given for film and television performers Apocalypse and Golden Age Christopher Star,2021-12-07 How did the ancient Greeks and Romans envision the end of the world What is the long term future of the human race Will the world always remain as it is or will it undergo a catastrophic change What role do the gods human morality and the forces of nature play in bringing about the end of the world In Apocalypse and Golden Age Christopher Star reveals the answers that Greek and Roman authors gave to these questions The first large scale investigation of the various scenarios for the end of the world in classical texts this book demonstrates that key thinkers often viewed their world as shaped by catastrophe Star focuses on how this theme was explored over the centuries in the works of poets such as Hesiod Vergil Ovid and Lucan and by philosophers including the Presocratics Plato Epicurus Lucretius Cicero and Seneca With possibilities ranging from periodic terrestrial catastrophes to the total dissolution of the world these scenarios address the ultimate limits that define human life and institutions and place humanity in the long perspective of cosmic and natural history These texts also explore various options for the rebirth of society after world catastrophe such as a return of the Golden Age or the redevelopment of culture and political institutions Greek and Roman visions of the end Star argues are not calls to renounce this world and prepare for a future kingdom Rather they are set within larger investigations that examine and seek to improve personal and political life in the present Contextualizing classical thought about the apocalypse with biblical studies Star shows that the seeds of our contemporary anxieties about globalization politics and technology were sown during the Roman period Even the prevalent link between an earthly leader and the beginning of the end times can be traced back to Greek and Roman rulers the emperor Nero in particular Apocalypse and Golden Age enriches our understanding of apocalyptic thought Courtly Love Undressed E. Jane Burns,2002 Clothing was used in the Middle Ages to mark religious military and chivalric orders lepers and prostitutes The ostentatious display of luxury dress more specifically served as a means of self definition for members of the ruling elite and the courtly lovers among them In Courtly Love Undressed E Jane Burns unfolds the rich display of costly garments worn by amorous partners in literary texts and other cultural documents in the French High Middle Ages Burns reads through clothes in lyric romance and didactic literary works vernacular sermons and sumptuary laws to show how courtly attire is used to negotiate desire sexuality and symbolic space as well as social class Reading through clothes reveals that the expression of female desire so often effaced in courtly lyric and romance can be registered in the poetic deployment of fabric and adornment and that gender is often configured along a sartorial continuum rather than in terms of naturally derived categories of woman and man The symbolic identification of the court itself as a hybrid crossing place between Europe and the East also emerges through Burns s reading of literary allusions to the trade travel and pilgrimage that brought luxury cloth to France Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
