Hospice Care On The International Scene:

Hospice Care on the International Scene Dame Cicely M. Saunders, 1997 This volume explores how hospice care has been taking root throughout much of the world and illustrates how people are finding ways to shape hospice care to the particular needs and resources of their countries and communities The book begins with a hospice mission statement by Dame Cicely Saunders and is followed by an overview of the international hospice movement by Dr Jan Stemsward of the World Health Organization Included are reports from pioneering hospice programs in the Middle East in tropical Africa and Croatia

Death, Society and Human Experience (1-download) Robert Kastenbaum, 2015-07-22 Providing an understanding of the relationship with death both as an individual and as a member of society This book is intended to contribute to your understanding of your relationship with death both as an individual and as a member of society Kastenbaum shows how individual and societal attitudes influence both how and when we die and how we live and deal with the knowledge of death and loss Robert Kastenbaum is a renowned scholar who developed one of the world's first death education courses and introduced the first text for this market This landmark text draws on contributions from the social and behavioral sciences as well as the humanities such as history religion philosophy literature and the arts to provide thorough coverage of understanding death and the dying process Learning Goals Upon completing this book readers should be able to Understand the relationship with death both as an individual and as a member of society See how social forces and events affect the length of our lives how we grieve and how we die Learn how dying people are perceived and treated in our society and what can be done to provide the best possible care Master an understanding of continuing developments and challenges to hospice palliative care Understand what is becoming of faith and doubt about an afterlife

To Comfort Always David Clark, 2016 Covers the rise of clinical studies academic programmes and international collaborations to promote palliative care It examines the continuing need to provide evidence in support of development and assesses the dilemmas of unequal access to services and pain relieving drugs

Science, Religion and Society Arri Eisen, Gary Laderman, 2015-03-04 This unique encyclopedia explores the historical and contemporary controversies between science and religion It is designed to offer multicultural and multi religious views and provide wide ranging perspectives Science Religion and Society covers all aspects of the religion and science dichotomy from humanities to social sciences to natural sciences and includes articles by theologians religion scholars physicians scientists historians and psychologists among others The first section General Overviews contains essays that provide a road map for exploring the major challenges and questions in science and religion Following this the Historical Perspectives section grounds these major questions in the past and demonstrates how they have developed into the six broad areas of contemporary research and discussion that follow These sections Creation the Cosmos and Origins of the Universe Ecology Evolution and the Natural World Consciousness Mind and the Brain Healers and Healing Dying and Death and Genetics and Religion organize the questions and research that are the foundation of the enormous interest and controversy in science and religion today Perspectives on Death and Dying June L. Leishman, 2009 In the past most people encountered death at a relatively young age Dying relatives were cared for at home and mortality rates were higher Today there is much less familiarity with death which increasingly takes place in hospitals hospices and nursing homes This wide ranging and enlightening book offers an exploration of death and dying as human conditions that impact on the individual their significant others and those involved with their care and well being It is aimed at medical and healthcare staff social workers and counsellors as well as social sciences and health psychology students professional health and social care educationalists and anyone with an interest in this topic Drawing on aspects of social anthropology history and the social and behavioural sciences the book examines the customs attitudes and beliefs surrounding death and dying Emphasis is placed on the unique experience of death for each individual and the book highlights the challenges faced by those who work with people who are dying or those who have experienced loss through death In addition each chapter ends with some reflective questions that allow the reader to consider certain issues at a more personal level The Case against Assisted Suicide Kathleen M. Foley, Herbert Hendin, 2003-04-29 In The Case against Assisted Suicide For the Right to End of Life Care Dr Kathleen Foley and Dr Herbert Hendin uncover why pleas for patient autonomy and compassion often used in favor of legalizing euthanasia do not advance or protect the rights of terminally ill patients Incisive essays by authorities in the fields of medicine law and bioethics draw on studies done in the Netherlands Oregon and Australia by the editors and contributors that show the dangers that legalization of assisted suicide would pose to the most vulnerable patients Thoughtful and persuasive this book urges the medical profession to improve palliative care and develop a more humane response to the complex issues facing those who are terminally ill Cancer Nursing Connie Henke Yarbro, Michelle Goodman, Margaret Hansen Frogge, 2005 Rapid changes in oncology necessitate a comprehensive up to date reference for oncology nurses For seventeen years best selling Cancer Nursing Principles and Practice has filled this need supplying oncology nurses with cutting edge current information Now in its Sixth Edition Cancer Nursing reflects the constantly shifting progress in the science of oncology as well as emerging new therapies new treatment modalities the latest results from clinical trials updates on new chemotherapeutic agents and targeted therapies and new perspectives on supportive care Encyclopedia of Social Work , 1965 Dignity as a Human Right? George P. Smith, 2018-11-27 Dignity is seen commonly as an ethical obligation owed to human persons The dimensions of this obligation are subject to wide discussion and defy universal agreement Dignity is seen commonly as an ethical obligation owed to human persons Dignity as a Human Right examines dignity within the prism of death and more particularly its humane and dignified management Although there is no domestic or international right to die with dignity within the right to life should arguably be a right to dignity and self determination especially at its end stage for a powerful interface exists between the right to human dignity and the very right to life to love and humanity as well as compassion at its conclusion Legislative efforts nationally and internationally have begun to recognize a right to die with dignity when a condition of medical futility exists There are presently five states and the District of Columbia together with a judicial interpretation from the Montana Supreme Court which recognize death assistance for the terminally ill Internationally Canada Belgium the Netherlands and Switzerland are seen as leaders in this recognition The United Nations has played a significant role in framing end of life decision making within the ambit of human rights protection The UN Charter states unequivocally that the dignity and worth of the human person must be protected and safeguarded Similarly among other instruments the Universal Declaration on Human Rights acknowledges that all human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights

The Ethical Challenges of Emerging Medical Technologies

Arthur L. Caplan, Brendan Parent, 2020-09-10 This collection of essays emphasizes society's increasingly responsible engagement with ethical challenges in emerging medical technology Expansion of technological capacity and attention to patient safety have long been integral to improving healthcare delivery but only relatively recently have concepts like respect distributive justice privacy and autonomy gained some power to shape the development use and refinement of medical tools and techniques Medical ethics goes beyond making better medicine to thinking about how to make the field of medicine better These essays showcase several ways in which modern ethical thinking is improving safety efficacy and efficiency of medical technology increasing access to medical care and empowering patients to choose care that comports with their desires and beliefs Included are complimentary ethical approaches as well as compelling counter arguments Together the articles demonstrate how improving the quality of medical technology relies on every stakeholder not just medical researchers and scientists to assess each given technology's strengths and pitfalls This collection also portends one of the next major issues in the ethics of medical technology developing the requisite moral framework to accompany shifts toward patient centred personalized healthcare

Clinical Pain Management Second Edition: Cancer Pain Nigel Sykes, Michael Bennet, Chun-su

Yuan, 2008-09-26 Now divided into four parts the second edition of Cancer Pain delivers broad coverage of the issues that arise in the management of malignancy related pain from basic science through end of life care and associated ethical issues to therapies both medical and complementary Part One reviews basic considerations in cancer pain management including epidemiology pharmacology history taking and patient evaluation and teamworking Part Two brings together the drug therapies for cancer pain their underlying basis and potential side effects Part Three covers the non drug therapies including nerve blocks stimulation induced analgesia radiotherapy complementary therapies and psychological interventions The control of symptoms other than pain so critical to cancer patients is also considered here Part Four describes special situations Cancer pain management in children and older patients and in the community setting and pain in the dying patient and the cancer survivor are all covered here A Good Death? Simon Woods,2016-03-16 This interdisciplinary collection presents valuable discourse and reflection on the nature of a good death Bringing together a leading judge and other legal scholars philosophers social scientists practitioners and parents who present varying accounts of a good death the chapters draw from personal experience as well as policy practice and academic analysis Covering themes such as patients rights to determine their own good death considering their best interests when communication becomes difficult and the role and responsibilities of health professionals the book outlines how ethical healthcare might be achieved when dealing with assisted suicide by organizations and how end of life services in general might be improved It will be of interest to students and academics working the area of medical law and ethics as well as health professionals and policy makers Choosing end of life nursing Susan Bardy,2016-09-16 Death is inevitable none of us will escape it Ending life with a terminal illness is a slow and rather lonely process I am interested in the question of why some nurses choose to work in the field of palliative care I am one who willingly stepped into the role of being with patients at their most vulnerable time when death became inevitable My nursing history has spanned fifty years of which the last twenty were in palliative care of terminally ill and dying patients What was it that influenced me to move from a curing model to comfort caring only My work is an account of how I discovered palliative care nursing after thirty years in the acute care setting I migrated to Australia at the age of seventeen after the violence of World War II and the death of my father in a refugee camp It seemed that taking on nursing was the best way to settle into a new life I was happy with general nursing but had a feeling that there was more I could contribute to my patient care My mother s unexpected death with cancer was responsible for showing the way She died in the hospice unit of the hospital where I was employed Sitting by her side showed me another aspect of nursing that attracted me to a career change I transferred to the Hospice after mother died and remained there for twenty years Naturally I wondered why this change of direction happened Susan Bardy Aging in the New Millennium Terry Tirrito,2003 Due to advances in medical technology better health care and improvements in lifestyle habits the 21st century brings unprecedented changes in life expectancy and increased numbers of older adults globally As the elder population grows so does the knowledge of and interest in gerontology Gerontology constantly sees new developments in research the emergence of areas of study such as financial gerontology and elder ethics and the introduction of programmes and services for the aging This work explains the biology of aging along with the social and psychological implications of the process It looks at diseases and disorders affecting the aged as well as their treatment It reports on the demographics of older Americans the impact of changes in life expectancy worldwide theories regarding longevity and lifestyle attitudes of a younger population toward an aging one and public support programmes and services for older adults People in Crisis Lee Ann Hoff,Lisa Brown,Miracle R. Hoff,2011-02-25 The first edition of People in Crisis published in 1978 established success as a comprehensive and user friendly text for health and social service professionals The book and its following incarnations included critical life events and life cycle transition challenges clearly pointing out the interconnections between such events stressful developmental changes and their potential for growth but also danger of suicide and or violence toward others This revised edition includes new case examples and expanded coverage of cross cultural content including commonalities and differences in origins manifestations and crisis responses The authors illustrate the application of crisis concepts assessment and intervention strategies across a wide range of health and mental health settings as well as at home school workplace and in the community Each chapter contains a closing summary that includes discussion questions references and online data sources for maximum application and learning Updated chapters discuss new research based content on workplace violence and abuse youth violence in schools and higher education settings the use of psychotropic drugs including for very young children in the absence of comprehensive assessment the crisis vulnerability of war veterans and the hazards of pathologizing what should be considered a normal response to the repeated and catastrophic trauma of war the intersection of socio political factors with individuals psychological healing from catastrophic experiences such as war and natural disaster

Medicine and Care of the Dying Milton James Lewis,2007 This book is for palliative care practitioners and all health care professionals with an interest in end of life care

Death, Society, and Human Experience Robert Kastenbaum,Christopher M. Moreman,2018-03-29 Providing an overview of the myriad ways that we are touched by death and dying both as an individual and as a member of society this book will help readers understand our relationship with death Kastenbaum and Moreman show how various ways that individual and societal attitudes influence both how and when we die and how we live and deal with the knowledge of death and loss This landmark text draws on contributions from the social and behavioral sciences as well as the humanities such as history religion philosophy literature and the arts to provide thorough coverage of understanding death and the dying process Death Society and Human Experience was originally written by Robert Kastenbaum a renowned scholar who developed one of the world s first death education courses Christopher Moreman who has worked in the field of death studies for almost two decades specializing in afterlife beliefs and experiences has updated this edition

Innovations in Hospice Architecture Stephen Verderber,Ben J. Refuerzo,2003-09-02 Providing much needed focus on hospice projects in the context of unprecedented rates of societal ageing this new reference book presents an overview of major recent developments in this rapidly evolving building type The authors present an overview of the historical origins of the contemporary hospice and the diverse variations on the basic premise of hospice care and offer a series of case studies of exemplary hospices The most innovative work in this area over the past decade has been in Japan the US Canada and the UK and the authors describe and analyze examples both as individual projects and as comparable yet differing approaches Hospice Architecture will be essential reading for anyone involved in the planning design and construction of hospices

Aging Education Nieli Langer,Terry Tirrito,2004 Aging

Education provides educators in aging studies with a unique text that responds to the paucity of instructional strategies and teaching materials. By developing and explaining a multidisciplinary approach to working with older adults in areas related to health, education, ethics, law, cultural competency for a multicultural population, translating social policy into practice, spirituality, and human services, the editors provide an imaginative and thought provoking unmet need for gerontology educators by providing them with teaching and practice strategies in aging education.
