Compelling timely and provocative The writing is sleek and exhilarating It doesn't waste time telling us what it will do or what it has just done it just does it Don Kulick Professor of Anthropology New York University How we can talk about sex and risk in the age of barebacking or condomless sex without invoking the usual bogus and punitive clichés about gay men's alleged low self-esteem lack of self-control and other psychological deficits Are there queer alternatives to psychology for thinking about the inner life of homosexuality What Do Gay Men Want explores some of the possibilities Unlike most writers on the topic of gay men and risky sex David Halperin liberates gay male subjectivity from psychology demonstrating the insidious ways in which psychology's defining opposition between the normal and the pathological subjects homosexuality to medical reasoning and revives a whole set of unexamined moral assumptions about good sex and bad sex In particular Halperin champions neglected traditions of queer thought including both literary and popular discourses by drawing on the work of well-known figures like Jean Genet and neglected ones like Marcel Jouhandeau He shows how the long history of gay men's uses of abjection can offer an alternative nonmoralistic model for thinking about gay male subjectivity something which is urgently needed in the age of barebacking Anyone searching for nondisciplinary ways to slow the spread of HIV/AIDS among gay men or interested in new modes of thinking about gay male subjectivity should read this book David M Halperin is W H Auden Collegiate Professor of the History and Theory of Sexuality Professor of English Professor of Women's Studies Professor of Comparative Literature and Adjunct Professor of Classical Studies at the University of Michigan Le texte-voleur Nathalie Fredette, 1988 Unfinished Business Brian Gordon Kennelly, 1997 This is the first study systematically to appraise Splendid's Elle and Le Baigne the three plays by Jean Genet published after his death both in the context of the dramatist's dramatic canon and with respect to one another After showing that their unusual publishing history necessarily sets these works apart from Haute surveillance Les Bonnes Le Balcon Les Nègres and Les Paravents it argues that from Splendid to Le Baigne the question of incompleteness is exteriorized moving from a purely thematic to an increasingly formal context and that the status of each posthumously published work differs Splendid is a completed play thematizing incompleteness Elle with its seemingly incomplete form having thematic currency is a properly unfinished play and as the intentionally fragmentary purposefully suspended beginning of a play Le Baigne is shaped by incompleteness Figures baroques de Jean Genet Nathalie Fredette, 2001 A travers une série de figures telles l'oscillation et l'ostentation l'auteur montre comment le style de Genet permet de relier les écrits politiques de la fin de sa vie avec les romans autobiographiques de ses débuts Il puise aux sources de l'analyse esthétique pour s'interroger sur la notion de style et construire comme figure d

The Theatre of the Absurd Martin Esslin, 2009-04-02 In 1953 Samuel Beckett's Waiting for Godot premiered at a tiny avant garde theatre in Paris within five years it had been translated into more than twenty languages and seen by more than a million spectators Its startling popularity marked the emergence of a new type of theatre whose proponents Beckett Ionesco Genet Pinter and others shattered dramatic conventions and paid scant attention to psychological realism while highlighting their characters inability to understand one another In 1961 Martin Esslin gave a name to the phenomenon in his groundbreaking study of these playwrights who dramatized the absurdity at the core of the human condition Over four decades after its initial publication Esslin's landmark book has lost none of its freshness The questions these dramatists raise about the struggle for meaning in a purposeless world are still as incisive and necessary today as they were when Beckett's tramps first waited beneath a dying tree on a lonely country road for a mysterious benefactor who would never show Authoritative engaging and eminently readable The Theatre of the Absurd is nothing short of a classic vital reading for anyone with an interest in the theatre

Consuming Autobiographies Claire Boyle, 2017-12-02 Since 1975 French literary writing has been marked by an autobiographical turn which has seen authors increasingly often tap into the vein of what the French term écriture de soi This coincides paradoxically with the death of autobiography as these authors self consciously distance themselves and their writings from conventional autobiography founding a nouvelle autobiographie where the very possibility of autobiographical expression is questioned In the first book length study in English to address this phenomenon Claire Boyle sheds a new light on this hostility toward autobiography through a series of ground breaking studies of estrangement in autobiographical works by major post war authors Nathalie Sarraute Georges Perec Jean Genet and Helene Cixous She identifies autobiography as a site of conflict between writer and reader as authors struggle to assert the unknowableness of their identity in the face of a readership resolutely desiring privileged knowledge Autobiography emerges as a deeply troubling genre for authors with the reader as an antagonistic consumer of the autobiographical self Queer Writing E.

Stephens,2009-07-16 Queer Writing provides the first full length study of homoeroticism in Jean Genet s fiction It shows how the theory of writing elaborated in his work provides a new way to understand homosexual literature not as the inscription of a stable sexual subjectivity but as the mobilization of a perverse dynamic within the text Gendering Border Studies

Jane Aaron,Henrice Altink,Chris Weedon,2010-06-15 The study of borders has recently undergone significant transitions reflecting changes in the functions of boundaries themselves as the world political map has experienced transformations Gender defined as the knowledge about perceived distinctions between the sexes is an important signifier of borders as constructed and contested lines of differences In the interplay with other categories of difference like class race ethnicity and religion it plays a major role in giving meaning to different forms of borders It is not surprising then that an increasing number of studies in the last years have aimed for a gendering of border studies This book explores this new interdisciplinary field and develops it further The main questions it asks are How do we define borders frontiers and boundaries in different disciplinary approaches of gendered border studies What were and are the main fields of gendered border studies in different fields What might be important questions for future research And how useful is an inter or transdisciplinary approach for gendered border studies Sixteen established scholars from various disciplines contribute chapters in which they set out how the issue of gender and borders has been approached in their discipline and describe what they expect from future research Postmodernism: Disciplinary texts : humanities and social sciences Victor E.
