Letters to My Mother Mary Ruth Borg, 2009. I knew I liked to write when I was a teenager locking myself in my room. I was angry, frustrated, and needed a positive outlet. I was tired of breaking things. I was sad, having to pick up pieces of my little treasures. So I picked up a pencil to write about how I felt and why I was being self-destructive. I was determined to find a way to diffuse the confusion in my head. Taught very early to pray, I'd put my prayers on paper. Seeing something written brought me back into reality. I had a reference point. Something I could read over and over to remind myself who I was and that I would be okay. This is my story of survival. My journey from the traumatic experience of being molested countless times by my step father while living within the strict religious practices of Jehovah's Witnesses to my healing process with Parents United. I thought my life of confusion, mistrust, and low self-esteem could never change. As I got older, I attracted more dysfunction in my choices. I didn't know I could change that. I didn't know any better. I became afraid for my children. I thought I was crazy and didn't have good parenting skills. After years of therapy, I learned to have control over my life and how to take the power back that I kept giving away. I am no longer a victim. It has been a long and twisty road. Today I am proud to be happy, healthy, and productive in my world. I am proud to be a survivor. I hope to inspire others and give them hope that the craziness in their heads can go away. I want to keep talking about this until the cycle is broken and all children are safe.

The Poisoning of an American High School Joy Horowitz, 2007-07-19. If it can happen in Beverly Hills, it can happen anywhere. The Poisoning of an American High School is a feat of investigative reportage and the product of four years of research by award-winning journalist Joy Horowitz. Making lucid the tangled issues of public health regulation and the political power of industry, it tells a riveting tale ripped from newspaper headlines: a cancer cluster affecting graduates of one of America's most affluent schools, Beverly Hills High. The Poisoning of an American High School presents the behind-the-scenes saga of the 2003 landmark toxic tort suit in which more than one thousand plaintiffs, with the sensational Erin Brockovich as their champion, claimed their illnesses could be traced to exposure to the oil derricks just yards from school grounds.

Evil Xtreme Mom Brenda Kané, 2023-09-01. There is a recent trend of always believing the woman in sexual matters despite what the facts may reveal This story reveals how truth is manipulated by many parties with outrageous harebrained hateful and herd mentality brains For hundreds even thousands of years women who were brave enough to bring forward their rape were ignored and cast away with no regard for any facts Historically most women who were raped were too frightened and ashamed to admit this act occurred In wars this was a rampant problem All you have to do is read your bible etc to see the extent of this problem Now if a woman comes forward to report a rape she is automatically believed and praised for her courageous revelation From one extreme to the other From perceived tramps to glorified champs Again without regard for any facts Mix some poorly designed laws with some contemptible prosecutors who falsify charges and withhold favorable evidence Add some police misconduct for falsely arresting innocent citizens If that wasn't enough top it all off with unethical actions by soulless school officials who tamper with and destroy evidence Think about that they are all paid by us to destroy innocent lives for their own glorification Add a crazy hateful mother and watch what happens now
