Chemers, 1984-05-25 It covers a wide range of topics dealing with the complex relationship between people and the environment Theorizing Built Form and Culture Kapila D. Silva, Nisha A. Fernando, 2024-03-08 In this collection of essays Theorizing Built Form and Culture The Legacy of Amos Rapoport a felicitation volume to celebrate the significance of Professor Amos Rapoport's lifelong scholarship scholars from around the world discuss the analytical relevance expansion and continuing application of these contributions in developing an advanced understanding of mutual relationships between people and built environments across cultures Professor Amos Rapoport has espoused an intellectual and theoretical legacy on environmental design scholarship that explains how cultural factors play a significant role in the ways people create and use environments as well as the way environments in turn influence people's behavior This volume presents a hitherto not seen unique and singular work that simultaneously articulates a cohesive framework of Rapoport's architectural theories and demonstrates how that theoretical approach be used in architectural inquiry education and practice across environmental scales types and cultural contexts It also acknowledges for the very first time how this theoretical legacy has pioneered the decolonizing of the Eurocentric approaches to architectural inquiry and has thus privileged an inclusive cross cultural perspective that laid the groundwork to understand and analyze non Western design traditions The book thus reflects a wide range of cross cultural and cross contextual range to which Professor Rapoport's theories apply a general notion of theoretical validity he always advocated for in his own writings The volume is a paramount source for scholars and students of architecture who are interested in understanding how culture mediates the creation use and preservation of the built environment House Form and Culture Revisited Edward K. Sadalla, 1976 Introduction to Landscape Design John L. Environment and Culture Irwin Altman, Joachim F. Wohlwill, 1980-04-30 Following upon the first two volumes in this series which dealt with a broad spectrum of topics in the environment and behavior field ranging from theoretical to applied and including disciplinary interdisciplinary and professionally oriented approaches we have chosen to devote subsequent volumes to more specifically defined topics Thus Volume Three dealt with Children and the Environment seen from the combined perspective of researchers in environmental and developmental psychology The present volume has a similarly topical coverage dealing with the complex set of relationships between culture and the physical environment It is broad and necessarily eclectic with respect to content theory methodology and epistemological stance and the contributors to it represent a wide variety of fields and disciplines including psychology geography anthropology economics and environmental design We were fortunate to enlist the collaboration of Amos Rapoport in the organization and editing of this volume as he brings to this task a particularly pertinent perspective that combines anthropology and architecture Volume Five of the series presently in preparation will cover the subject of behavioral science aspects of transportation Irwin Altman Joachim F Wohlwill ix Contents Introduction 1 CHAPTER 1 CROSS CULTURAL ASPECTS OF ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN AMOS RAPOPORT Introduction 7 Culture 9 Environmental Design 10 The Relationship of Culture and Environmental Design 15 The Variability of Culture Environment Relations 19 Culture Specific Environments 26 Designing for Culture 30 Implications for the Future 39 References 42 CHAPTER 2 CROSS CULTURAL RESEARCH METHODS STRATEGIES PROBLEMS APPLICATIONS RICHARD W Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa Hangwelani H.

Magidimisha-Chipungu, Lovemore Chipungu, 2021-09-28 This book's point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society being women children and the aging the minority clusters i.e. the blind the disabled and migrants In addition it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests The focus on spatial inequality has for a long time blindfolded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book's enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region Animals and Agency Sarah E. McFarland, Ryan Hediger, 2009 While many scholars who write about animals deal with animal agency in some way this volume is the first to position the question of nonhuman agency as the primary focus of inquiry Section I presents studies of actual animals demonstrating agency Section II moves agency into new terrain while considering key representations of animal agency in literature Section III analyzes animals as mediators and as conveyances of human to human communication and Section IV investigates the agency of beings who defy conventional species categories The Envoi demonstrates how the microscopic polyp is interwoven into notions of agency and mythical superagency This volume's interdisciplinary explorations press hard on issues of agency to open up space for more questions about how we can understand relationships between the human and the nonhuman

Toward the Integration of Theory, Methods, Research, and Utilization Gary T. Moore, Robert W. Marans, 2013-03-09 This fourth volume in the Advances in Environment Behavior and Design series continues the intent of earlier volumes by exploring new directions in the multidisciplinary environment behavior EB or EBS field The series is organized around a framework of theory methods research and utilization that some say has defined the field for the past 15 years This fourth volume is devoted to chapters that explore the integration of theory quantitative and qualitative research and utilization in policy planning and architecture The authors selected for this volume exemplify the multidisciplinary character of the field they have been selected from architecture environmental psychology environmental studies housing research landscape architecture social anthropology social ecology urban design and urban planning from academe and practice and from Australia Europe and North America

HISTORY OF THE ADVANCES SERIES The idea for the series emerged in 1983 at meetings of the Board of Directors of the Environmental Design Research Association EDRA Several publishers were contacted about the possibility of an EDRA Annual Review Eliot Werner at Plenum Press expressed great interest but suggested that an Advances series would be more appropriate since publication could be tied to a less specific timetable EDRA Plenum and the editors signed a contract in June 1984 for three volumes with an open door for oral agreements between Plenum and the editors after that time Four volumes have been published Volume 1 1987 Volume 2 1989 Volume 3 1991 and the current Volume 4 each containing 10 to 12 chapters

Handbook of Material Culture Chris Tilley, Webb Keane, Susanne Kuechler, Mike Rowlands, Patricia Spyer, 2006-01-05 The study of material culture is concerned with the relationship between persons and things in the past and in the present in urban and industrialized and in small scale societies across the globe The Handbook of Material Culture provides a critical survey of the theories concepts intellectual debates substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things It is cutting edge rather than simply reviewing the field as it currently exists It also attempts to chart the future the manner in which material culture studies may be extended and developed The Handbook of Material Culture is divided into five sections Section I maps material culture studies as a theoretical and conceptual field Section II examines the relationship between material forms the human body and the senses Section III focuses on subject object relations Section IV considers things in terms of processes and transformations in terms of production exchange and consumption performance and the significance of things over the long term Section V considers the contemporary politics and poetics of displaying representing and conserving material and the manner in which this impacts on notions of heritage tradition and identity The Handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes an unique and fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human It will be of interest to all who work in the social and historical sciences from anthropologists and archaeologists to human geographers to scholars working in heritage design and cultural studies Buildings and Society Anthony D. King, 2003-10-04 Buildings are essentially social and cultural products They result from social needs and accommodate a variety of functions economic social political religious Their size appearance location and form result not simply from physical factors such as materials climate or technology nor from architects designs but from a society's ideas its forms of economic and social organisation and the beliefs and values which prevail at any one time Society produces its buildings and the buildings help to maintain many of its social forms

Mechanics and Meaning in Architecture Lance LaVine, 2001 In Mechanics and Meaning in Architecture Lance LaVine shows that in architecture as practiced and taught today the technological aspect of the profession how weight is distributed how heat flow is regulated and how light is permitted to enter has been ceded to engineers and other technical specialists And in doing so he argues architects have lost sight of one of architecture's most important purposes that of providing a literal and figurative window onto the world As a technology of habitation architecture should give people both a practical and a metaphorical understanding of their relationship with nature For LaVine this knowledge emanates from a sensual understanding of the natural world as a felt force At its most basic level architecture demands an understanding of and response to the natural forces of gravity climate and sunlight At the center of Mechanics and Meaning in Architecture are case studies of four very different houses a Finnish log farmhouse from the nineteenth century Charles Moore's house in Orinda California Tadao Ando's Wall House in Japan and Le Corbusier's Villa Savoye near Paris Through his imaginative readings of structures LaVine highlights how the architects involved have used the oldest and most fundamental architectural technologies walls floors ceilings columns beams and windows in ways that offer creative responses to the natural world and humanity's place in it Clearly architects are comfortable with the practical and aesthetic components of their profession With this book Lance LaVine encourages them also to understand what makes their use of technology unique and essential and to reclaim the natural world for meaningful interpretation in their design of buildings Architecture

Martin van der Linden, 2021-03-12 The question of what architecture is answered in this book with one sentence Architecture is space created for human activities The basic need to find food and water places these activities within a larger spatial field Humans have learned and found ways to adjust to the various contextual difficulties that they faced as they roamed the earth Thus rather than adapting humans have always tried to change the context to their activities Humanity has looked at the context not merely as a limitation but rather as a spatial situation filled with opportunities that allows through intellectual interaction to change these limitations Thus humanity has created within the world their own contextual bubble that firmly stands against the larger context it is set in The key notion of the book is that architecture is space carved out of and against the context and that this process is deterministic

The Adaptation Process of a Resettled Community to the Newly-Built Environment A Study of the Nubian Experience in Egypt Wael Salah Fahmi, 2014-04-01 Generally construction of dams is regarded as means of economic progress in many countries Major consequences of such projects are the inundation of upstream areas and the resettlement of entire communities in newly built environments where they experience dramatic transformation in their lifestyles The present study takes the Nubian resettlement experience after the creation of Lake Nasser that submerged their old settlements along the river Nile Following their resettlement the design of the newly built environment disrupted the Nubian traditional lifestyles and patterns of privacy mechanisms territoriality and social interaction The inadequacy of the newly built environment was mainly attributed to the Nubians transfer from spacious homes in the old villages to compact contiguous houses in the new settlements The arrangement of these resettlement state built houses distributed on the basis of household size has further resulted in the fragmentation and the dispersion of traditional kinship based neighborhoods Within an interdisciplinary approach the study is based on theoretical historical and conceptual themes and on empirical research It sets out to examine the households responses towards and adaptation mechanisms with the newly built environment looking critically at the achievements of imposed top down planning in meeting the socio cultural and economic needs of those resettled
