Good And Useful Life:

Practical Guide to the Assessment of the Useful Life of Plastics R. Brown, John H. Greenwood, 2002 After price and delivery time the most frequently asked question about a product is How long will it last Lifetime expectancy is often many years the service conditions may be complex and there is a scarcity of definitive data on durability The situation is complicated by the fact that there are a vast number of degradation agents service conditions properties of importance and different plastics There are many inherent difficulties in designing durability tests In many cases the time scale involved is such that accelerated test conditions are essential Whilst large amounts of durability data are generated by accelerated methods much of it is only useful for quality control purposes and relatively little has been validated as being realistically capable of representing service Most assessments of the lifetime of plastics are made by considering some measure of performance such as impact strength and specifying some lower limit for the property which is taken as the end point Lifetime is not necessarily measured in time For example for some products it will be thought of as the number of cycles of use The object of this publication is to provide practical guidance on assessing the useful service life of plastics It describes test procedures and extrapolation techniques together with the inherent limitations and problems The Guide aims to make available the wealth of information that can be applied to help maximise the effectiveness of a durability testing programme This guide seeks to be comprehensive but concentrates on the most common environmental effects causing degradation The test procedures used are outlined and the relevant textbooks and international standards are well referenced Examples of lifetime testing studies are cited The Practical Guide will be useful for anyone responsible for designing manufacturing or testing plastic components It will also be of benefit to suppliers and users of end products as assessment of useful lifetime is critical to the economics and safety aspects of any component Key features Test methods outlined Accelerated testing discussed Prediction methods described Standards cited Key sources of information listed Federal Register ,1991 well being and the courage to complete this seven chapter book And it has also fulfilled my long time desire which is always to share my opinion with different people in different communities However human beings are not complete creatures neither perfect I am not an exception You might disagree with some of my opinions which is very much understandable because no two people will always agree on the same thing all the time However I recommend you and every single reader of this and other books to carefully read every single subject topic very well before making any conclusion to agree or disagree Majority of topics and subjects in this book are based on own personal experience and research And no part of this book is a copy from any other text However I get some of my evidence and reference from the holy Quran and the tradition of Prophet Muhammad You might read a book with an open mind but the real life events that took place and I highlighted some of them are always better to act on something you learn before it could happen to you or you might experience it before and you dont want it to happen to you again I recommend for every reader to follow the best examples which I highlighted majority of which will surely help you Finally if I said something that offended you that is not my intention my real and true intention is to help people in different level of society in regards to issues facing them And sometimes it is almost impossible to make your point without using a reference and example that might sound offensive to someone however that is not the intention of most authors to offend the readers I wish may God Allah make it easy for us to accept the truth and follow the right part to him May Allah keep peace and his blessing hand on the soul of my mother and father who passed away with the rest of Islamic community who passed away too May Allah increase his peace and tranquillity on the legacy of Prophet Muhammad his followers and the rest of Islamic community and individuals I end with the name of Allah the most gracious the most merciful Representative Men of Connecticut, 1861-1894 William F.
