Mental Maladies; a Treatise on Insanity Etienne Esquirol, 1845      Folk Illusions K. Brandon Barker, Claiborne Rice, 2019-04-22 A well researched and well written book linking traditional folklore studies to current scientific research and to thinking about human behavior American Journal of Play Wiggling a pencil so that it looks like it is made of rubber stealing your niece s nose and listening for the sounds of the ocean in a conch shell these are examples of folk illusions youthful play forms that trade on perceptual oddities In this groundbreaking study K Brandon Barker and Claiborne Rice argue that these easily overlooked instances of children's folklore offer an important avenue for studying perception and cognition in the contexts of social and embodied development. Folk illusions are traditionalized verbal and/or physical actions that are performed with the intention of creating a phantasm for one or more participants. Using a cross-disciplinary approach that combines the ethnographic methods of folklore with the empirical data of neuroscience, cognitive science, and psychology, Barker and Rice catalogue over eighty discrete folk illusions while exploring the complexities of embodied perception. Taken together as a genre of folklore, folk illusions show that people starting from a young age possess an awareness of the illusory tendencies of perceptual processes as well as an awareness that the distinctions between illusion and reality are always communally formed. With clear focal points, sound and carefully explained methodology, and thought-provoking substantial analysis, this book makes an excellent contribution to children's folklore and related fields.

The Way of the Bodhisattva Shantideva, 2008-10-14

Treasured by Buddhists of all traditions, The Way of the Bodhisattva (Bodhicharyavatara) is a guide to cultivating the mind of enlightenment and to generating the qualities of love, compassion, generosity, and patience. This text has been studied, practiced, and expounded upon in an unbroken tradition for centuries. Presented in the form of a personal meditation in verse, it outlines the path of the Bodhisattvas: those who renounce the peace of individual enlightenment and vow to work for the liberation of all beings and to attain buddhahood for their sake. This version is translated from the Tibetan and includes a foreword by His Holiness the Dalai Lama, a translator's preface, a thorough introduction, a note on the translation, and three appendices of commentary by the Nyingma master Kunzang Pelden.

The Reality of Illusion Joseph Anderson, 1996 Applying research findings from studies in visual perception neurophysiology cognitive psychology developmental psychology and anthropology Joseph D Anderson defines the complex interaction of motion pictures with the human mind and organizes the relationship between film and cognitive science Anderson's primary argument is that motion picture viewers mentally process the projected images and sounds of a movie according to the same perceptual rules used in response to visual and aural stimuli in the world outside the theater To process everyday events in the world the human mind is equipped with capacities developed through millions of years of evolution In this context Anderson builds a metatheory influenced by the writings of J J and Eleanor Gibson and employs it to explore motion picture comprehension as a subset of general human comprehension and perception focusing his ecological approach to film on the analysis of cinema's true substance illusion Anderson investigates how viewers with their mental capacities designed for survival respond to particular aspects of filmic structure continuity diegesis character development and narrative and examines the ways in which rules of visual and aural processing are recognized and exploited by filmmakers He uses Orson Welles's Citizen Kane to disassemble and redefine the contemporary concept of character identification he addresses continuity in a shot by shot analysis of images from Casablanca and he uses a wide range of research studies such as Harry F Harlow's work with infant rhesus monkeys to describe how motion pictures become a substitute or surrogate reality for an audience By examining the human capacity for play and the inherent potential for illusion Anderson considers the reasons viewers find movies so enthralling so emotionally powerful and so remarkably real
