The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1929 The Letters of T. S. Eliot T. S. Eliot, 2013-07-16 T. S. Eliot writes the letters contained in this volume during a period of weighty responsibilities as husband and increasing demands as editor and publisher He cultivates the support of prominent guarantors to secure the future of his periodical The Monthly Criterion even as he loyally looks after his wife Vivien now home after months in a French psychiatric hospital Eliot corresponds with writers throughout Great Britain Europe and the United States while also forging links with the foremost reviews in London Berlin Paris Madrid and Milan He generously promotes many other writers among them Louis Zukofsky and Edward Dahlberg and manages to complete a variety of writings himself including the much loved poem A Song for Simeon a brilliant introduction to Wilkie Collins's The Moonstone and many more div The Fire Robin Blaser, 2006-09-29 Spanning four decades of meditation on the avant garde in poetry art and philosophy the essays collected in The Fire reveal Robin Blaser's strikingly fresh perspective on New American poets deconstructive philosophies current events and the state of humanities now The essays gathered in one volume for the first time include commentaries on Jack Spicer Charles Olson Robert Duncan Mary Butts George Bowering Louis Dudek Christos Dikeakos and J S Bach Blaser emerged from the Berkeley Renaissance of the 1940s and 1950s having studied under legendary medieval scholar Ernst Kantorowicz and having been a major participant in the burgeoning literary scene His response to the cultural and political events of his time has been to construct a poetic voice that offers a singular perspective on a shareable world and to pose that voice alongside others as a source of countermemory and potential agency Conceived as conversations these essays brilliantly reflect that ethos as they re-read the cultural events of the past fifty years The Oxford Critical and Cultural History of Modernist Magazines Peter Brooker, Andrew Thacker, 2009-03-26 The first of three volumes charting the history of the Modernist Magazine in Britain

North America and Europe this collection offers the first comprehensive study of the wide and varied range of little magazines which were so instrumental in introducing the new writing and ideas that came to constitute literary and artistic modernism in the UK and Ireland In thirty seven chapters covering over eighty magazines expert contributors investigate the inner dynamics and economic and intellectual conditions that governed the life of these fugitive but vibrant publications We learn of the role of editors and sponsors the relation of the arts to contemporary philosophy and politics the effects of war and economic depression and of the survival in hard times of radical ideas and a belief in innovation The chapters are arranged according to historical themes with accompanying contextual introductions and include studies of the New Age Blast the Egoist and the Criterion New Writing New Verse and Scrutiny as well as of lesser known magazines such as the Evergreen Coterie the Bermondsey Book the Mask Welsh Review the Modern Scot and the Bell To return to the pages of these magazines returns us a world where the material constraints of costs and anxieties over censorship and declining readerships ran alongside the excitement of a new poem or manifesto This collection therefore confirms the value of magazine culture to the field of modernist studies it provides a rich and hitherto under examined resource which both brings to light the debate and dialogue out of which modernism evolved and helps us recover the vitality and potential of that earlier discussion

Propaganda and Hogarth's Line of Beauty in the First World War Georgina Williams, 2016-06-28 Propaganda and Hogarth's Line of Beauty in the First World War assesses the literal and metaphoric connotations of movement in William Hogarth's eighteenth century theory of a line of beauty and subsequently employs it as a mechanism by which the visual propaganda of this era can be innovatively explored Hogarth's belief that this line epitomises not only movement but movement at its most beautiful creates conditions of possibility whereby the construct can be elevated from traditional analyses and consequently utilised to examine movement in artworks from both literal and metaphorical perspectives Propagandist promotion of an alternate reality as a challenge to a current real lends itself to these dual viewpoints the early years of the twentieth century saw growth in the advertising of conflict via the pictorial poster instigating intentionally or otherwise an aesthetic response from soldier artists embroiled on the battlefields The line of beauty therefore serves as a productive mechanism by which this era of propaganda art can be appraised

British Art and the First World War, 1914-1924 James Fox, 2015-07-30 The First World War is usually believed to have had a catastrophic effect on British art killing artists and movements and creating a mood of belligerent philistinism around the nation In this book however James Fox paints a very different picture of artistic life in wartime Britain Drawing on a wide range of sources he examines the cultural activities of largely forgotten individuals and institutions as well as the press and the government in order to shed new light on art s unusual role in a nation at war He argues that the conflict s artistic consequences though initially disruptive were ultimately and enduringly productive He reveals how the war effort helped forge a much closer relationship between the British public and their art a relationship that informed the country s cultural agenda well into the 1920s The Publishers Weekly ,1896 What Was Literary Impressionism? Michael Fried,2018-04-09 If literary impressionism is anything it is the project to turn prose into vision But vision of what Michael Fried argues that the impressionists compelled readers not only to see what was described and narrated but also to see writing itself the upward facing page pen and ink the written script the act of inscription Routledge Library Editions: W. B.
