Good Day Care Fighting For It Getting It Keeping It:

Driven Apart Annis May Timpson, 2001 From the outset of second wave feminism in Canada women have advanced analyses of employment inequality that embrace their labour in both the public and domestic spheres Through campaigns task forces and direct engagement with government departments activists have argued that only when the Canadian state takes account of their roles as care providers can women s full potential as worker citizens be realized Early Childhood Care and Education in Canada Larry Prochner, 2011-11-01 Larry Prochner and Nina Howe reflect the variation within the field by bringing together a multidisciplinary group of experts to address key issues in the field What programs are currently available and what are their origins How are adults prepared for work in these programs How do children within the programs spend their day What policies guide the programs How has the field reflected on itself through research There are no simple answers but the essays in this collection contribute to a creative reframing of the questions The authors include psychologists sociologists historians teacher educators and social policy analysts Child Care in Context Michael E. Lamb, Kathleen J. Sternberg, Carl-Philip Hwang, Anders G. Broberg, 2014-01-02 Child care is an integral part of the web of influences and experiences that shape children s development Utilizing an interdisciplinary approach that covers both historic and economic contexts this unique book characterizes child care in 18 countries on five continents Specific historical roots and the current social contexts of child care are delineated in industrialized as well as in developing countries To increase the depth of crosscultural analysis and integration commentators from countries and disciplines other than the authors comment on the issues raised in each chapter Working Mothers and the Child Care Dilemma Lisa Pasolli, 2015-05-15 During the twentieth century child care policy in British Columbia matured in the shadow of a political uneasiness with working motherhood Working Mothers and the Child Care Dilemma examines how ideas about motherhood paid work and social welfare influenced universal child care discussions and consistently pushed access to child care to the margins of BC s social policy agenda Charting the growth of the child care movement in this province Lisa Pasolli examines the arrival of Vancouver s first cr che in 1912 the teetering steps forward during the debates of the interwar years the development of provincial child care policy the rebellious advancements of second wave feminists in the 1960s and 1970s and the maturation of provincial and national child care politics since the mid 70s In addition to revealing much about historical attitudes toward women s roles Working Mothers and the Child Care Dilemma celebrates the efforts of mothers and advocates who for decades have lobbied for child care as a central part of women s rights as workers parents and citizens Social Policy and Practice in Canada Alvin Finkel, 2012-05-09 Social Policy and Practice in Canada A History traces the history of social policy in Canada from the period of First Nations control to the present day exploring the various ways in which residents of the area known today as Canada have organized themselves to deal with or to ignore the needs of the ill the poor the elderly and the young This book is the first synthesis on social policy in Canada to provide a critical perspective on the evolution of social policy in the country While earlier work has treated each new social program as a major advance and reacted with shock to neoliberalism's attack on social programs Alvin Finkel demonstrates that right wing and left wing forces have always battled to shape social policy in Canada He argues that the notion of a welfare state consensus in the period after 1945 is misleading and that the social programs developed before the neoliberal counteroffensive were far less radical than they are sometimes depicted Social Policy and Practice in Canada A History begins by exploring the non state mechanisms employed by First Nations to insure the well being of their members It then deals with the role of the Church in New France and of voluntary organizations in British North America in helping the unfortunate After examining why voluntary organizations gradually gave way to state controlled programs the book assesses the evolution of social policy in Canada in a variety of areas including health care treatment of the elderly child care housing and poverty

The Politics of Australian Child Care Deborah Brennan,1998-04-06 This revised edition is a political history of child care in Australia from the 1890s to the late 1990s More Than a Labour of Love Meg Luxton,1980 Originally published in 1980 this new edition of More Than a Labour of Love is the first of our Women's Press Classics series which celebrates our most enduring titles Based on participant observation and in depth interviews this book describes the work women do in their homes caring for children and partners and maintaining the house It shows how their lives are shaped by domestic responsibilities and challenges the ways in which their work is neither recognized nor valued Arguing that the work they do is socially necessary and central to the economy it calls for a transformation of current social and economic relations Changing Women, Changing History Diana Pederson,1996-10-15 Changing Women Changing History is a bibliographic guide to the scholarship both English and French on Canadian's women's history Organized under broad subject headings and accompanied by author and subject indices it is accessible and comprehensive Social Worker,1980

Ministry of Labour. Library,1978 Towards a National Child Care Policy Deborah Brennan,1983 This background paper was commissioned to survey the condition of child care in Australia The first three sections give statistical data on the current patterns of care arrangements and the factors contributing to a demand for expanded and more flexible child care services i e family composition income and work arrangements The next section summarizes the changing role of the Australian federal government since the Child Care Act of 1972 and the variations in state and local government commitment The last two sections discuss the pros and cons of some important policy questions i e who shall receive government supported day care how federal funds should be allocated to local agencies what proportion of the cost of child care should be borne by parents and by government what role should be played by commercial daycares and work related children s centers and how the wages and conditions of child care workers can be improved The report closes with nine recommendations for resolving some of these issues The Australian Labor Party policy on child care excerpted from the 1982 platform is appended CB     The Family Dynamic Margaret Ward,2001     Jet ,2000-07-03 The weekly source of African American political and entertainment news     Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Joint Economic Committee United States.
