World and Its Peoples , 2007 Most of what is known about the outside world remains superficial and stereotypical World and Its Peoples Eastern and Southern Asia brings a long rich story to light about ethnic groups the impact of terrain and natural resources and the influence of history This unique reference work maps out how the nations of the modern world became what they are today through photographs of the geography and people of foreign lands through discussion of ancient and contemporary works of art and events and through scores of maps detailing geographical features historic and modern places natural habitats rainfall locations of ethnic and linguistic groups natural resources and centers of industry and transportation No single resource assembles such comprehensive insight into the world and the people who live in it
Architecture in Nineteenth-Century Photographs Micheline Nilsen, 2017-07-05 Revealing that nineteenth century photography goes beyond the functional to reflect the aesthetic intellectual and cultural concerns of the time this study proposes that each photographic image of architecture be studied both as a primary visual document and an object of aesthetic inquiry This multi faceted approach drives Architecture in Nineteenth Century Photographs Essays on Reading a Collection Despite three decades of post colonial post structuralist and gender conscious criticism the study of architectural photography continues to privilege technical virtuosity This volume offers a thematic exploration of the material and a socio historical examination that allows consideration of questions that have not been addressed comprehensively before in a single publication Themes include exoticism and armchair tourism the absence of women from architectural photography the role of photographs as commodities vernacular architecture and the picturesque and historic preservation urban renewal and nationalism Micheline Nilsen analyzes photographs from France and England the two countries where photography was invented and from around the world representing a corpus of over 10 000 photographs from the Janos Scholz Collection of Nineteenth Century Photographs of the Snite Museum of Art at the University of Notre Dame

Architecture and the Image at the Turn of the 21st Century Sanja Rodeš, 2024-06-28 This book examines architecture image and media relationships as productive for architecture and architectural discourses By arguing that the relationships between architecture and media cannot be dismissed via linear criticism of architecture and media or image these relations are instead seen as a part of a sphere a mediasphere of complex relationships In lieu of anything like a consensus on the contemporary condition of architecture referring to the late twentieth and the twenty first centuries the starting point of this book is that the relationships between architecture media and images continue to multiply owing to continuous technological advancements Contemporary architecture considered in this book is related to the selected circumstances of high visibility where architectural images are propelled into visibility and conflated with non architectural images This takes architecture outside of architectural only discourse and into the public realm By granting higher visibility to both the architectural images and architecture in the public realm architecture can also be influenced by the various perceptions of the general public and can enter public consciousness via non architectural media With increased visibility architecture s far reaching presence calls for more structured analysis of its nature and potential As the analysed architecture in this book is associated with the discourses outside of architecture some of which relate to terrorism natural disaster and branding and consumption the limits of contemporary architectural discipline are questioned and extended This book is written for academics and students in architectural history theory and criticism particularly those interested in visual and media studies

What Images Do

Jan Backlund, Henrik Oxvig, Michael Renner, Martin Soberg, 2019-09-13 When images look like something they do so because they are different from what they resemble This difference is not sufficiently captured by the traditional theories of representation and mimesis and yet it is the condition for any such theory Various contemporary image theorists have pointed out that Plato already understood that images are not what they look like Images have their own existence which cannot be identified with a concept but should be examined in terms of actions This book comprises fifteen articles that investigate what images do particularly in relation to the disciplines of architecture design and visual arts It claims that it is the differentiating power of images their actions which constitutes their capacity to look like something they are not as well as create something that does not yet exist What Images Do addresses the crucial role that images might play in producing and investigating what we have not yet seen or understood in and of reality

Buckminster Fuller's World Game and Its

Legacy Timothy Stott, 2021-06-29 This book studies R Buckminster Fuller s World Game and similar world games past and present Proposed by Fuller in 1964 and first played in colleges and universities across North America at a time of growing ecological crisis the World Game attempted to turn data analysis systems modelling scenario building computer technology and information design to more egalitarian ends to meet human needs It challenged players to redistribute finite planetary resources more equitably to make the world work Criticised and lauded in equal measure the World Game has evolved through several formats and continues today in correspondence with debates on planetary stewardship gamification data management and the democratic deficit This book looks again at how the World Game has been played focusing on its architecture design and gameplay With hindsight the World Game might appear na ve utopian or technocratic but we share its problems if not necessarily its solutions Such a study will be of interest to scholars working in art history design history game studies media studies architecture and the environmental humanities Photography for Architects Martine Hamilton Knight,2024-01-19 Shortlisted for the Architectural Book Awards 2024 We live in a world driven by images but with so much visual noise is anyone really looking How does an architect ensure their portfolio is within view of the right audience Photographs are still as vital to architectural practice as they ever were However creation and circulation once in the hands of skilled professionals is now perceived as being free and within easy reach of all But where is the clarity What is the message By setting out the case for curated image making considered photography may again be placed at the centre of architectural marketing strategies Photography for Architects guides the reader through various topics from establishing a visual brand and sharing images online to producing content in house and commissioning professionals It explores the still and moving image creating books and exhibitions for legacy value compiling award entries and engaging with trade press Little understood aspects regarding legal rights and obligations ethics copyright and licensing images for use are discussed in clear language Multiple photographic examples and conversations with international practitioners highlight the various themes throughout Written by a working architectural photographer whose life has been spent in commercial practice this easy to read richly illustrated guide is essential reading for architects and designers alike who are working with images and image makers Modern Architecture Through Case Studies 1945 to 1990 Peter Blundell Jones,Eamonn
