Italians of the Gold Country Carolyn Fregulia,2007

California's gold country has been profoundly influenced by Italian culture for the last 160 years. Immigrants from Italy's northern provinces were drawn here by the lure of gold, but it was the allure of the California foothills where they found the terrain and Mediterranean climate similar to that of Italy that convinced them to stay. California's fledgling economy provided unparalleled opportunities for Italian businessmen, and unclaimed land was available for agriculturalists. Settlement soon brought women and children, and within a decade Italians represented a significant portion of the population in the region, numbering among the gold country's leading farmers, merchants, and tradesmen. The Mother Lode also offered women unique advantages, and Italian women proved wonderfully resourceful when necessity demanded. The 1870s saw a second wave of immigration as Italian laborers arrived to work in the large corporate-owned gold mines. Descendants of many of these Italian pioneers remain in the gold country to this day.

But there is a larger story in the California Gold Country than just the discovery of this precious metal. Immigrants from around the world rushed into the area bringing with them their own languages and traditions in a quest for riches. One of those traditions was wine making, which for some would prove to be a greater boon than panning for gold, as they discovered that the region's soils and microclimates were ideal for vineyards.
