Women, Mothers, Subjects Maura Sheehy,2015-10-14 This collection drawn from twelve years of the influential journal

Studies in Gender and Sexuality offers a groundbreaking advance in thinking and theorizing about what happens to women when they become mothers. It explores how women are changed and shaped by interaction with their children and the cultural constructs about motherhood in which they are embedded. Distinguished psychoanalysts, philosophers, feminists, gender and cultural theorists explore the meeting place of cultural representations of motherhood, maternal theory, and mothers interacting in the clinical setting and with their children to illuminate how the process of becoming a mother creates and informs female subjectivity, identity, desire, expression, aggression, ambition, shame, envy, and relationships. Contributors find mothers to be complex subjects negotiating rich hybrid identities that explode received notions of maternal and even female subjectivity in their complexity. They create an exciting and very accessible new set of ideas and templates for thinking about mothers and women that will be of value to clinicians, academics, and mothers alike. This book was originally published as a special issue of Studies in Gender and Sexuality. Brain-Based Therapy with Children and Adolescents John B. Arden, Lloyd Linford, 2008-12-03 Designed for mental health professionals treating children and adolescents, Brain Based Therapy with Children and Adolescents: Evidence Based Treatment for Everyday Practice is a simple but powerful primer for understanding and successfully implementing the most critical elements of neuroscience into an evidence-based mental health practice. Written for counselors, social workers, psychologists, and graduate students, this new treatment approach focuses on the most common disorders facing children and adolescents, taking into account the uniqueness of each client while preserving the requirements of standardized care under evidence-based practice. Women Education Scholars and their Children's Schooling Kimberly Scott, Allison Henward, 2016-05-12 This volume offers both theoretical and research-based accounts from mothers in academia who must balance their own intricate knowledge of school systems, curriculum, and pedagogy with their children's education and school lives. It explores the contextual advantages and disadvantages of knowing too much and how this impacts children's actions, scholastics, and developing consciousness along various lines. Additionally, it allows teachers, administrators, and researchers to critically examine their own discourses and those of their students to better navigate their professional and domestic roles. Gathering narratives from academic women in traditional and nontraditional maternal roles, this volume presents both contemporary and retrospective experiences of what it's like to raise children amidst educational and sociocultural change. Special Care Babies and their Developing Relationships Dr Anne McFadyen, 2019-10-25 Special care babies are at the centre of a complex system of relationships involving both family members and professionals. Prematurity, disability, and life-threatening situations create a crisis which is likely to have a different meaning for each participant. Each baby's developing relationships will both influence and be influenced by relationships within the hospital and the family system. Special Care Babies and their Developing Relationships puts professionals in touch with how babies, their parents, and the staff who care for them actually experience neonatal care. The book explores institutional, cultural, and family beliefs about prematurity and considers the differences in beliefs and in needs of parents and staff Anne McFadyen argues that to support the key mother child relationship these differences must be acknowledged as they are at the heart of the relationship between two crucial systems which have the power to influence the baby's survival and the rest of his or her life
