the volume is that while the media may still be relatively weak compared to their positions in liberal democracies they have come to play a much more important role than ever before since independence Although they have not yet demonstrated sufficient effectiveness as public watchdogs and agenda setters they have succeeded in creating new communicative spaces for people who have previously been intimidated or silent Building on this the contributors argue that a different conceptualization of democratization than the mainstream currently uses may be necessary to capture the process in Africa where it is characterized by contestation rather than consolidation This volume shows that the media scene in Africa is diverse It stretches from the well developed and technologically advanced situation in South Africa to the still fledgling media operations that are typical in sub Saharan Africa In these countries print media as well as television and radio are just beginning to take their place in society and do so using simple and often outdated technology The volume also examines how these growing outlets are supplemented by informal media the so called radio trottoir or rumor mill whereby the autocratic and bureaucratic direction of public affairs are subject to private speculation and analysis Media and Democracy in Africa is organized to provide a historical perspective on the evolution of the African media placing the present in the context of the past including both colonial and post colonial experiences It will be of interest to Africa area specialists students of media and communications political scientists and sociologists Mass Communication in Africa Mohammad Nur Alkali, 1988 Decolonising Media and Communication Studies Education in Sub-Saharan Africa Selina Linda Mudavanhu, Shepherd Mpofu, Kezia Batisai, 2023-10-27 The book provides insights on decolonising media and communication studies education from diverse African scholars at different stages of their careers These academics located on the continent and in the diaspora share an interest in decolonising higher education broadly and media and communication studies teaching and learning in particular Although many African countries gained flag independence from different European colonial powers between the 1950s and the 1970s this book argues that former colonies remain ensnared in a colonial power matrix Many African universities did not jettison ways of teaching and learning established during colonialism and even those journalism communication and media studies training programmes which were established after the attainment of flag independence did not place decolonial agendas at the front and centre when setting them up Starting with big picture thematic questions around decolonisation the book goes on to consider what the implications of change would be for students and instructors before reflecting on how far it is possible to decolonise curricula and syllabi and what this might look like in practice across a range of subject areas and country contexts Overall this book presents a nuanced picture of what a decolonised media and communication studies education could look like in sub Saharan Africa This book is essential for researchers in Africa in disciplines such as media and communication studies journalism film studies cultural studies and higher education studies More broadly the concepts and ideas on decolonising teaching and learning discussed in the book are relevant to instructors in any discipline who are interested in doing the decolonial work of contesting coloniality African Language Digital Media and Communication Abiodun Salawu,2018-10-03 While some academic attention has been paid to the impact of new digital technologies on African media in the colonial languages of English French and Portuguese there is a dearth of research into African language digital communication This book analyses the online presence of African language media The chapters in the book focus on the speed structure content navigation and interactivity operations and performance and audience of the online media They also pay particular attention to how social media such as Facebook Twitter and WhatsApp have been appropriated by African language media Using a wide range of case studies the contributors assess the challenges of adopting digital technologies by the media and how the technologies have impacted journalistic practice and media operations Examining the ability of the African language press to adopt new technologies this book will be of interest to scholars of media journalism communication social media and culture in Africa

Perspectives on Political Communication in Africa Bruce Mutsaers, Beschara Karam,2018-02-27 This edited collection is a cutting edge volume that reframes political communication from an African perspective Focusing on sub Saharan Africa and occasionally drawing comparisons with other regions of the world this book critically addresses the development of the field focusing on the current opportunities and challenges within the African context By using a wide variety of case studies that include Mozambique Zambia Rwanda Zimbabwe Ghana Kenya Uganda South Africa Ivory Coast and Nigeria the collection gives space to previously understudied regions of sub Saharan Africa and challenges the over reliance of western scholarship on political communication on the continent Media, Conflict and Peacebuilding in Africa Jacinta

Maweu,Admire Mare,2021-03-29 This book explores the role and place of popular traditional and digital media platforms in the mediatization representation and performance of various conflicts and peacebuilding interventions in the African context The role of the media in conflict is often depicted as either good as symbolized by peace journalism or bad as exemplified by war journalism but this book moves beyond this binary to highlight the in between role that the media often plays in times of conflict The volume does not only focus on the relationship between mass media conflict and peacebuilding processes but it broadens its scope by critically analysing the dynamic and emergent roles of popular and digital media platforms in a continent where the semi literate and oral communities still rely heavily on popular communication platforms to get news and information Whilst social media platforms have been hailed for their assumed democratic and digital dividends this book does not only focus on these positive aspects but also shines a light on dark forms of participation which are fuelling racial gender ethnic political and religious conflicts in highly polarized and stratified societies Highlighting the many ways in which traditional digital and popular media can be used to both escalate conflicts and promote peacebuilding this volume will be a useful resource for students researchers and civil society groups interested in peace and conflict studies journalism and media studies in different contexts within Africa

Decolonising Political Communication in Africa Beschara Karam, Bruce Mutsaers, 2021-07-22 This book uses decolonisation as a lens to interrogate political communication styles performance and practice in Africa and the diaspora The book interrogates the theory and practice of political communication using decolonial research methods to begin a process of self reflexivity and the creation of a new approach to knowledge production about African political communication In doing so it explores political communication approaches that might until recently have been considered subversive or dissident forms of political communication that served to challenge imposed western norms and to empower African citizens and their histories Centring African scholarship the book draws on case studies from across the continent including Zimbabwe South Africa Nigeria and Ghana This book will be of interest to students and scholars of politics media and communication in Africa The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9781003111962> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Chinese Media in Africa Emeka Umejei, 2020-07-23 Chinese Media in Africa Perception Performance and Paradox analyzes the debate on Chinese media expansion in Africa and its implication for the African media landscape by engaging with African journalists who train and work in Chinese media organizations based in Africa Emeka Umejei analyzes how African journalists that enter the sphere of Chinese media often with libertarian notions of journalism are able to navigate the collisions and collusions that inform journalism in these settings Through extensive interviews with African journalists Umejei explores the constant negotiation of freedoms including the ability to always work in relation to African reality within state controlled media organizations These interviews bring to light the paradoxical nature of Chinese media organizations that both preach equality with Africa and simultaneously promote Chinese hegemony in the media highlighting the diverse contours that shape and influence journalism practices in these settings Scholars of journalism media studies African studies international relations and sociology will find this book particularly useful

Public Relations Management in Africa Volume 1 Albert A. Anani-Bossman, Takalani E. Mudzanani, Cornelius B. Pratt, Isaac A. Blankson, 2023-07-12 This two part volume examines current pedagogical modules research directions and other emerging issues in public relations and communication management in Africa In comparison to its Western and Asian counterparts the literature on public relations management in Africa is limited and much of it is examined through the lenses of Western philosophies and pedagogies that do not generally resonate with Africa's socioeconomic political and cultural contexts This book aims to change that Through analyzing the organizational dynamic Volume 1 brings together contributors from across Africa to provide valuable insights into how public relations contributes to organizational effectiveness on the continent Chapters discussed include a review of public relations research in Africa the role of the African CEO as a public relations activist the use of social and digital media in public relations the measurement and evaluation of communication programs and the implications of the fourth industrial revolution on public relations practice in Africa Providing important pathways and overviews of public relations management in Africa this volume not only highlights current practices but offers insights into the future of the practice within its evolving global landscape

Popular Media, Democracy and Development in Africa Herman Wasserman, 2010-10-04 Popular Media Democracy and Development in Africa examines the role that popular media could play to encourage political debate provide information for development or critique the very definitions of democracy and development Drawing on diverse case studies from various regions of the African continent essays employ a range of theoretical and methodological approaches to ask critical questions about the potential of popular media to contribute to democratic culture provide sites of resistance or conversely act as agents for the spread of Americanized entertainment culture to the detriment of local traditions A wide variety of media formats and platforms are discussed ranging from radio and television to the Internet mobile phones street posters film and music As part of the Routledge series Internationalizing Media Studies the book responds to the important challenge of broadening perspectives on media studies by bringing together a range of expert analyses of media in the African continent that will be of interest to students and scholars of media in Africa and further afield

New Journalism Ecologies in East and Southern Africa Trust Matsilele, Shepherd Mpofu, Dumisani Moyo, 2023-03-24 This volume presents case studies of news media employing and integrating social media into their news production practices It links social media use to journalistic practices and news production processes in the digital age of the Global South Critically the chapters look at seminal cases of start up news media whose content is informed by trends in social media ethical considerations and participatory cultures spurred by the wide use of social media There has been considerable research looking at the potential of new media technologies traditional journalism and citizen reporting The extent to which these new media technologies and citizen journalism have morphed or reconfigured traditional journalism practice remains debatable Currently there are questions around the limits of social media in journalism practice as the ethical lines continue to become blurred It is this conundrum of the role of social media in the reconfiguration of the media news making production and participatory cultures that requires more investigation Social media has also turned the logic of the political economy of media production on its head as citizens can now produce package and distribute news and information with shoestring budgets and in authoritarian regimes with no license of practice This new political economy means the power that special interest groups used to enjoy is increasingly slipping from their hands as citizens take back the power to appropriate social media journalism to counter hegemonic narratives Citizens can also perform journalistic roles of investigating and whistleblowing but with a lack of or limited regulation This volume seeks to explore and untangle these issues and provides an invaluable resource for researchers across the field of journalism mass media and communication studies
