Swansea and Nantgarw Porcelains Howell G.M. Edwards,2017-03-27 This book describes a holistic study of the porcelain manufactured at Nantgarw and Swansea in the first quarter of the 19th Century using both scientific analytical data and historical provenancing This porcelain is acclaimed as some of the finest and most translucent porcelain ever produced These two porcelain factories are linked through the artistic and creative activities of the enigmatic William Billingsley and had a strictly limited production over only three or four years during the period 1812 1820 The earliest chemical analysis of these porcelains were undertaken almost 100 years ago and are compared with the results of more recent analyses The chemical composition of these porcelains their artistic decoration and the struggle to maintain quality production is reviewed Scientific explanations are proposed for the characteristic Swansea duck egg porcelain translucency and for the Nantgarw iridescence The book is well illustrated throughout and affords a good basis for the further in depth study of Swansea and Nantgarw porcelains Nantgarw and Swansea Porcelains Howell G.M. Edwards,2018-04-30 This book gives a detailed account of the holistic research carried out on the analytical data obtained historically on the products of the Nantgarw and Swansea porcelain manufactories which existed for a few years only during the second decade of the 19th Century A background to the establishment of the two factories which are linked through the persons of the enigmatic William Billingsley and his kiln manager Samuel Walker involves the sourcing of their raw materials and problems associated with the manufacture and distribution of the finished products A description of the minerals and additives used in porcelain production is recounted to set the scene for the critical evaluation of the comprehensive analytical data which have been published on Nantgarw and Swansea porcelains For the first time the author has adopted a nondestructive technique Raman spectroscopy to interrogate perfect samples of Nantgarw and Swansea porcelain as well as a selection of shards from an archaeological excavation carried out at a waste dump at the Nantgarw China Works site Following these experiments several questions relating to the porcelain bodies of Swansea and Nantgarw china can be answered and a protocol established for the preliminary evaluation of items of suspect attribution to confirm or not the correctness of their assignment to these Welsh porcelain factories      Porcelain Analysis and Its Role in the Forensic Attribution of Ceramic Specimens Howell G. M. Edwards, 2021-11-09 The material for this book arose from the author's research into porcelains over many years as a collector in appreciation of their artistic beauty as an analytical chemist in the scientific interrogation of their body paste enamel pigments and glaze compositions and as a ceramic historian in the assessment of their manufactory foundations and their correlation with available documentation relating to their recipes and formulations A discussion of the role of analysis in the framework of a holistic assessment of artworks and specifically the composition of porcelain namely hard paste soft paste phosphatic bone china and magnesian is followed by its growth from its beginnings in China to its importation into Europe in the 16th Century A survey of European porcelain manufactories in the 17th and 18th Centuries is followed by a description of the raw materials minerals and recipes for porcelain manufacture and details of the chemistry of the high temperature firing processes involved therein The historical backgrounds to several important European factories are considered highlighting the imperfections in the written record that have been perpetuated through the ages The analytical chemical information derived from the interrogation of specimens from fragments shards or perfect finished items is reviewed and operational protocols established for the identification of a factory output from the data presented Several case studies are examined in detail across several porcelain manufactories to indicate the role adopted by modern analytical science with information provided at the quantitative elemental oxide and qualitative molecular spectroscopic levels where applicable The attribution of a specimen to a particular factory is either supported thereby or in some cases a potential reassessment of an earlier attribution is indicated Overall the information provided by analytical chemical data is seen to be extremely useful for porcelain identification and for its potential attribution in the context of a holistic forensic evaluation of hitherto unknown porcelain exemplars of questionable factory origins      The Pendock Barry Porcelain Service Rachel L. Denyer, Morgan C. T. Denyer, Howell G. M. Edwards, 2023-04-05 Heraldic devices first appeared on ceramics in Western Europe from the sixteenth century onwards however it was not until the 1760s that British ceramic manufactories began executing commissions for services displaying heraldic devices for the gentry This book explores the rise of the new gentry class and the market for armorial services through the case study of the Pendock Barry service The case study is presented from three angles It looks at Pendock Neale Barry 1757 1833 who commissioned the service then considers the evidence for attributing the service to the Derby factory during the period 1805 1810 and finally looks at the evidence supporting an attribution of the decoration to Billingsley The case study sets out a novel approach to understanding heraldic devices on ceramics by bringing together the disciplines of detailed genealogical research cultural knowledge and chemical analytical compositional data This multidisciplinary approach enables the armorial services to be considered and understood through the lens of heritage culture and science      The Farnley Hall Service: A Unique Survivor in Nantgarw Porcelain Howell G. M. Edwards, 2023-02-22 This book covers the discovery and the results of the analytical study of the composition of the Farnley Hall service involving both the embossed moulding and the decorative compositions The discovery of this missing porcelain service which was manufactured 200 years ago is a modern detective story in the preservation of cultural heritage whilst its physical analysis has identified some new data that need to be incorporated into correcting and expanding the literature that is used for the differentiation of porcelains by ceramic historians and museum conservators The importance of the Farnley Hall service discovery is that it provides the only example of such a Nantgarw Porcelain service that still resides in its original place of usage from 200 years ago it is therefore a unique example and is a very important part of our national cultural heritage It provides an illustration of the data that can be accessed from the application of inductive reasoning to elicit novel information about a manufactory whose work books no longer exist and its comparison with contemporary manufactories in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries The concepts can be appreciated by experts and also by non technical readers This is the first time that such a detailed research approach has been adopted for any comparative ceramic project The book is therefore relevant for a specialist and non specialist readership including museum ceramics curators and collectors of the genre      Art Market Research Tom

McNulty,2013-12-27 This book is for art market researchers at all levels A brief overview of the global art market and its major stakeholders precedes an analysis of the various sales venues auction commercial gallery etc Library research skills are reviewed and advanced methods are explored in a chapter devoted to basic market research Because the monetary value of artwork cannot be established without reference to the aesthetic qualities and art historical significance of our subject works two substantial chapters detail the processes involved in researching and documenting the fine and decorative arts respectively and provide annotated bibliographies Methods for assigning values for art objects are explored and sources of price data both in print and online are identified and described in detail In recent years art historical scholarship increasingly has addressed issues related to the history of art and its markets a chapter on resources for the historian of the art market offers a wide range of sources Finally provenance and art law are discussed with particular reference to their relevance to dealers collectors artists and other art market stakeholders      Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1976-11 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin s iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world      The Mauritian Paradox Ramtohul, Ramola,Eriksen, Thomas Hylland,2018-04-12 Speaking of Mauritius as an economic miracle has become a cliché and with good reason Its development since Independence in 1968 can easily be narrated as a rags to riches story In addition it is a stable democracy capable of containing the conflict potential inherent in its complex ethnic and religious demography This book brings together some of the finest scholarship domestic as well as foreign on contemporary Mauritius offering perspectives from constitutional law cultural studies sociology archaeology economics social anthropology and more While celebrating the indisputable and impressive achievements of the Mauritian nation on its fiftieth birthday this book is far from toothless Looking back inevitably implies looking ahead and in order to do so critical self scrutiny is essential to be able to learn from the mistakes of the past The contributors raise fundamental questions concerning a broad range of issues from the dilemmas of multiculturalism to the marginal role of women in public life from the question of constitutional reform and the continued problem of corruption to the slow destruction of Mauritius joy and pride namely the beauty and purity of its natural scenery Taking stock of the first fifty years this book also looks ahead to the next fifty years giving some cues as to where Mauritius can and should aim in the next decades The Spectator, 1903 A weekly review of politics literature theology and art The Shape of Wine Henry H. Work, 2018-07-18 Grape wine has been produced for at least 4 000 years having been aged stored and transported in every conceivable type of vessel Its seductiveness has been enhanced by this packaging primarily three strikingly different containers amphorae wooden barrels and glass bottles Henry H Work brings extensive wine experience as a cooper working with wine barrels and living in California s Napa Valley to provide a richly detailed and vivid account of wine containers through the ages This book delves into the history evolution and present use of containers vessels and stoppers from animal skin sacks to barrels from glass bottles to upstart packaging such as wine casks and even aluminium cans It considers the advantages and weaknesses of their construction designs and labels methods of shipment and storage as well as their impact on marketing wine to customers This is an enlightening and innovative read which draws on the most current archaeological research scientific data and wine business trends It is richly peppered throughout with the author s own visits to many of the locations explored in the book bringing history to life This book will appeal to individuals within the wine industry undergraduates in the fields of history archaeology food and hospitality as well as all people interested in wine Welsh Armorial Porcelain Howell G. M. Edwards, 2022-05-05 Armorial porcelains comprised the output of most European ceramics factories in the 18th and 19th Centuries in response to the large quantity of armorial porcelain services that were being imported from China bearing the coats of arms and crests of aristocratic families Whereas these armorial services have been identified and covered for most porcelain manufactories the information relevant to their production by the two relatively short lived Nantgarw and Swansea China Works has not been addressed as a theme until now As an integral component of the holistic forensic appraisal of porcelain a functional and decorative artwork manifestly part of our cultural heritage and its ongoing preservation the recording and identification of such artefacts is material for the future establishment of a database of factory production The Nantgarw and Swansea factories only operated for a limited period in the second decade of the 19th Century and their porcelains were much appreciated for their high quality and desirability by Georgian households Today examples are to be found in many museums and ceramics collections and continue to excite the interest of specialists and the general public This text provides the first comprehensive assessment of armorial porcelains from these two factories and the methodology and procedure for the identification of unknown armorial bearings and crests is illustrated individual bearings are discussed in detail and existing incorrect assignments in the literature are re appraised The difficulties in attribution of armorial heraldic achievements that are only minimally depicted are considered and directions for further studies using historical documentation are invoked This book therefore fills a currently existing gap in the ceramics literature of the 19th Century      Dictionary of Women Artists: Introductory surveys ; Artists, A-I Delia Gaze, 1997 First Published in 1997 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company
