The Man Who Lied to His Laptop Clifford Nass, Corina Yen, 2010-09-02 Counterintuitive insights about building successful relationships based on research into human computer interaction Books like Predictably Irrational and Sway have revolutionized how we view human behavior Now Stanford professor Clifford Nass has discovered a set of rules for effective human relationships drawn from an unlikely source his study of our interactions with computers Based on his decades of research Nass demonstrates that although we might deny it we treat computers and other devices like people we empathize with them argue with them form bonds with them We even lie to them to protect their feelings This fundamental revelation has led to groundbreaking research on how people should behave with one another Nass's research shows that Mixing criticism and praise is a wildly ineffective method of evaluation Flattery works even when the recipient knows it's fake Introverts and extroverts are each best at selling to one of their own Nass's discoveries provide nothing less than a new blueprint for successful human relationships
