set about creating a new historical genealogy of which the October Revolution was the only possible culmination This new narrative was forged through a complex process that included the sacralization of October through ritualized celebrations its institutionalization in museums and professional institutes devoted to its study and ambitious campaigns to persuade the masses that their lives were an inextricable part of this historical process By the late 1920s the Bolshevik regime had transformed its representation of what had occurred in 1917 into a new orthodoxy the October Revolution Corney investigates efforts to convey the dramatic essence of 1917 as a Bolshevik story through the increasingly elaborate anniversary celebrations of 1918 1919 and 1920 He also describes how official commissions during the 1920s sought to institutionalize this new foundation narrative as history and memory In the book s final chapter the author assesses the state of the October narrative at its tenth anniversary paying particular attention to the versions presented in the celebratory films by Eisenstein and Pudovkin A brief epilogue assesses October s fate in the years since the collapse of the Soviet Union

Kangaspuro, Jeremy Smith, 2006-12-27 Modernisation has been a constant theme in Russian history at least since Peter the Great launched a series of initiatives aimed at closing the economic technical and cultural gap between Russia and the more advanced countries of Europe All of the leaders of the Soviet Union and post Soviet Russia have been intensely aware of this gap and have pursued a number of strategies some more successful than others in order to modernise the country But it would be wrong to view modernisation as a unilinear process which was the exclusive preserve of the state Modernisation has had profound effects on Russian society and the attitudes of different social groups have been crucial to the success and failure of modernisation This volume examines the broad theme of modernisation in late imperial Soviet and post Soviet Russia both through general overviews of particular topics and specific case studies of modernisation projects and their impact Modernisation is seen not just as an economic policy but as a cultural and social phenomenon reflected through such diverse themes as ideology welfare education gender relations transport political reform and the Internet The result is the most up to date and comprehensive survey of modernisation in Russia available which highlights both one of the perennial problems and the challenges and prospects for contemporary Russia The Jewish Revolution in Belorussia Andrew Sloin, 2017-02-13 A Dorothy Rosenberg Prize winner A remarkable social history that investigates the process of Sovietization among Jews in Belorussia Jeffrey Veidlinger author of In the Shadow of the Shtetl This insightful history demonstrates how Jewish life in Belorussia fundamentally changed when Jews started joining the Bolshevik movement and populating the front lines of the revolutionary struggle While Andrew Sloin's story follows the arc of Bolshevik history it also shows how the broader movement was enacted in factories and workshops workers clubs and union meetings and on the Jewish streets of White Russia In the eyes of the Bolshevik leadership the project of transforming Jews into integrated Soviet citizens was bound inextricably to labor The protagonists here are shoemakers speculators glassmakers peddlers leatherworkers needleworkers soldiers students and local party operatives who were swept up willingly or otherwise under the banner of Marxist socialism With extensive research and keen insight Sloin stresses the fundamental relationship between economy and identity formation as party officials grappled with the Jewish Question in the wake of the revolution New Times, 2001
