Fitzhugh, 1999 Explorer Jacques Cartier dismissed it as the land God gave to Cain but generations of people from widely differing cultures living in dense wilderness conditions have forged the people of Labrador into a thriving vital culture of their own Here are their stories in their own voices written by the expert hand of a person whose heart's home is Labrador The Archaeology of the Atlantic Northeast Matthew W. Betts, M. Gabriel Hrynck, 2021-05-02 A notable contribution to North American archaeological literature The Archaeology of the Atlantic Northeast is the first book to integrate and interpret archaeological data from the entire Atlantic Northeast making unprecedented cultural connections across a broad region that encompasses the Canadian Atlantic provinces the Quebec Lower North Shore and Maine Beginning with the earliest Indigenous occupation of the area this book presents a cultural overview of the Atlantic Northeast and weaves together the histories of the Indigenous peoples whose traditional lands make up this territory including the Innu Beothuk Inuit and numerous Wabanaki bands and tribes Emphasizing historical connection and cultural continuity The Archaeology of the Atlantic Northeast tracks the development of the earliest peoples in this area as they responded to climate and ecosystem change by transforming their glacier edge way of life to one on the water s edge becoming one of the most successful and longstanding marine oriented cultures in North America Supported by more than a hundred illustrations and maps documenting the archaeological legacy as well as discussions of unanswered questions intended to spur debate this comprehensive text is ideal for students researchers professional archaeologists and anyone interested in the history of this region Sources for the History of Science 1660-1914 David M. Knight, Sea of Slaughter Farley Mowat, 2012 The northeastern seaboard of Canada and the United States extending from Labrador to Cape Cod was the first region of North America to suffer from human exploitation Farley Mowat informs extensive historical and biological research with his direct experience living in and observing this region When it was first published more than 20 years ago Sea of Slaughter served as a catalyst for environment reform raising awareness of the decline and destruction of marine and coastal species Today it remains a prescient environmental classic serving now as ever as a haunting reminder of the impact of human interest on the natural world Life and Labour in Newfoundland Charles R. Fay, 1956-12-15 This study of Newfoundland is a brilliant combination of first hand observation and of research into fascinating source materials Professor Fay made tours of Newfoundland and of Labrador and examined documentary material in London and the West Country Both his observations and his source material are fresh and stimulating and he writes in his usual lively provocative style Professor Fay relates the economic history of Newfoundland to the seafaring and commercial background of the Island s first inhabitants Many parallels can be drawn between life in early Newfoundland and in the west of England where the enterprises which first discovered Newfoundland and its resources were founded Despite legal restrictions on the growth of permanent settlements Newfoundland developed inexorably from a simple fishery to a full fledged colony And just as Newfoundland could not help its progression from fishery to established settlement so today it is inevitably pressing towards industrial maturity The material in this volume is based upon a series of lectures first delivered in 1953 at Memorial University St John s Newfoundland History of Technology Volume 5 A. Rupert Hall, Norman Smith, 2016-09-30 The annual collections in the History of Technology series look at the history of technological discovery and change exploring the relationship of technology to other aspects of life and showing how technological development is affected by the society in which it occurred The Life of Governor Joan Gideon Loten (1710-1789) Alexander J. P. Raat, 2010 Details Loten s personal history and his professional career as a servant of the Dutch

East Indies Company It contains an inventory of his natural history drawings in the London Natural History Museum and Teylers Museum at Haarlem a valuable treasure of eighteenth century natural history of Sri Lanka and Indonesia Loten s writings quoted extensively in this biography cover early eighteenth century narrow minded provincial Utrecht in the Dutch Republic the exotic Dutch East Indies and cosmopolitan London in the latter part of the century Lookout John Steffler,2010-03-16 The first collection of new poems in more than a decade from one of Canada s most respected poets The poems in John Steffler s new collection are enlivened by the same muscular acts of attention that characterize his earlier books As always his poems inhabit experience fully senses on high alert transmitting the abundance and turbulence of physical existence they are charged with the raw Eros of being Nowhere is there a more complete nature poet attuned robust honest fully informal and emotionally candid brimming with energy and animal spirits Many of the poems in Lookout explore and evoke specific landscapes the limestone barrens of Newfoundland the Blomidon and Lewis Hills the Greek Islands Others dwell on personal relationships lover pregnant daughter and a touching finely tuned sequence on a family coping with a mother s Alzheimer s There is also a wonderful set of meditations on photographs from the archives in Newfoundland Canadian literature is blessed and animated by John Steffler s contributions to it Romantic Cartographies Sally Bushell,Julia S. Carlson,Damian Walford Davies,2020-12-10 Romantic Cartographies is the first collection to explore the reach and significance of cartographic practice in Romantic period culture Revealing the diverse ways in which the period sought to map and spatialise itself the volume also considers the engagement of our own digital cultures with Romanticism s map mindedness Original exploratory essays engage with a wide range of cartographic projects objects and experiences in Britain and globally Subjects range from Wordsworth Clare and Walter Scott to Romantic board games and geographical primers to reveal the pervasiveness of the cartographic imagination in private and public spheres Bringing together literary analysis creative practice geography cartography history politics and contemporary technologies just as the cartographic enterprise did in the Romantic period itself Romantic Cartographies enriches our understanding of what it means to map literature and culture The Scottish Enlightenment Abroad Janet Starkey,2018-03-20 In The Scottish Enlightenment Abroad Janet Starkey examines the lives and works of Scots working in the mid eighteenth century with the Levant Company in Aleppo then within the Ottoman Empire and those working with the East India Company in India especially in the fields of natural history medicine ethnography and the collection of Arabic and Persian manuscripts The focus is on brothers from Edinburgh Alexander Russell MD FRS Patrick Russell MD FRS Claud Russell and William Russell FRS By examining a wide range of modern interpretations Starkey argues that the Scottish Enlightenment was not just a philosophical discourse but a multi faceted cultural revolution that owed its vibrancy to ties of kinship and to strong commercial and intellectual links with Europe and further abroad Associations and Other Groups in Science Ana Delicado,2013-11-13 Associations and Other Groups in Science An Historical and Contemporary Perspective brings together a collection of texts on the subject of scientific associations and their role in science and society It combines historical approaches focused on the role that associations and other groups played in the development of particular scientific disciplines in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries with contemporary analyses that highlight the involvement of associations in engagement with wider publics A somewhat neglected subject in the social studies of science scientific associations provide an opportunity for reflecting on and discussing wider issues in science such as the place of scientific advice in policy making the structure of scientific careers and the need for building bridges between the scientific community and society at large Since all chapters examine the Portuguese scientific system this book also contributes to acquaint international audiences with the history and the current situation of science in Portugal Some of the research findings included here are valid across borders and may be used for comparative research Though mainly aimed at the science and technology studies community it has the potential to reach readers in other social sciences as well as in the hard sciences keen on the history of their disciplines
