Golden Days Ecstasy No 378:

Dostoyevsky and the Process of Literary Creation Jacques Catteau, 1989-05-11 Jacques Catteau's much acclaimed book on Dostoyevsky which has already received three literary prizes and one medical in France appears here in English for the first time. It is an original and detailed attempt to re-examine Dostoyevsky the artist tracing the creative process from its beginnings in the notebooks to its expression in the novels and at the same time analysing the structures of time and space, the role of colour and other important features of the texts. More Than Skin Deep Emily Elliott, 1986 So Much to Give Sheila Paulos, 1985 A Moment's Enchantment Jane Atkin, 1986 The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1985

Comics Values Annual Alex G. Malloy, 2003-03 Comics book collectors turn to this valuable resource every year for the most comprehensive information available. This updated edition gives collectors everything they've come to expect and more. Packed with more than 100 000 listings and more than 1 000 illustrations of classic and contemporary comics. On Russian Music Richard Taruskin, 2009 This volume gathers 36 essays by one of the leading scholars in the study of Russian music. An extensive introduction lays out the main issues and a justification of Taruskin's approach seen both in the light of his intellectual development and in that of the changing intellectual environment. Hand in Hand Edith Delatash, 1985

Inconsequence Annamarie Jagose, 2018-08-06 The field of lesbian studies is often framed in terms of the relation between lesbianism and invisibility. Annamarie Jagose here takes a radical new approach suggesting that the focus on invisibility and visibility is perhaps not the most productive way of looking at lesbian representability. Jagose argues that the theoretical preoccupation with metaphors of visibility is part of the problem it attempts to remedy. In her account the regulatory difference between heterosexuality and homosexuality relies less on codes of visual recognition than on a cultural adherence to the force of first order second order sexual sequence. As Jagose points out, sequence does not simply specify what comes before and what comes after; it also implies precedence: what comes first and what comes second. Jagose reads canonical novels by Charles Dickens, Henry James, Virginia Woolf and Daphne du Maurier drawing upon their elaboration of sexual sequence. In these innovative readings, tropes such as first and second origin and outcome and heterosexuality and homosexuality are shown to reinforce heterosexual precedence. Inconsequence intervenes in current debates in lesbian historiography taking as its pivotal moment the fin de siècle phenomenon of the sexological codification of sexual taxonomies and concluding with a reading of a post-Kinsey pulp sexological text. Throughout Jagose reminds us that categories of sexual registration are always back formations, secondary and belated, not only for those who identify as lesbian but also for all sexual subjects Bad Vibrations James Kennaway, 2016-04-15 Music has been used as a cure for disease since as far back as King David's lyre but the notion that it might be a serious cause of mental and physical illness was rare until the late eighteenth century. At that time physicians started to argue that excessive music or the wrong kind of music could over stimulate a vulnerable nervous system leading to illness, immorality and even death. Since then there have been successive waves of moral panics about supposed epidemics of musical nervousness caused by everything from Wagner to jazz and rock n roll. It was this medical and critical debate that provided the psychiatric rhetoric of degenerate music that was the rationale for the persecution of musicians in Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union. By the 1950s the focus of medical anxiety about music shifted to the idea that musical brainwashing and subliminal messages could strain the nerves and lead to mind control, mental illness and suicide. More recently the prevalence of sonic weapons and the use of music in torture in the so called War on Terror have both made the subject of music that is bad for the health worryingly topical. This book outlines and explains the development of this idea of pathological music from the Enlightenment until the present day providing an original contribution to the history of medicine, music and the body. The Literary World, 1896 Callista : a Tale of the Third Century John Henry Newman, 2019-11-22 In Callista A Tale of the Third Century John Henry Newman crafts a rich narrative steeped in early Christian themes and the complexities of faith during a tumultuous period of Roman history. The novel intricately weaves a fictional tale around the historical backdrop of the third century exploring themes of love, sacrifice and the transformative power of belief. Newman's literary style merges poetic prose with philosophical undercurrents reflecting his own theological inquiries and deep engagement with questions of morality and spirituality, an essential characteristic of his body of work. John Henry Newman, a prominent theologian and a key figure in the Oxford Movement, drew upon his experiences as an Anglican priest and later as a Catholic cardinal to create a poignant reflection on the early Church. His commitment to articulating the nuances of faith and reason is evident in this work which serves to illuminate the personal struggles and societal pressures faced by early Christians. Newman's background, including his scholarly pursuits and pastoral experience, profoundly influenced the depth and sensitivity with which he addresses the protagonist's journey. Callista is not only an engaging historical novel but also a profound exploration of the early Christian experience, making it an essential read for those interested in the intersections of faith and history. Readers will find Newman's reflections resonant and thought provoking as he invites them to consider the enduring challenges of belief in a world often in opposition to spiritual conviction. Littell's Living Age Eliakim Littell, Robert S.
