Healy, 1991 A survey was done in order to describe and analyze how high school guidance counselors and college admission and transfer counselors operate within the college selection process and to recommend strategies to improve articulation among these groups The survey involved four types of counselors high school counselors admission counselors at two year institutions admission counselors at four year institutions and transfer counselors at two year institutions and was conducted in two stages Stage One identified categories of articulation tasks while Stage Two measured levels of agreement and ratings of importance for the identified articulation tasks The second stage survey was mailed to 1 500 counseling professionals and the response rate was 49 percent Results found that at the college university to high school level there does not appear to be an articulation crisis though counselors indicate room for improvement However the articulation services provided to transfer students by four year colleges are seen by transfer counselors as inadequate Though each of the counselor groups suggested different ways to improve their services all called for more formal strategic planning The document includes 16 references and two appendixes containing copies of the surveys JB Resources in Education ,1998-07 Balancing Life and Education While Being a Part of a Military Family Jillian Ventrone, Paul Karczewski, Robert W. Blue Jr., 2017-02-15 Military spouse education is an often overlooked topic With the proliferation of service member programs and benefits and the spotlight on them it is not uncommon for spouses to neglect looking into their own educational opportunities and benefits The hectic life of a military family also often complicates the process of attending an institution of higher education for spouses There are numerous programs and benefits that a spouse may have access to but they are difficult to find and navigate properly Balancing Life and Education While Being a Part of a Military Family A Guide to Navigating Higher Education for the Military Spouse attempts to highlight these possibilities and inform and assure this population that attaining an education is possible regardless of location or current circumstances Numerous programs and benefits are described as well as the best way to go about using them Detailed instructions are illustrated to make the process of obtaining an education easier and to give spouses more confidence in pursuing their own education In addition the specific considerations of military family life are addressed along with these instructions Education is really important and a lot of times military spouses aren t aware of the opportunities and resources available to them to pursue it The authors of From the Navy to College Transitioning from the Service to Higher Education and From the Army to College Transitioning from the Service to Higher Education have put together a clear guidebook will make the process easy accessible and understandable They offer clear advice and information about resources available to spouses of service members creating a go to guide for pursuing higher education
