athletes exercising their delight in pursuing scent whether real or artificial Painstakingly researched and packed with information this book covers both the well known recognized breeds and the more obscure ones from overseas some quite unknown to the British public The Oxford Handbook of Animals in Classical Thought and Life Gordon Lindsay Campbell,2014 The Oxford Handbook of Animals in Classical Thought and Life is the first comprehensive guide to animals in the ancient world encompassing all aspects of the topic by featuring authoritative chapters on 33 topics by leading scholars in their fields As well as an introduction to and a survey of each topic it provides guidance on further reading for those who wish to study a particular area in greater depth Both the realities and the more theoretical aspects of the treatment of animals in ancient times are covered in chapters which explore the domestication of animals animal husbandry animals as pets Aesop s Fables and animals in classical art and comedy all of which closely examine the nature of human animal interaction More abstract and philosophical topics are also addressed including animal communication early ideas on the origin of species and philosophical vegetarianism and the notion of animal rights Masculinity and the Hunt Catherine Bates,2013-03-21 As an age old metaphor for the sexual chase the hunt provides a uniquely conflicted site for the representation of masculinity On the one hand hunting had from ancient times served to define a particular and culturally approved mode of masculinity as heroic pursuant and goal oriented where success was measured by the achievement of the objectives set the capture and killing of prey When applied to love on the other hand hunting was inflected quite differently At first glance the basic scenario of a male subject pursuing elusive quarry over which he ultimately comes to assert control might seem to epitomise the dynamic of the sexual chase yet when poets invoke the hunt in an amorous context this most obvious manifestation of the metaphor is not the one they put to use On the contrary in lyric poetry and romance the hunt metaphor serves to demote or destabilise the masculine subject in some way The huntsman is routinely a figure of failure for all his efforts he either fails to catch what he pursues catches the wrong thing ends up being caught by others or runs round in circles chasing himself His failure is measured precisely as a shortfall from the cultural ideal The metaphor of the hunt thus opens up possibilities for exploring definitions of masculinity that deviate from culturally approved models of mastery and power It shows how limited those models are and offers examples of alternative and counter cultural versions of a masculine subjectivity that radically query patriarchal stereotypes of gender and class The hunt has been the subject of increased critical interest over last few years partly as a result of its politicisation as an issue as reflected in recent changes to hunting legislation within the UK Shifting attitudes to the hunt indicate that as a cultural phenomenon it continues to mobilise strong opinion and to activate notions of class and gender identity to this day Masculinity and the Hunt is a unique study considering the link between hunting and masculinity in the literature of the sixteenth century The Culture of Animals in Antiquity Sian Lewis,Lloyd Llewellyn-Jones,2018-01-09 The Culture of Animals in Antiquity provides students and researchers with well chosen and clearly presented ancient sources in translation some well known others undoubtedly unfamiliar but all central to a key area of study in ancient history the part played by animals in the cultures of the ancient Mediterranean It brings new ideas to bear on the wealth of evidence literary historical and archaeological which we possess for the experiences and roles of animals in the ancient world Offering a broad picture of ancient cultures in the Mediterranean as part of a wider ecosystem the volume is on an ambitious scale It covers a broad span of time from the sacred animals of dynastic Egypt to the imagery of the lamb in early Christianity and of region from the fallow deer introduced and bred in Roman Britain to the Asiatic lioness and her cubs brought as a gift by the Elamites to the Great King of Persia This sourcebook is essential for anyone wishing to understand the role of animals in the ancient world and support learning for one of the fastest growing disciplines in Classics

Our Dogs, Our Selves ,2016-09-12 The ubiquity of references to dogs in medieval and early modern texts and images must at some level reflect their actual presence in those worlds yet scholarly consideration of this material is rare and scattered across diverse sources This volume addresses that gap bringing together fifteen essays that examine the appearance meaning and significance of dogs in painting sculpture manuscripts literature and legal records of the period reaching beyond Europe to include cultural material from medieval Japan and Islam While primarily art historical in focus the authors approach the subject from a range of disciplines and with varying methodology that ultimately reveals as much about dogs as about the societies in which they lived Contributors are Kathleen Ashley Jane Carroll Emily Cockayne John Block Friedman Karen M Gerhart Laura D Gelfand Craig A Gibson Walter S Gibson Nathan Hofer Jane C Long Judith W Mann Sophie Oosterwijk Elizabeth Carson Pastan Donna L Sadler Alexa Sand and Janet Snyder

Interactions between Animals and Humans in Graeco-Roman Antiquity Thorsten Fögen, Edmund V. Thomas, 2017-08-21 The seventeen contributions to this volume written by leading experts show that animals and humans in Graeco Roman antiquity are interconnected on a variety of different levels and that their encounters and interactions often result from their belonging to the same structures networks and communities or at least from finding themselves together in a certain setting context or environment wittingly or unwittingly Papers explore the concrete categories of interaction between animals and humans that can be identified in what contexts they occur and what types of evidence can be productively used to examine the concept of interactions Articles in this volume take into account literary visual and other types of evidence A comprehensive research bibliography is also provided

Representing Beasts in Early Medieval England and Scandinavia Michael D. J. Bintley,Thomas J. T. Williams,2015 Essays on the depiction of animals birds and insects in early medieval material culture from texts to carvings to the landscape itself For people in the early Middle Ages the earth air water and ether teemed with other beings Some of these were sentient creatures that swam flew slithered or stalked through the same environments inhabited by their human contemporaries Others were objects that a modern beholder would be unlikely to think of as living things but could yet be considered to possess a vitality that rendered them potent Still others were things half glimpsed on a dark night or seen only in the mind s eye strange beasts that haunted dreams and visions or inhabited exotic lands beyond the compass of everyday knowledge This book discusses the various ways in which the early English and Scandinavians thought about and represented these other inhabitants of their world and considers the multi faceted nature of the relationship between people and beasts Drawing on the evidence of material culture art language literature place names and landscapes the studies presented here reveal a world where the boundaries between humans animals monsters and objects were blurred and often permeable and where to represent the bestial could be to hold a mirror to the self Michael D J Bintley is Senior Lecturer in Medieval Literature at Canterbury Christ Church University Thomas J T Williams is a doctoral researcher at UCL s Institute of Archaeology Contributors No l Adams John Baker Michael D J Bintley Sue Brunning L szl S ndor Chardonnens Della Hooke Eric Lacey Richard North Marijane Osborn Victoria Symons Thomas J Williams
