Image Scavengers Painting:

Image scavengers Janet Kardon, 1982      Art History, After Sherrie Levine Howard Singerman, Sherrie Levine, 2012 For this in depth examination of artist Sherrie Levine Howard Singerman surveys a broad range of sources to assess an artist whose work was understood from the outset to oppose the values of the art world in the 1980s but who by the end of the decade was exhibiting in some of the most successful commercial galleries in New York      The Pictures Generation, 1974-1984 Douglas Eklund, 2009 Image art after Conceptualism CalArts Hallwalls and Artists Space The jump appropriation and its discontents His gesture moved us to tears pictures art in a reinvigorated market      Image Scavengers University of Pennsylvania. Institute of Contemporary Art, 1982      Appropriation David Evans, 2009 Many influential artists today draw on a legacy of stealing images and forms from other makers The term appropriation is particularly associated with the Pictures generation centred sic on New York in the 1980s this anthology provides a far wider context Historically it reappraises a diverse lineage of precedents from the Dadaist readymade to Situationist d tournament while contemporary art after appropriation is considered from multiple perspectives within a global context back cover      The Photo Review Stephen Perloff, 2001      Art Of The Postmodern Era Irving Sandler, 2018-05-30 Sandler discusses the major and minor artists and their works movements ideas attitudes and styles and the social and cultural context of the period He covers post modernist art theory the art market and consumer society American and European art and artists are included      How Photography Became Contemporary Art Andy Grundberg, 2021-02-23 A leading critic s inside story of the photo boom during the crucial decades of the 1970s and 80s When Andy Grundberg landed in New York in the early 1970s as a budding writer photography was at the margins of the contemporary art world By 1991 when he left his post as critic for the New York Times photography was at the vital center of artistic debate Grundberg writes eloquently and authoritatively about photography s boom years chronicling the medium s increasing role within the most important art movements of the time from Earth Art and Conceptual Art to performance and video He also traces photography s embrace by museums and galleries as well as its politicization in the culture wars of the 80s and 90s Grundberg reflects on the landmark exhibitions that defined the moment and his encounters with the work of leading photographers many of whom he knew personally including Gordon Matta Clark Cindy Sherman and Robert Mapplethorpe He navigates crucial themes such as photography s relationship to theory as well as feminism and artists of color Part memoir and part history this perspective by one of the period s leading critics ultimately tells a larger story about the crucial decades of the 70s and 80s through the medium of photography      Unpackaging Art of the 1980s Alison Pearlman, 2003-06-15 American art of the 1980s is as misunderstood as it is notorious Critics of the time feared that market hype and self promotion threatened the integrity of art They lashed out at contemporary art questioning the validity of particular media and methods and dividing the art into opposing camps While controversies have since subsided critics still view art of the 1980s as a stylistic battlefield Alison

Pearlman rejects this picture which is truer of the period's criticism than of its art. Pearlman reassesses the works and careers of six artists who became critics' biggest targets. In each of three chapters she pairs two artists the critics viewed as emblematic of a given trend: Julian Schnabel and David Salle in association with Neo Expressionism; Jean Michel Basquiat and Keith Haring vis à vis Graffiti Art; and Peter Halley and Jeff Koons in relation to Simulationism. Pearlman shows how all these artists shared important but unrecognized influences and approaches a crucial and overwhelming inheritance of 1960s and 1970s Conceptualism, a Warholian understanding of public identity and a deliberate and nuanced use of past styles and media. Through in-depth discussions of works from Haring's body paintings of Grace Jones to Schnabel's movie, Basquiat, Pearlman demonstrates how these artists' interests exemplified a broader generational shift unrecognized by critics. She sees this shift as starting not in the 1980s but in the mid 1970s when key developments in artistic style, art world structures and consumer culture converged to radically alter the course of American art. Unpackaging Art of the 1980s offers an innovative approach to one of the most significant yet least understood episodes in twentieth century art. American Photo, 2005-05

Universal Abandon? Andrew Ross, 1988. Universal Abandon was first published in 1989. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions. In recent years the debate about postmodernism has become a full-blown global discussion about the nature and future of society; it has challenged and redefined the cultural and sexual politics of the last two decades and is increasingly shaping tomorrow's agenda. Postmodernist culture is a medium in which we all live, no matter how unevenly its effects are felt across the jagged spectrum of color, gender, class, sexual orientation, region and nationality. But it is also a culture that proclaims its abandonment of the universalist foundations of Enlightenment thought in the West. At a time when interests can no longer be universalized, the question arises: Whose interests are served by this universal abandon? Universal Abandon is the first volume in a new series entitled Cultural Politics edited by the Social Text collective. This collection tackles a wider range of cultural and political issues than are usually addressed in the debates about postmodernism: color, ethnicity and neocolonialism, feminism and sexual difference, popular culture and the question of everyday life as well as some political and philosophical matters that have long been central to the Western tradition. Together the contributors provide no consensus about the politics of postmodernism; they insist rather that universal abandon remain a question and not an answer. The contributors: Anders Stephanson, Chantal Mouffe, Stanley Aronowitz, Ernesto Laclau, Nancy Fraser, Linda Nicholson, Meaghan Morris, Paul Smith, Laura Kipnis, Lawrence Grossberg, Abigail Solomon Godeau, George Yudice, Jacqueline Rose and Hal Foster. Andrew Ross teaches English at Princeton University and is the author of The Failure of Modernism. Arts Digest, 1988. Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Photography, 3-Volume Set Lynne Warren, 2005-11-15. The Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Photography explores the vast international scope of twentieth century photography and explains that history with a wide-ranging interdisciplinary manner. This unique approach covers the aesthetic history of photography as an evolving art and documentary form while also recognizing it as a developing technology and cultural force This Encyclopedia presents the important developments movements photographers photographic institutions and theoretical aspects of the field along with information about equipment techniques and practical applications of photography To bring this history alive for the reader the set is illustrated in black and white throughout and each volume contains a color plate section A useful glossary of terms is also included

Machine in the Studio Caroline A. Jones, 1996 Drawing on extensive interviews with artists and their assistants as well as close readings of artworks Jones explains that much of the major work of the 1960s was compelling precisely because it was mainstream central to the visual and economic culture of its time

Contemporary Art and Multicultural Education Susan Cahan, Zoya Kocur, 1996 Contemporary art and multicultural education is the first book of its kind to address the role of art within today's multicultural education Co published with the New Museum of Contemporary Art this beautifully illustrated book provides both theoretical foundations and practical resources for art educators and students combining exquisite color reproductions statements from contemporary artists and interviews with notable educators Absent from multicultural art education is an approach which connects everyday experience social critique and creative expression with classroom learning for students from widely varied backgrounds and differing levels of English comprehension art becomes a vital means of reflecting upon the nature of society and social existence To this end this volume features both works of art and artists personal statements in English and Spanish with lesson plans which explore topics that connect what students learn in school to what life experiences might reveal

American Photography Miles Orvell, 2003 150 years of American photography come alive in this exciting new book placing it in its cultural context for the first time Orvell examines this fascinating subject through a wide range of well known and less well known images He ranges from portraiture and landscape photography family albums and memory and analyses the particularly American way in which American photographers have viewed the world around them Orvell combines a clear overview of the changing nature of photographic thinking and practice in this period with an exploration of key concepts The result is the first coherent history of American photography which examines issues such as the nature of photographic exploitation experimental techniques the power of the photograph to shock and whether we should subscribe to the notion of a visual history

The Scavengers' Manifesto Anneli Rufus, Kristan Lawson, 2009-03-19 Destined to become the bible for a bold new subculture of eco minded people who are creating a lifestyle out of recycling reusing and repurposing rather than buying new An exciting new movement is afoot that brings together environmentalists anticonsumerists do it yourselfers bargain hunters and treasure seekers of all stripes You can see it in the enormous popularity of many websites millions of Americans are breaking free from the want get discard cycle by which we are currently producing approximately 245 million tons of waste every day that's 4 5 pounds per person per day In The Scavengers Manifesto Anneli Rufus and Kristan Lawson invite readers to discover one of the most gratifying and inexpensive ways there is to go green Whether it s refurbishing a discarded wooden door into a dining room table finding a bicycle on freecycle org or giving a neighbor who just had a baby that cute never used teddy bear your child didn t bond with in this book Rufus and Lawson chart the history of scavenging and the world changing environmental and spiritual implications of Scavenomics and offer readers a framework for adopting scavenging as a philosophy and a way of life

Beyond Recognition Craig Owens,1992 On the arts and postmodernism Images and Impressions ,1984 The Expanding Discourse Norma Broude,2018-02-23 A sequel to the pioneering volume Feminism and Art History Questioning the Litany published in 1982 The Expanding Discourse contains 29 essays on artists and issues from the Renaissance to the present representing some of the best feminist art historical writing of the past decade Chronologically arranged the essays demonstrate the abundance diversity and main conceptual trends in recent feminist scholarship
