Liber Secretorum Fidelium Crucis

Liber Secretorum Fidelium Crucis:

Marino Sanudo Torsello, The Book of the Secrets of the Faithful of the Cross Peter Lock, 2016-05-06 This is the first full translation of Marino Sanudo Torsello's Secreta fidelium Crucis to be made into English. The work itself is a piece of crusading propaganda following the fall of Acre in 1291, written between 1300 and 1321, but it includes much of historical relevance along with interesting observations on the early history of Jerusalem and the Crusader Kingdom. The translation is based upon the text edited by Jacques Bongars in 1611. There is an introduction that contextualises the book, its author, his sources, and his audience. The notes provide essential information to clarify internal textual references and allusions, as well as the role of Biblical references in Sanudo's grand design. The index is designed to make this detailed text usable and accessible. In this his major work, Sanudo advocated the conquest of Egypt as the means to regain Jerusalem for the Latins and worked through his points with considerable detail alongside references to 13th century Mediterranean history, especially involving Louis IX of France and Charles of Anjou, king of Naples. Books I and II give considerable detailed discussion of the concept, plan, and costs of his proposed crusade. Book III provides an outline history of the crusades, and the crusader states. It is derived from a wide reading of other sources, especially of William of Tyre, and for events after 1184, on the Eracles, the letters of James of Vitry, and Sanudo's own experiences in the east. Throughout the work, it contains a staggering amount of cartographical, ethnographical, geographical, and nautical information, as well as numerous unique insights into historical events and personalities of the late 13th century, not only in Outremer but in Western Europe. Logistics of Warfare in the Age of the Crusades John H. Pryor, 2016-12-05 How were the Crusades made possible? There have been studies of ancient, medieval, and early modern warfare, as well as work on the finances and planning of Crusades, but this volume is the first specifically to address the logistics of Crusading. Building on previous work, it brings together experts from the fields of medieval, Western, Byzantine, and Middle Eastern studies to examine how the marches and voyages were actually made. Questions of manpower, types and means of transportation by land and sea, supplies, financial resources, roads, and natural land routes, sea lanes, and natural sailing routes, all these topics and more are covered here. Of particular importance is the attention given to the horses and other animals on which transport of supplies and the movement of armies depended.

Mapping Jordan Through Two Millennia JohnR. Bartlett, 2017-07-05 This book shows how travellers and scholars since Roman times have put together their maps of the land east of the River Jordan It traces the contribution of Roman armies and early Christian pilgrims and medieval European travellers Crusading armies learned scholars like Jacob Ziegler sixteenth century mapmakers like Mercator and Ortelius eighteenth century travellers and savants and nineteenth century biblical scholars and explorers like Robinson and Smith culminating in the late nineteenth century surveyors working for the Palestine Exploration Fund This original and valuable book shows with full illustrations how maps of the Transjordan region developed through the centuries and with its detailed tables and bibliography will aid future scholars in further research The author took part in archaeological excavations and surveys in Jordan was Associate Professor of Biblical Studies and Fellow at Trinity College Dublin has published research papers and books on ancient Jordan John Bartlett was the editor of the Palestine Exploration Quarterly and until recently was the Chairman of the Palestine Exploration Fund Picturing Experience in the Early Printed Book Elizabeth Ross, 2015-06-10 Bernhard von Breydenbach s Peregrinatio in terram sanctam Journey to the Holy Land first published in 1486 is one of the seminal books of early printing and is especially renowned for the originality of its woodcuts In Picturing Experience in the Early Printed Book Elizabeth Ross considers the Peregrinatio from a variety of perspectives to explain its value for the cultural history of the period Breydenbach a high ranking cleric in Mainz recruited the painter Erhard Reuwich of Utrecht for a religious and artistic adventure in a political hot spot a pilgrimage to research the peoples places plants and animals of the Levant The book they published after their return ambitiously engaged with the potential of the new print medium to give an account of their experience The Peregrinatio also aspired to rouse readers to a new crusade against Islam by depicting a contest in the Mediterranean between the Christian bastion of the city of Venice and the region s Muslim empires This crusading rhetoric fit neatly with the state of the printing industry in Mainz which largely subsisted as a tool for bishops consolidation of authority including selling the pope s plans to combat the Ottoman Empire Taking an artist on such an enterprise was unprecedented Reuwich set a new benchmark for technical achievement with his woodcuts notably a panorama of Venice that folds out to 1 62 meters in length and a foldout map that stretches from Damascus to Sudan around the first topographically accurate view of Jerusalem The conception and execution of the Peregrinatio show how and why early printed books constructed new means of visual representation from existing ones and how the form of a printed book emerged out of the interaction of eyewitness experience and medieval scholarship real travel and spiritual pilgrimage curiosity and fixed belief texts and images Union in Separation Autori Vari,2016-01-14T00:00:00+01:00 Union in Separation presents a series of case studies on diasporic groups in the late medieval and early modern Mediterranean and Black Sea regions It explores how Armenian Byzantine Greek Florentine Genoese Hospitaller Jewish Mamluk and Venetian communities characterized by diasporic identities and inserted into local contexts navigated religious and socio ethnic boundaries as well as other categories of difference The volume draws on a wide range of historical and social scientific methods and offers new perspectives on the arbitration of difference in the wider eastern Mediterranean from Tana to Cairo and Marseille to Isfahan prior to the emergence of nation states It provides not only an analytical toolbox for historical diaspora studies but also reveals how under the looming threat of crusade and within the daily routines of trade diasporic groups and their hosts negotiated modes of coexistence that oscillated between cooperation and conflict integration and rejection union and separation Islam and Christianity in Medieval Anatolia A.C.S. Peacock,Bruno De Nicola,2016-03-09 Islam and Christianity in Medieval Anatolia offers a comparative approach to understanding the spread of Islam and Muslim culture in medieval Anatolia It aims to reassess work in the field since the 1971 classic by Speros Vryonis The Decline of Hellenism in Asia Minor and the Process of Islamization which treats the process of transformation from a Byzantinist perspective Since then research has offered insights into individual aspects of Christian Muslim relations but no overview has appeared Moreover very few scholars of Islamic studies have examined the problem meaning evidence in Arabic Persian and Turkish has been somewhat neglected at the expense of Christian sources and too little attention has been given to material culture The essays in this volume examine the interaction between Christianity and Islam in medieval Anatolia through three distinct angles opening with a substantial introduction by the editors to explain both the research background and the historical problem making the work accessible to scholars from other fields The first group of essays examines the Christian experience of living under Muslim rule comparing their experiences in several of the major Islamic states of Anatolia between the eleventh and fifteenth centuries especially the Seljuks and the Ottomans The second set of essays examines encounters between Christianity and Islam in art and intellectual life They highlight the ways in which some traditions were shared across confessional divides suggesting the existence of a common artistic and hence cultural vocabulary The final section focusses on the process of Islamisation above all as seen from the Arabic Persian and Turkish textual evidence with special attention to the role of Sufism Finance and the Crusades Daniel Edwards,2021-11-09 This book investigates the financial aspects of crusading in the thirteenth and early fourteenth centuries Taking the kingdom of England as a case study it explores a variety of themes such as how much crusades cost how they were financed how funds were transferred to the East and how crusaders fared financially after their return Its fundamental argument in contrast with current historiography is that it was the private fundraising of individuals not the public fundraising of the Crown and the Church that constituted the life blood of the crusade movement in the period under consideration Indeed it is likely that the crusades were only able to remain central to the religious and political life of England and indeed western Christendom because participants and those in their connection continued to be willing to sacrifice their own financial wellbeing for the interests of the Holy Land
