Deconstructing Developmental Psychology Erica Burman, 2016-11-22 In this completely revised and updated edition Deconstructing Developmental Psychology interrogates the assumptions and practices surrounding the psychology of child development providing a critical evaluation of the role and contribution of developmental psychology within social practice Since the second edition was published there have been many major changes This book addresses how shifts in advanced capitalism have produced new understandings of children and a new and more punitive range of institutional responses to children It engages with the paradoxes of childhood in an era when young adults are increasingly economically dependent on their families and in a political context of heightened insecurity The new edition includes an updated review of developments in psychological theory in attachment evolutionary psychology theory of mind cultural historical approaches as well as updating and reflecting upon the changed focus on fathers and fathering It offers new perspectives on the connections between Piaget and Vygotsky and now connects much more closely with discussions from the sociology of childhood and critical educational research Coverage has been expanded to include more material on child rights debates and a new chapter addresses practice dilemmas around child protection which engages even more with the raced and gendered effects of current policies involving children This engaging and accessible text provides key resources to inform better professional practice in social work education and health contexts It offers critical insights into the politics and procedures that have shaped developmental psychological knowledge It will be essential reading for anyone working with children or concerned with policies around children and families It was also of interest to students at undergraduate and postgraduate levels across a range of professional and practitioner groups as well as parents and policy makers

Narcissistic Parenting in an Insecure World Harry Hendrick, 2016-07-06 In this provocative history of parenting Harry Hendrick analyses the social and economic reasons behind parenting trends He shows how broader social changes including neoliberalism feminism the collapse of the social democratic ideal and the new behaviourism have led to the rise of the anxious and narcissistic parent The book charts the shift from the liberal and progressive parenting styles of the 1940s 70s to the more behavioural punitive and managerial methods of childrearing today made popular by experts such as Gina Ford and Supernanny Jo Frost and by New Labour's parent education programmes This trend Hendrick argues is symptomatic of the sour mean spirited and vindictive social norms found throughout society today It undermines the better instincts of parents and therefore damages parent child relations Instead he proposes parents should focus on understanding and helping their children as they work at growing up

Governing Through Pedagogy Jessica Pykett, 2013-09-13 This edited collection brings together researchers from education human geography sociology social policy and political theory in order to consider the idea of the pedagogical state as a means of understanding the strategies employed to re-educate citizens The book aims to critically interrogate the cultural practices of governing citizens in contemporary liberal societies Governing through pedagogy can be identified as an emerging tactic by which both state agencies and other non-state actors manage administer discipline shape care for and enable liberal citizens Hence discourses of active citizenship participatory democracy community empowerment personalised responsibility behaviour change and community cohesion are productively viewed through the conceptual lens of the pedagogical state Chapters consider the spaces of schools universities the voluntary sector civil society organisations parenting initiatives the media government departments and state agencies as fruitful empirical sites through which pedagogy is worked and re-worked This book was originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies Helping Children with Troubled Parents Margot Sunderland, Nicky Armstrong, 2017-04-28 This book is designed to enable practitioners to help children whose emotional wellbeing is being adversely affected by troubled parents These are children who live with the burden of having to navigate their parents' troubled emotional states often leaving them with a mass of painful feelings about a chaotic and disturbing world They can feel alarmed by their parent rather than experiencing them as home and a place of safety and solace The author explores the fact that when parents are preoccupied with their own troubles they are often unable to effectively address their child's core relational needs e.g. soothing validating attunement co-adventure interactive play As a result children are left self-helping which all too often means drugs drink self-harm depression anxiety eating disorders or problems with anger in the teenage years This guidebook offers readers a wealth of vital theory and effective interventions for working with these children and specifically the key feelings such children need help with Particular focus is given to the effects on children of family breakdown separation and divorce witnessing parents fighting and parents who suffer from depression or anxiety mental or physical ill health alcohol or drug addiction Readers will learn the complexity of children's feelings about their troubled parents how to enable children to address their unspoken hurt fear grief rage and resentment about their troubled parent in order to move forward in their lives how to empower children to find their voice when they have been left in the role of impotent bystander effective parent child intervention when parental troubles are adversely affecting the child and how to help a parent and child find each other again

Parenting in Global Perspective Charlotte Faircloth, Diane M. Hoffman, Linda L. Layne, 2013-10-28 Drawing on both sociological and anthropological perspectives this volume explores cross national trends and everyday experiences of parenting Parenting in Global Perspective examines the significance of parenting as a subject of professional expertise and activity in which adults are increasingly expected to be emotionally absorbed and become personally fulfilled By focusing the significance of parenting as a form of relationship and as mediated by family relationships across time and space the book explores the points of accommodation and points of tension between parenting as defined by professionals and those experienced by parents themselves Specific themes include the ways in which the moral context for parenting is negotiated and sustained the structural constraints to good parenting particularly in cases of immigration or reproductive technologies the relationship between intimate family life and broader cultural trends parenting culture policy making and nationhood parenting and as adult identity work Including contributions on parenting from a range of ethnographic locales from Europe Canada and the US to non Euro American settings such as Turkey Chile and Brazil this volume presents a uniquely critical and international perspective which positions parenting as a global ideology that intersects in a variety of ways with the political social cultural and economic positions of parents and families

Parenting the Crisis Tracey Jensen, 2018-03-28 Bad parenting is so often blamed for Britain's broken society manifesting in sites as diverse as the government reaction to the riots of 2011 popular entertainment like Supernanny and the discussion boards of Mumsnet This book examines how these pathologising ideas of failing chaotic and dysfunctional families are manufactured across media policy and public debate and how they create a powerful consensus that Britain is in the grip of a parent crisis It tracks how crisis talk around parenting has been used to police and discipline families who are considered to be morally deficient and socially irresponsible Most damagingly it has been used to justify increasingly punitive state policies towards families in the name of making bad parents more responsible Is the real crisis in our perceptions rather than reality This is essential reading for anyone engaged in policy and popular debate around parenting

Attention Seeking Nigel Mellor, 2008-01-15 This new edition of Nigel Mellor's bestselling book Attention Seeking is focused specifically on solving the distressing problems raised by attention seeking behaviour both in classrooms and in pre school settings Useful both as a reference and a practical guide the book can help practitioners meet the requirements of Every Child Matters Drawing on over 20 years experience working with teachers and parents the author's approach is down to earth encouraging and challenging The second edition has a new easy to follow layout with chapters containing practical points new case study materials and updated references Other brand new features include a 10 steps programme setting out clear strategies to use material on the use of stories discussion of problems with time out cutting edge coverage of ADHD chaos autism language problems and attachment ideas for managing parent meetings in school Written for staff in nurseries and schools mainstream and special and for lecturers and researchers in departments of education this book is ideal for anyone wanting to understand more about attention seeking and reduce this unwanted behaviour in the young people they work with Social Work and Social Theory Paul Michael Garrett, 2018-07-04 Drawing on a range of theorists and competing perspectives this substantially updated and expanded second edition places social theory at the heart of social work pedagogy This book imaginatively explores ways in which practitioners and social work educators might develop more critical and radical ways of theorising and working It is an invaluable resource for students and contains features such as Reflection and Talk Boxes to encourage classroom and workplace discussions This new edition includes An extensive additional chapter on Foucault Reworked and expanded versions of the chapters featured in the highly praised first edition Revised Reflection and Talk Boxes New and updated references to stimulate further reading and research Reacting to

Reality Television Beverley Skeggs, Helen Wood, 2012 As reality television extends into the experiences of the everyday it makes dramatic and often shocking the mundane aspects of our intimate relations This book addresses the impact of this endless opening out of intimacy as an entertainment trend that erodes the traditional boundaries between spectator and performer Cotton Wool Kids Stella O'Malley, 2015-02-13 What has happened to Irish childhood Parents are keeping their children indoors for fear of predators lurking around every corner and children are spending their days in front of screens or in supervised activities over controlled and growing steadily fatter and more unhappy But it doesn't have to be like this Commercial interests ensure parents feel anxious and filled with fear simply to sell them more stuff when in fact childhood has never been safer the rates of child mortality injury and sexual abuse are lower today than at any time since records began Cotton Wool Kids exposes the truth behind the scary stories and gives parents the information and the confidence to free themselves from the treadmill of after school activities and over supervision that has become common today The author provides parents with strategies to learn how to handle the relentless pressure from society and the media to provide a perfect childhood and instead to raise their children with a more relaxed and joyful approach more in touch with the outdoors and the community around them Writing the Modern Family Roberta Garrett, 2021-01-29 Although a large body of work has emerged which addresses neoliberal representations of the family in other cultural forms such as parenting advice programmes little has been written specifically on the family and contemporary literature This book examines the growing body of autobiographical and fictional writing on family and parenting issues in Anglo American culture from the late 1990s to the present day The book looks closely at six distinct genres which have arisen during this time frame the misery memoir the mum's lit popular novel the maternal confessional dad's lit the dysfunctional domestic novel and the family noir Writing the Modern Family will examine the way these burgeoning areas of British and American writing respond to a neoliberal public discourse in which a parenting deficit rather than economic and structural disadvantage is responsible for increasing inequality in child welfare and achievement In evaluating these forms and their relationship to neoliberal culture the book will also consider the complex interrelationship between these genres Women's Fiction and Post-9/11 Contexts Peter Childs, Claire Colebrook, Sebastian Groes, 2014-10-21 Rather than accept that there is a single body of literature that can be labeled women's writing this volume explores the ways in which twenty first century crises have problematized identity literature and narration      Making modern mothers Rachel Thomson, Mary Jane Kehily, Lucy Hadfield, Sue Sharpe, 2011-06-22 What does motherhood mean today Drawing on interviews with new mothers and intergenerational chains of women in the same family this exciting and timely book documents the transition to motherhood over generations and time Exploring amongst other things the trend to later motherhood and the experience of teenage pregnancy a compelling picture emerges Becoming a mother is not only a profound moment of identity change but also a site of socio economic difference that shapes women's lives      Motherhoods, Markets and Consumption Stephanie O'Donohoe, Margaret Hogg, Pauline Maclaran, Lydia Martens, Lorna Stevens, 2013-10-30 It takes more than a baby to make a mother and mothers make more than babies Bringing together a range of international studies Motherhoods Markets and Consumption examines how marketing and consumer culture constructs particular images of what mothers are what they should care about and how they should behave exploring how women's use of consumer goods and services shapes how they mother as well as how they are seen and judged by others Combining personal accounts from many mothers with different theoretical perspectives this book explores How advertising media and consumer culture contribute to myths and stereotypes concerning good and bad mothers How particular consumer choices are bound up with women's identities as mothers The role of consumption for women entering different phases of their mothering lives such as pregnancy early motherhood and the empty nest
