"The American story, told as a tale of faith, with love and laughter. Whether you take your family to Italy, Ireland, or South Africa, the way lies home."
—The Connecticut Post

Letters from Italy is a story of true love that spans an ocean. Against all odds, an orphaned girl and a young dreamer find solace in a romance sparked by a single photo and years of transatlantic letters. From a tiny Italian town in pre-WWII to New York City in her golden age, hopeful immigrants take a chance at living the American dream. Set on the Puglian coast, a world comes alive with images of a fishing village, families from different socio-economic classes, and a love born out of chance.

When they finally meet, Nicoletta and Oratio know they're destined to be together. Framed by the letters they wrote to each other, Letters from Italy takes us on a passage back through time with a romantic young couple whose devotion to one another propelled a bold journey to foreign land.

"A well-told story, immersed in the history of Italy and the United States that the author was able to tell in a dramatic way, so as to make it the film of a lifetime, of many lifetimes, of the pursuit of happiness and opportunities."
