103T Hospitality Today, 1994      Food, Fitness, Fun - trends in hospitality today Sebastian Wagner, 2002-10-17 Seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject Tourism Hotel Industry Catering grade B C sar Ritz Colleges Hotel Management School language English abstract Introduction Spas are not a very new invention They go back like many other things to the ancient Romans who invented spas Back then it was not only a place where people took advantage of the healthy mineral water but where they could find some rest socialize do business refresh their bodies as well as their minds This idea was then lost for several hundred years and came back in the medieval ages for instance in Carlsbad Europe where the famous bath industry began around the year 1300 But unlike the Romans there were only bathing and drinking cures It was not until 1800 when the first bathing and leisure facilities were built Only from then on did the old Roman concept of a spa really come back in people's mind Today the market especially in the USA is huge and the supply of different spa resorts is numerous it is predicted that the spa industry will double in size every four years Sabene 2001 Considering this and the increasing number of spas there is the question What features in terms of Food Fitness and Fun must a spa provide in order to stay competitive in the changing resort spa market in the USA Offers can be almost endless from beauty and skin care services massages body wraps aquatic and other therapies or additional fitness programs to simple bathing pleasures in differently designed springs of varying temperatures What is becoming more popular nowadays is the health conscious eating habits of guests This can be integrated into programs as for example in Palms Springs USA where there are nurses employed who guide the guests individually in terms of nutrition Madley 1999 Another example is the Aspen Club Spa in Aspen USA that offers special products with vitamins herbs and other organic supplements also guided by nurses and even doctors Madley 1999 The majority of guests are electing the spa they want to visit according to the services and facilities it offers Madley 1999 So it is obvious that a spa resort that wants to attract and keep guests has to think about its programs to be outstanding      Hospitality and Catering Anamika Varma, 2024-12-15 Hospitality and Catering Industry Insights delves
