The Algerian War in French-Language Comics Jennifer

Howell, 2015-10-08 The decolonization of Algeria represents a turning point in world history marking the end of France's colonial empire the birth of the Algerian republic and the appearance of the Third World and pan Arabism Algeria emerged from colonial domination to negotiate the release of American hostages in Iran during the Carter administration Radical Islam would later rise from the ashes of Algeria's failed democracy leading to a civil war and the training of Algerian terrorists in Afghanistan Moreover the decolonization of Algeria offered an imperfect model of decolonization to other nations like South Africa that succeeded in abolishing apartheid while retaining its white settler population Algeria and its war of national liberation therefore constitute an inescapable reference for those looking to understand today's war on terror and ever expanding islamophobia in Western media circuits Consequently it is imperative that students and educators understand the global implications of the Algerian War and how to best approach this conflict in school and at home so as to learn from the consequences of misrepresentation at all levels of the memory transmission chain These objectives are all the more important today given the West's misunderstanding and mischaracterization of Islam the Arab Spring the Muslim majority world and most importantly the continuing influence of French colonialism especially in the postcolonial era Conceived as a case study The Algerian War in French Language Comics Postcolonial Memory History and Subjectivity argues that comics provide an alternative to textbook representations of the Algerian War in France because they draw from many of the same source materials yet produce narratives that are significantly different This book demonstrates that although comics rely on conventional vectors of memory transmission like national education the family and mainstream media they can also create new and productive dialogues using these same vectors in ways unavailable to traditional textbooks From this perspective these comics are an effective and alternative way to develop a more inclusive social consciousness

The Neuro-Image Patricia Pisters, 2012-07-11 Arguing that today's viewers move through a character's brain instead of looking through his or her eyes or mental landscape this book approaches twenty first century globalized cinema through the concept of the neuro image Pisters explains why this concept has emerged now and she elaborates its threefold nature through research from three domains Deleuzian schizoanalytic philosophy digital networked screen culture and neuroscientific research These domains return in the book's tripartite structure Part One on the brain as neuroscreen suggests rich connections between film theory mental illness and cognitive neuroscience Part Two explores neuro images from a philosophical perspective paying close attention to their ontological epistemological and aesthetic dimensions Political and ethical aspects of the neuro image are discussed in Part Three Topics covered along the way include the omnipresence of surveillance the blurring of the false and the real and the affective powers of the neo baroque and the use of neuro images in politics historical memory and war

presentation of the physical and political geography of Algeria Cinema and the Algerian War of Independence

Ahmed Bedjaoui, 2020-03-25 The book examines the war of images between France and Algeria Discussing the role of the United States during the war it covers topics such the presence of American reporters in Algeria John F Kennedy s support for Algerian independence while a senator the broadcasting of documentaries on the Algerian war on public television and reporting in the press Even half a century after Algerian independence there remains a need for both film and literature on the war from both sides of the Mediterranean This might seem surprising particularly to media professionals given the quantity of output on the subject but both French and Algerian portrayals of the war remain flawed and shackled to their respective ideologies The generation of FLN leaders recognized early on the importance of images and established a clandestine film structure that would bring the Algerian cause to the world stage The book offers an insightful and timely contribution not just to the field of North African studies but also to other disciplines such as film and media studies anthropology history journalism and political science Providing a rich source of research topics and viable ideas for film and documentary projects it is a must read for students scholars and media professionals alike Image Warfare in the War on Terror N. Roger, 2013-01-11 Roger examines how developments in new media technologies such as the internet blogs camera video phones have fundamentally altered the way in which governments militaries terrorists NGOs and citizens engage with images He argues that there has been a paradigm shift from techno war to image warfare which emerged on 9 11

Picturing the Maghreb Mary B. Vogl, 2003 Picturing the Maghreb critiques photographic and verbal representations with a focus on four of the most prominent French language writers of recent years Michel Tournier J M G Le Clézio Tahar Ben Jelloun and Leïla Sebbar Their activist writing reframes a picture of Maghreb produced by two centuries of Orientalist misrepresentation The book explores photography as a metaphor for other sorts of representation and examines the cultural impact of actual photographs

The Image before the Weapon Helen M. Kinsella, 2011-05-02 Since at least the Middle Ages the laws of war have distinguished between combatants and civilians under an injunction now formally known as the principle of distinction The principle of distinction is invoked in contemporary conflicts as if there were an unmistakable and sure distinction to be made between combatant and civilian As is so brutally evident in armed conflicts it is precisely the distinction between civilian and combatant upon which the protection of civilians is founded cannot be taken as self evident or stable Helen M Kinsella documents that the history of international humanitarian law itself admits the difficulty of such a distinction In The Image before the Weapon Kinsella explores the evolution of the concept of the civilian and how it has been applied in warfare A series of discourses including gender innocence and civilization have shaped the legal military and historical understandings of the civilian and she documents how these discourses converge at particular junctures to demarcate the difference between civilian and combatant Engaging with works on the law of war from the earliest thinkers in the Western tradition including St Thomas Aquinas and Christine de Pisan to contemporary figures such as James Turner

Johnson and Michael Walzer Kinsella identifies the foundational ambiguities and inconsistencies in the principle of distinction as well as the significant role played by Christian concepts of mercy and charity. She then turns to the definition and treatment of civilians in specific armed conflicts: the American Civil War and the U.S. Indian wars of the nineteenth century and the civil wars of Guatemala and El Salvador in the 1980s. Finally, she analyzes the two modern treaties most influential for the principle of distinction: the 1949 IV Geneva Convention Relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Times of War and the 1977 Protocols Additional to the 1949 Conventions, which for the first time formally defined the civilian within international law. She shows how the experiences of the two world wars but particularly World War II and the Algerian war of independence affected these subsequent codifications of the laws of war. As recognition grows that compliance with the principle of distinction to limit violence against civilians depends on a firmer grasp of its legal, political, and historical evolution, The Image before the Weapon is a timely intervention in debates about how best to protect civilian populations.

Photo-texts Andy Stafford, 2010-01-01. What do photographs want? Do they need any accompaniment in today's image-saturated society? Can writing inflect photography or vice versa in such a way that neither medium takes precedence? Or are they in constant, inexorable battle with each other? Taking nine case studies from the 1990s French-speaking world from France, North Africa, and the Caribbean, this book attempts to define the interaction between non-fictional written text, caption, essay, fragment, poem, and photographic image. Having considered three categories of intermediality between text and photography—the collaborative, the self-collaborative, and the retrospective—the book concludes that the dimensions of their interaction are not simple and two-fold (visuality versus textuality) but threefold and therefore complex. Thus, the photo-text as defined here is concerned as much with orality, the demotic, the popular, the vernacular as it is with visual and written culture. That text-image collaborations give space to the spoken, spectral traces of human discourse suggests that the key element of the photo-text is its radical provisionality.

Women and Islam: Images and realities Haideh Moghissi, 2005. This three-volume interdisciplinary collection is of use not only in Middle East studies but also in various other disciplines including women's studies, political science, religion, cultural studies, sociology of gender, and anthropology. The collection offers the most influential writings in the field by both renowned scholars as well as those by the new generation of scholars of Islam and gender and includes a wide variety of cases from Middle Eastern and Islamic societies. By including case-based articles, the collection highlights the clear links between concepts and theories and actual practices. Titles also available in this series include Shamanism (March 2004, 3 volumes, 395) and the forthcoming titles Childhood (2005, 4 volumes, c. 495), Gender (2005, 4 volumes, c. 495), and Knowledge (2005, 4 volumes, c. 495).

Image and Reality of the Israel-Palestine Conflict Norman G. Finkelstein, 2016-03-15. This acclaimed study surveys the dominant popular and scholarly images of the Israel-Palestine conflict. Finkelstein opens with a theoretical discussion of Zionism, locating it as a romantic form of nationalism that assumed the bankruptcy of liberal democracy. He goes on to look at the demographic origins of the

Palestinians with particular reference to the work of Joan Peters and develops critiques of the influential studies of both Benny Morris and Anita Shapira Reviewing the diplomatic history with Aban Eban s oeuvre as his foil Finkelstein closes by demonstrating that the casting of Israel as the innocent victim of Arab aggression in the June 1967 and October 1973 wars is not supported by the documentary record This new edition critically reexamines dominant popular and scholarly images in the light of the current failures of the peace process

Postcolonial Images Roy Armes,2005-02-23 A comprehensive introduction to North African film French Crime Fiction, 1945-2005 Margaret-Anne Hutton,2016-04-22 In the first major study of representations of World War II in French crime fiction Margaret Anne Hutton draws on a corpus of over a hundred and fifty texts spanning more than sixty years Included are well known writers male and female such as Aubert Simenon Boileau Narcejak Vargas Daeninckx and Jonquet as well as a broad range of lesser known authors Hutton s introduction situates her study within the larger framework of literary representations of World War II setting the stage for her discussions of genre the problem of defining crimes and criminals in the context of the war the epistemological issues that arise in the relationship between World War II historiography and the crime novel and the temporal textures linking past crimes to the present Filling a gap in the fields of crime fiction and fictional representations of the War Hutton s book calls into question the way both crime fiction and the French theatre of World War II have been conceptualized and codified

Harun Farocki Nora M. Alter,2024-06-25 Harun Farocki was one of the world s most celebrated experimental filmmakers at the time of his death in 2014 In a career spanning over fifty years the German artist produced more than one hundred works including political cinema nonfiction film and video and art installations which have been exhibited globally After his early politically engaged films in Super 8 and 16 mm Farocki spent many years making independent films and commissions for German public television In the last phase of his career he transitioned to creating digital and multichannel installations He also collaborated with the director Christian Petzold on a dozen films In addition to his prolific media making career Farocki was an incisive critic and editor This groundbreaking book is an incisive and comprehensive analysis of Farocki's oeuvre shedding new light on his media experimentation and writings across platforms and venues Nora M Alter examines how Farocki's work investigates film and media images their history nature manipulation changing function and strategic use Focusing on interconnected ideas surrounding labor critique and war she shows how his politically committed art is informed by pedagogical strategies that drive viewers to perceive how the media world they inhabit functions Alter also argues that Farocki's career provides a lens on the history of avant garde and experimental filmmaking amid shifts in materials and exhibition platforms Tracing the transformations of Farocki's artistic practice and thought this book offers new insight into the body of work of one of the most significant media makers of the late twentieth century

Images of Nations and International Public Relations Michael Kunczik, 2016-05-06 This volume addresses the importance of images of nations in international relations One fundamental assumption is that the behavior of states is not the same as that of individuals States are social systems whose behavior as a rule directly corresponds neither to the motives of their respective leaders nor to those of their populations However it is also self evident that international activities always depend on personal relationships The studies presented relate to more or less deliberate attempts to induce change in images Given the interdisciplinary nature of the subject matter findings made in public relations advertising research prejudice research and other fields are also taken into account Very often it is impossible to distinguish between the image of the nation state and the images of big enterprises such as Krupp Ford or Coca Cola For this reason the country of origin effect is also discussed
