Lexical Categories In Spanish The Determiner:

Lexical Categories in Spanish Linda M. McManness, 1996 This study is a generative approach to the difference between the determiner phrase in Spanish versus the determiner phrase in English The author argues against most claims concerning the Spanish determiner phrase and poses her own argument Her claim is that the determiner phrase in Spanish is not a functional category but rather a lexical category By making a solid case for viewing the Spanish determiner as lexical McManness can more elegantly and economically account for the proper government of empty categories in Spanish determiner phrases McManness's argument makes the book unique and provides readers with a new way of looking at Spanish grammar This thorough and innovative book will be highly appropriate for theoretical linguistics seminars in Spanish versus English and generative linguistics seminars in Spanish syntax Contents Preface Acknowledgements Theoretical Background General Theoretical Assumptions About Determiner Phrases Demonstratives and Definite Articles Possessives and Genitives Conclusions Bibliography Index of Names Index of Subjects     A Formal Grammar of Spanish for Phrase-level Analysis Applied to Information Retrieval María Paula Santalla del Río, 2002     First Language Acquisition in Spanish Gilda Socarras, 2011-06-16     Spanish Second Language Acquisition Barbara Armstrong Lafford, M. MacManness,1993 Categorization and Category Change Gianina Iordăchioaia,Isabelle Roy,Kaori Takamine,2014-07-08 This collection of selected papers addresses theoretical and empirical issues related to lexical categories categorization and category change Any grammatical description makes use of parts of speech The proper set of lexical categories and the definitions of their properties cross linguistically has been a remnant issue in linguistics since the beginnings of grammatical description Besides the traditional classification of lexical classes with their morphological syntactic and or interpretational properties has led to the emergence of mixed categories which are problematic in linguistic theory since the current systems either feature based or syntactic have no means to express fuzziness This volume addresses both these issues in two thematic parts The first part Categories and categorization consists of papers that tackle the problem of defining categories and mixed categories and its reflex on the inventory The second part Issues in category change comprises investigations on category change focusing on nominalizations which is the test ground for a theory of category change and word formation The papers included in this part discuss among others the similarities and mismatches between derived nominals and the corresponding verbs in terms of
