Joseph Losey A Revenge On Life:

Joseph Losey David Caute,1996 David Caute appraises Joseph Losey's 31 features and provides a compelling portrait of a hugely driven talent honoured in Europe but ignored in Hollywood a man of creative generosity yet who was an alcoholic and at times brutally egotistical "Escape to Life" Eckart Goebel,Sigrid Weigel,2012-05-29 After 1933 New York City gave shelter to many leading German and German Jewish intellectuals Stripped of their German citizenship by the Nazi regime these public figures either stayed in the New York area or moved on to California and other places This compendium adopting the title of a famous volume published by Klaus and Erika Mann in 1939 explores the impact the US and NYC in particular had on these authors as well as the influence they in turn exerted on US intellectual life Moreover it addresses the transformations that took place in the exiled intellectuals thinking when it was translated into another language and addressed to an American audience Among the individuals presented in this volume are such prominent names as T W Adorno H Arendt W Benjamin E Bloch B Brecht S Kracauer the Mann family S Morgenstern and E Panofsky The authors of the essays in this compendium were free to choose the angle biography theory politics or aspect a single work a personal constellation deemed best to illuminate the given intellectual's work Acclaimed NYC photographer Fred Stein a German Jewish refugee from Dresden produced numerous portraits of exiled intellectuals and artists A selection of these compelling portraits is reproduced in this book for the first time A Short History of Film Wheeler Winston Dixon,Gwendolyn Audrey Foster,2008-03-01 The history of international cinema is now available in a concise conveniently sized and affordable volume Succinct yet comprehensive A Short History of Film provides an accessible overview of the major movements directors studios and genres from the 1880s to the present More than 250 rare stills and illustrations accompany the text bringing readers face to face with many of the key players and films that have marked the industry Beginning with precursors of what we call moving pictures Wheeler Winston Dixon and Gwendolyn Audrey Foster lead a fast paced tour through the invention of the kinetoscope the introduction of sound and color between the two world wars and ultimately the computer generated imagery of the present day They detail significant periods in world cinema including the early major industries in Europe the dominance of the Hollywood studio system in the 1930s and 1940s and the French New Wave of the 1960s Special attention is also given to small independent efforts in developing nations and the corresponding more personal independent film movement that briefly flourished in the United States the significant filmmakers of all nations censorship and regulation and how they have affected production everywhere and a wide range of studios and genres Along the way the authors take great care to incorporate the stories of women and other minority filmmakers who have often been overlooked in other texts Compact and easily readable this is the best one stop source for the history of world film available to students teachers and general audiences alike British rural landscapes on film Paul Newland,2016-09-01 British rural landscapes on film offers insights into how rural areas in Britain have been represented on film from the silent era through both world wars and on into the twenty first century It is the first book to exclusively deal with representations of the British countryside on film The contributors demonstrate that the countryside has provided Britain and its constituent nations and regions with a dense range of spaces in which cultural identities have been and continue to be worked through British rural landscapes on film demonstrates that British cinema provides numerous examples of how national identity and the identity of the countryside have been partly constructed through filmic representation and how British rural films can allow us to further understand the relationship between the cultural identities of specific areas of Britain and the landscapes they inhabit

Sixties British Cinema Reconsidered Petrie Duncan Petrie,2020-03-02 This collection of exciting new research on British cinema of the 1960s reconsiders and reframes the film culture that emerged from that tumultuous decade Challenging assumptions around Sixties stardom the book focuses on creative collaboration and the contribution of production personnel beyond the director and discusses how cultural change is reflected in both film style and cinematic themes With perspectives and insights from established scholars and new critical voices Sixties British Cinema Reconsidered draws on under explored archival resources to explore four key research areas stars and stardom creative collaborations in filmmaking developments in genre and film style and how the cinema of the period both responded and contributed to social and cultural transformation in the 1960s

The Servant Amy Sargeant,2020-10-01 Amy Sargeant's compelling and meticulous study of Joseph Losey's The Servant 1963 sets the film in the context of a long tradition of fictional depictions of the master servant relationship from Shakespeare to Cervantes Henry James Dorothy L Sayers and P G Wodehouse Sargeant points out that while many of these relationships are played for comic effect that of the young master Tony James Fox and his manservant Barrett Dirk Bogarde unfolds in a far more sinister manner with Barrett coming to dominate and humiliate the hapless Tony Sargeant's reading pays particular attention to the contribution not only of Losey and Harold Pinter who adapted the screenplay from Robin Maugham's novella but also of the cinematographer Douglas Slocombe designer Richard Macdonald and costume designer Beatrice Bumble Dawson She analyses the performances of Sarah Miles as Barrett's lover Vera and Wendy Craig as Tony's fiancée Susan as well as those of Fox and Bogarde and gives careful consideration to how the film uses architectural form interior design and decoration and clothing to establish character and relationships In the context of the collapse of the British Empire and a beleaguered Establishment beset by spy and sex scandals the film can be read Sargeant argues as a metaphor for the state of the nation in the early 1960s Finally Sargeant considers the film's critical and commercial reception in Britain Europe and the United States its release how it was received as one of a number of emigre films and Losey's surprising denial of a homoerotic intent in the Tony Barrett relationship In her new foreword to this edition Amy Sargeant considers contemporary resonances of the film's depiction of a twisted master servant relationship in recent TV and cinema including The Crown Downton Abbey and The Trial of Christine Keeler The Left Side of the Screen Bob Herzberg,2014-01-10 In examining the careers of communist and liberal actors screenwriters playwrights and directors in Hollywood Riots Doug Dibbern,2015-12-17 The large literature about the politics of Hollywood in the period of McCarthy and the blacklist has largely overlooked political filmmaking during those agitated years Hollywood Riots examines the most vibrant cycle of independently produced political films made while House Committee on Un American Activities was investigating communists in the film industry In doing so it shifts the focus from the politics of Washington to the politics of Los Angeles and from the films of the Hollywood Ten to the more politically complex films of the progressive community at large Dibbern shows how the movies produced by progressives at the end of the 1950s including The Lawless The Sound of Fury The Underworld were the logical cinematic parallel to their political and journalistic advocacy fighting the conservative newspapers In these films they were recasting political events from California s recent past as politically engaged narratives that were inflected with their own fears of persecution Hollywood Riots re views the work of notable directors like Joseph Losey and Cy Endfield as well as introducing unheralded political screenwriters and directors such as Daniel Mainwaring Jo Pagano and Leo C Popkin
