Western Art Martin Kemp, 2000 The Oxford History of Western Art is the new authority on the development of visual culture in the West over the last 2700 years from the classical period to the end of the twentieth century OHWA is an innovative and challenging reappraisal of how the history of art can be presented and understood None of the currently available general histories of art offers the wealth of perspectives and cross media references of this book Through a carefully devised modular structure readers are given insights not only into how and why works of art were created but also how works in different media relate to each other across time Here uniquely is not the simple linear story of art but a rich series of stories told from varying viewpoints The founding principle of the book has been to use carefully selected groupings of pictures to give readers a sense of the visual texture of the various periods and episodes covered The 167 illustration groups supported by explanatory text and picture captions create a sequence of visual tours not merely a procession of individually great works viewed in isolation but juxtapositions of significant images that powerfully convey a sense of the visual environments in which works of art need to be viewed in order to be understood and appreciated The aim throughout has been to make the shape and nature of these visual presentations a stimulating and rewarding experience allowing readers to become active participants in the process of interpretation and synthesis Another key feature of the narrative is the re definition of traditional period boundaries Rather than relying on conventional labels such as Medieval Renaissance Baroque etc five major phases of significant historical change are established that unlock longer and more meaningful continuities The art of classical antiquity from c 600 BC to the fall of Rome in AD 410 The establishment of visual culture in Europe from 410 to 1527 the sack of papal Rome European visual regimes from 1527 to 1770 The era of revolutions 1770 to 1914 Modernism and after 1914 to 2000 This new framework shows how the major religious and secular functions of art have been forged sustained transformed revived and revolutionized over the ages how the institutions of Church and State have consistently aspired to make art in their own image and how the rise of art history itself has come to provide the dominant conceptual framework within which artists create patrons patronize collectors collect galleries exhibit dealers deal and art historians write The text has been written by a team of 50 specialist authors working under the direction of Professor Martin Kemp one of the UK's most distinguished art historians Whilst bringing their own expertise and vision to their sections each author was also asked to relate their text to a number of unifying themes and issues including written evidence physical contexts patronage viewing and reception techniques gender and racial issues centres and peripheries media and condition the notion of art and current presentations Though the coverage of topics focuses on European notions of art and their transplantation and transformation in North America space is also given to cross fertilizations with other traditions including the art of Latin America the Soviet Union India Africa and Afro Caribbean Australia and Canada Professor Kemp and his team similarly deal generously with the applied arts and reproductive media such as photography and prints The result is a vibrant vigorous and revolutionary account of Western art serving both as an inspirational introduction for the general reader and an authoritative

source of reference and guidance for students Bruegel to Rubens Desmond Shawe-Taylor, Jennifer Scott, 2007 Everyone is familiar with the Golden Age of Dutch art this is an opportunity to explore its no less glorious Flemish counterpart It is said that much of the greatest art is produced during periods of strife In the mid 16th century Flanders the United Provinces in the north modern Holland and the Spanish Netherlands in the south modern Belgium was the most sophisticated society in Europe but its learning and luxury industries were all but annihilated by the so called Dutch Revolt and by the Eighty Years War that followed 1568 1648 Two thirds of the works discussed here were painted during this turbulent period including Pieter Bruegel s Massacre of the Innocents of 1567 During the Renaissance the Low Countries attained a flawless technique of painting and the highest standards of craftsmanship This tradition survived during even the worst years of the war

From Rembrandt to Vermeer Bernd Wolfgang Lindemann, Fondazione Roma. Museo, 2008 From Rembrandt to Vermeer deals with the most outstanding works of the Golden Age of Flemish and Dutch art and offers a splendid selection of pictures belonging to the most important collection of seventeenth century Flemish and Dutch paintings in the world A Golden Age of Painting Sarah Campbell Blaffer Foundation, Samuel P. Harn Museum of Art, 1990 "The Feminine Dynamic in English Art, 1485-1603" Susan E. James, 2017-07-05 A significant contribution to the understanding of sixteenth century English art in an historical context this study by Susan James represents an intensive rethinking and restructuring of the Tudor art world based on a broad detailed survey of women s diverse creative roles within that world Through an extensive analysis of original documents James examines and clarifies many of the misperceptions upon which modern discussions of Tudor art are based The new evidence she lays out allows for a fresh investigation of the economics of art production particularly in the images of Elizabeth I of strategies for influencing political situations by carefully planned programs of portraiture of the seminal importance of extended clans of immigrant Flemish artists and of careers of artists Susanna Horenboul and Lievine Teerlinc and their impact on the development of the portrait miniature Drawn principally from primary sources this book presents important new research which examines the contributions of Tudor women in the formation distribution and popularization of the visual arts particularly portraiture and the portrait miniature James highlights the involvement of women as patrons consumers and creators of art in sixteenth century England and their use of the painted image as a statement of cultural worth She explores and analyzes the amount of time money effort and ingenuity which women across all social classes invested in the development of art in the uses they found for it and the surprising and unexpected ways in which they exploited it Seventeenth-Century Dutch and Flemish Painting Ivan Gaskell, Sammlung Thyssen-Bornemisza, 1990 A catalogue of 128 paintings produced during this period in which the art of portraiture was transformed religious imagery dynamized and new genres such as flower painting were established The art of Holland s Golden Age is perennially popular with collectors and gallery visitors alike and this book provides a new insight into this unique private collection In his introduction Ivan Gaskell considers the extremely varied character of Dutch and Flemish seventeenth century art It ranges from minutely observed scenes of everyday life to portraits religious works and intimate still life compositions The Thyssen Bornemisza Collection is especially rich in landscapes a subject which had emerged as a separate genre in the Netherlands in the previous century The author outlines the development of painting on both sides of the border placing it in its social and historical context and goes on to discuss the taste for Dutch and Flemish art from the seventeenth century to the present day and spotlights some of the earlier collectors This detailed catalogue of 128 paintings is the result of meticulous research in British Dutch and American libraries and archives The entries are arranged in ten groups by subject so that thematic similarities can be conveniently examined Amongst the most celebrated works is Frans Hals' monumental Family Portrait once the most expensive painting in the world All the paintings are illustrated in colour and are accompanied by comparative illustrations and technical photographs
