Housing And Welfare In Southern Europe:

Housing and Welfare in Southern Europe Judith Allen, James Barlow, Jesús Leal, Thomas Maloutas, Liliana Padovani, 2008-04-15 The growing literature on comparative European housing policy has played a major part in developing our understanding of the way housing is provided in different countries and in the way the interaction between the state market and civil society is conceptualized. However, much of this analysis is rooted without question in the welfare states of northern Europe; there has been almost no research published in English on the provision of housing in southern Europe. Such research as exists deals with specific features of housing policy invariably in a single country. There is probably a better understanding of the housing systems of the former communist countries than those of southern Europe. Tenancy Law and Housing Policy in Europe Christoph U. Schmid, 2018-01-26 Tenancy law has developed in all EU member states for decades or even centuries but constitutes a widely blank space in comparative and European law. This book fills an important gap in the literature by considering the diverse and complex panorama of housing policies, markets and their legal regulation across Europe. Expert contributors argue that while unification is neither politically desired nor opportune, a European recommendation of best practices including draft rules and default contracts implementing a regulatory equilibrium would be a rewarding step forward. The SAGE Handbook of Housing Studies David F. Clapham, William A. V. Clark, Kenneth Gibb, 2012-04-20 Cross disciplinary and critical in its approach, The SAGE Handbook of Housing Studies is an elucidating look at the key issues within the field. It covers the study of housing retrospectively but also analyses the future directions of research and theory, demonstrating how it can contribute to wider debates in the social sciences. A comprehensive introductory chapter is followed by four parts offering complete coverage of the area. Markets examines the perception of housing markets, how they function in different contexts and the importance of housing behaviour and neighbourhoods. Approaches looks at how other disciplines, economics, geography and sociology, have informed the direction of housing studies. Context traces the interactions between housing studies and other aspects of society, providing context to debate housing through issues of space, social welfare and the environment. Policy is a multi-disciplinary and comprehensive take on the major policy issues and the causes and possible solutions of housing problems such as regeneration and homelessness. Edited by leading names in the field and including international contributions, the book is a stimulating, wide-ranging read that will be an invaluable resource for academics and researchers in geography, urban studies, sociology, social policy, economics and politics. Contested Landscapes of Poverty and Homelessness In Southern Europe Vassilis P. Arapoglou, Kostas Gounis, 2017-09-15 The book uses Athens as a case study to identify the key features of urban anti-poverty policies in Greece and to discuss them in relation to policy developments in the crisis-ridden countries of Southern Europe. The idea of contested landscapes shapes the focus of the book on urban poverty and homelessness. Contested landscapes refer to the complex dynamics between visible and invisible poverty and to competing strategies on how to address them. The book takes a path dependent view on the development of post welfare arrangements devolution and pluralism that are being shaped by both neoliberal mentality solidarity and communitarian practices The authors draw on their own research and advocacy background in New York and Athens to shape their conceptual and methodological tools however rather than uncritically importing North American and North European concepts to Greece the book highlights the significance of distinctive Mediterranean features for analysing homelessness and anti poverty policies This will be a useful read for academics policy makers in areas of urban studies sociology social policy human geography and anthropology Women and Housing Patricia Kennett, Kam Wah Chan, 2010-12-07 In the context of contemporary economic political social and cultural transformations this book brings together contributions from developed and emerging societies in Europe the USA and East Asia in order to highlight the nature extent and impact of these changes on the housing opportunities of women The collection seeks to contribute to comparative housing debates by highlighting the gendered nature of housing processes locating these processes within wider structured and institutionalized relations of power and to show how these socially constructed relationships are culturally contingent and manifest and transform over time and space The international contributors draw on a wide range of empirical evidence relating to labour market participation wealth distribution family formation and education to demonstrate the complexity and gendered nature of the interlocking arenas of production reproduction and consumption and the implications for the housing opportunities of women in different social contexts Worldwide examples are drawn from Australia China Great Britain Hong Kong Japan Spain Sweden Taiwan and the USA

Social Problems in Southern Europe Francisco Entrena-Durán, Rosa M. Soriano-Miras, Ricardo Duque-Calvache, 2020-08-28 As the European Union continues to struggle to establish a common agenda on tackling social problems this compelling book presents a set of comparative sociological studies in southern European countries from leading scholars working in the region It widens the debate by looking at the specific social problems of southern Europe and highlights the shared trends and critical regional disparities that may improve our understanding of Mediterranean welfare states Social Policy in Changing European Societies Nelson, Kenneth, Nieuwenhuis, Rense, Yerkes, Mara A., 2022-07-15 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 License It is free to read download and share on Elgaronline.com Adopting an interdisciplinary approach this book provides a cutting edge in depth account of social policy research today how we got here and where future research should be headed It defines the core research agenda for the future covering multiple social policy fields including care family health and housing policy as well as gender equality labour market policy and welfare attitudes Housing Estates in Europe Daniel Baldwin Hess, Tiit Tammaru, Maarten van Ham, 2018-08-14 This open access book explores the formation and socio spatial trajectories of large housing estates in Europe Are these estates clustered or scattered Which social groups originally had access to residential space in housing estates What is the size scale and geography of housing estates their architectural and built environment composition services and neighbourhood amenities and metropolitan connectivity How do housing estates contribute to the urban mosaic of neighborhoods by ethnic and socio economic status What types of policies and planning initiatives have been implemented in order to prevent the social downgrading of housing estates The collection of chapters in this book addresses these questions from a new perspective previously unexplored in scholarly literature The social aspects of housing estates are thoroughly investigated including socio demographic and economic characteristics of current and past inhabitants ethnicity and segregation patterns population dynamics etc and the physical composition of housing estates is described in significant detail including building materials building form architectural and landscape design built environment characteristics etc This book is timely because the recent global economic crisis and Europe s immigration crisis demand a thorough investigation of the role large housing estates play in poverty and ethnic concentration Through case studies of housing estates in 14 European centers the book also identifies policy measures that have been used to address challenges in housing estates throughout Europe

Ethnic Spatial Segregation in European Cities Hans Skifter Andersen, 2019-05-15 This book provides the first in depth interpretation of how to understand the causes of ethnic residential segregation across Western European countries and the USA In many countries ethnic minorities have obtained low quality housing and may be concentrated in certain parts of cities This book asks to what extent ethnic segregation can be assigned to special preferences for housing and neighbourhoods among ethnic minorities Is it the behaviour of the native majority or is it a result of housing and urban policies Ethnic segregation differs greatly across European countries and cities Chapters discuss the extent to which these differences can be explained by welfare state systems levels of immigration and the ethnic composition of minorities The book also considers the impact of housing policy and the spatial structure of urban housing markets created by urban planning and policies This book will appeal to teachers students and researchers working with segregation urban sociology and geography It will also be valuable to civil servants in central and local governments who are working with measures to combat ethnic segregation and its consequences

Hjelbrekke, 2022-11-30 Drawing inspiration from Pierre Bourdieu's social space theory this book provides an unprecedented overview of class relations covering topics such as class polarisation cultural reproduction political orientations and globalisation The book applies Bourdieusian social space approach to show how class boundaries have been maintained or transformed in different European countries Based on quantitative data it proposes a renewal of the analysis of distances divides and relations of domination between social classes documenting objective and symbolic boundaries that form the basis of individuals living and working conditions in 11 European countries Focusing on transformations of wealth inequalities education strategies and European labour markets the book examines the role of cultural economic and social capital It will be of interest to students and scholars across the social sciences in particular to those studying social and wealth inequalities in a comparative perspective and Master's students in European studies

Private Rental Housing Tony

Crook, Peter A. Kemp, 2014-02-28 A new focus on private renting has been brought into sharp relief by the global financial crisis with its profound impact on mortgage finance housing markets and government budgets Written by specially commissioned international experts and

Socio-Economic Segregation in European Capital Cities Tiit Tammara, Szymon Marcińczak, Maarten van Ham, Sako Musterd, 2015-07-24 Growing inequalities in Europe are a major challenge threatening the sustainability of urban communities and the competitiveness of European cities While the levels of socio economic segregation in European cities are still modest compared to some parts of the world the poor are increasingly concentrating spatially within capital cities across Europe An overlooked area of research this book offers a systematic and representative account of the spatial dimension of rising inequalities in Europe This book provides rigorous comparative evidence on socio economic segregation from 13 European cities Cities include Amsterdam Athens Budapest London Milan Madrid Oslo Prague Riga Stockholm Tallinn Vienna and Vilnius Comparing 2001 and 2011 this multi factor approach links segregation to four underlying universal structural factors social inequalities global city status welfare regimes and housing systems Hypothetical segregation levels derived from those factors are compared to actual segregation levels in all cities Each chapter provides an in depth and context sensitive discussion of the unique features shaping inequalities and segregation in the case study cities The main conclusion of the book is that the spatial gap between the poor and the rich is widening in capital cities across Europe which threatens to harm the social stability of European cities This book will be a key reference on increasing segregation and will provide valuable insights to students researchers and policy makers who are interested in the spatial dimension of social inequality in European cities Chapters 1 and 15 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 3.0 license

Housing First Deborah Padgett, Benjamin F. Henwood, Sam J. Tsemberis, 2016 This book provides a unique portrayal of Housing First as a paradigm shift in homeless services Since 1992 this approach has spread nationally and internationally changing systems and reversing the usual continuum of care The success of Housing First has few parallels in social and human services

Essays on Housing and Pensions Thomas Müller, 2018-12-28 Demographic trends put a burden on EU pension provision As the sustainability of pension systems is addressed by current pension reforms lower benefit levels are projected In this scenario households may want to consider supplementing their public pension income As their own residence is on average their most valuable asset its transformation to income can be one form of alleviating financial distress in old age Thomas Müller presents research findings on the interdependency of housing and pension wealth as well as on whether and to what extent housing wealth is decumulated after retirement The author emphasizes the consideration of housing wealth in pension policies to enable European households to employ its housing asset as an income source in old age About the Author Thomas Müller wrote his dissertation at the Real Estate Management Institute REMI at the EBS Business School His research was motivated by the effects of demographic changes on pension provision in the EU He focused especially on the allocation and liquidation of private housing wealth as a public pension supplement
