Image Assessment: Cultural Segmentation Versus the Global Tourist Wassim El Kadhi, 2009-03 Various scholars consider destination image a vital part in tourism marketing as the key in attracting tourists It is often regarded as the most important element in a destination s management and may induce success or failure Within this research project destination image is being assessed in cross cultural terms It scrutinises the extent to which destination image is culture specific In other words does a destination s image vary across people from different cultural backgrounds This question evolves and is vindicated in an era that is subjected to globalisation and increasingly refers to the global tourist Many academics are convinced that the world tourism market may be treated as a homogenous one due to globalisation However the literature also provides some opposing bearings and discusses them Hence the author of this book intended to investigate this issue in more depth in order to find a probable answer to the contradicting sources by conducting an exploratory study of Arab Islamic and Protestant European youth s pre visitation image on Berlin In response to the objectives of this study primary research was carried out It involved both quantitative and qualitative data collection methods Field and online surveys enabled the researcher to collect 239 completed questionnaires Besides semi structured interviews and focus group discussions were carried out Obtained data was entered into SPSS and frequencies and means were calculated and several ANOVA tests and cross tabulations conducted in order to stress destination image s specificity in terms of cultural background This book further gives information on Berlin as a tourist destination addresses destination image concerning influential cultural factors and the implications of globalisation on consumer behaviour Finally it studies the Arab Islamic and Protestant European youth cultures in the light of globalisation and potential modifying effects It also provides recommendations

Globalisation, Cultural Diversity and Schooling Joseph Zajda, Suzanne Majhanovich, 2024-05-22 This book analyses dominant discourses of globalisation cultural diversity and schooling The collection in this volume advance further the discussions on the phenomenon of globalisation and its far reaching effects on our world and consider cultural diversity in its broadest sense as it manifests itself in a globalised world Zajda has argued that globalisation represents a synthesis of technology ideology and organisation specifically related to border crossings of people global finance and trade IT convergence as well as cross cultural communication The reality of cultural diversity has been brought into stronger focus because of globalisation Cultural diversity always present in society is more evident today because of globalisation The ways society copes with cultural diversity have changed such that the embrace of cultural diversity as part of identity is encouraged in liberal democracies Cultural diversity as presented in this volume is seen in a broad context and includes factors such as race ethnicity gender sexual orientations socio economic status culture age and physical ability as well as a variety of beliefs and values The book contributes in a very scholarly way to a more holistic understanding of the nexus between globalisation cultural diversity democracy and equality for all Globalisation, Cultural Diversity and Human Rights Joseph Zajda, Yvonne Vissing, 2024-09-02 This book analyses major discourses of cultural diversity and human rights The chapters contained in this book examine critically major issues confronting cultural diversity and human rights both locally and globally They analyze the challenges that different societies are confronted with as they attempt to implement protect and defend cultural diversity and human rights in an ever changing world and culturally diverse environment Topics covered include celebrating cultural diversity in sport human rights legacies of the African slave trade and the long term implications of colonialism assessment of human rights and sports effectiveness in intercultural dialogue in dominant discourses of cultural diversity and human rights and the rising importance of cultural diversity and human rights in sport for children and youth This book will be helpful to readers to explore their own views and consider more broadly what may be in the best interests of a fair and just society as envisioned in human rights treaties human rights education in schools and cultural diversity Destination Image - Do Berlin's tourist authorities have to consider cultural segmentation when developing marketing strategies relating to the place's image in an era that refers to the global tourist? Wassim El Kadhi, 2008-10-13 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Destination image is considered as the key in attracting tourists This thesis purported to scrutinise whether Berlin's tourist authorities have to consider cultural segmentation when developing marketing strategies relating to the place's image As an exploratory study it examined Berlin's image among youths from Arab Islamic and Protestant European countries and confronted them In an era that is subjected to globalisation and refers to the global tourist it is vindicated to pose this question Various scholars are convinced that the world tourism market may be treated as a homogenous one due to globalisation However the literature also provides some opposing bearings and discusses them It further gives some background information on Berlin as a tourist destination addresses destination image concerning influential cultural factors and the implications of globalisation on consumer behaviour Finally it studies the Arab Islamic and Protestant European youth cultures in the light of globalisation and possible modifying effects In response to the objectives of this study primary research was conducted It involved both quantitative and qualitative data collection methods Field and online surveys enabled the researcher to collect 239 completed questionnaires 103 Arab Islamic and 136 Protestant European youths Besides semi structured interviews and focus group discussions were carried out at EF Language School Bournemouth Following the completion of the survey obtained data was entered into SPSS Frequencies and means were calculated for each variable and several ANOVA tests and cross tabulations conducted in order to stress destination image's specificity in terms of cultural background Research findings revealed significant differences between the groups regarding their perception of Berlin Arab Islamic youths had a more negative stance towards Berlin than their counterparts Not only did divergences occur between the groups but also within the groups Thus destination image is culture specific and may also vary across countries sharing similar cultural backgrounds Overall despite the effects of globalisation cultural market segmentation still remains a vital element for a tourist place such as Berlin where the image management is concerned. The thesis provides recommendations for Berlin congruent with the outcomes and concludes with the provision of recommendations for further Global Encounters Gitte Stald, Thomas Tufte, 2002. The relation between globalization, culture, and the transformative role of the media is examined in this book. Case studies assess questions of media use, cultural boundaries, and identities emanating from these theoretical reflections. The international scope of this book includes examinations of youth cultures in Denmark and South Africa, Asian cultures in India and London, the Iranian migration to London, and the Gauchos in Southern Brazil.

The Politics of Cultural Development Ben Garner, 2016-04-28. There is a growing recognition of the role that culture can play in sustainable development strategies. This development has generally been welcomed but also raises a number of questions: What are the implications in policy and practice? Who are the most influential voices in promoting a global agenda for culture and development, and to what extent has the creation of new international policy instruments reflected a consensus? More fundamentally, what is meant by culture in these discussions, and who has the power to give particular definitions political and legal authority? The Politics of Cultural Development seeks to provide a theoretically and historically informed response to such questions, illustrated by reference to case studies including the European Union, the Caribbean, and China. Particular attention is paid to the formation of the UNESCO Convention on the Protection and the Promotion of the Diversity of Cultural Expressions, a landmark instrument in debates about culture and development. The book goes on to explore some of the practical implications that this international treaty is beginning to have for the ways that culture is and is not being integrated into contemporary development policy and practice. This book will be useful for students, academics, and policymakers in the fields of international development, international relations, international political economy, cultural policy, and cultural theory.

Fresh Perspectives: Marketing, 2006. Globalisation, Commodification and Cultural Production in Africa Kathrin Schmidt, 2023-12-04. This book engages with contemporary cultural production in Africa, focusing on theatre in Sierra Leone as a main case study. The author provides coverage of and insights into such themes as cultural globalisation, commodification, the global creative economy, culture and development, international relations, and contemporary cultural production in Sierra Leone within the context of local and global flows of people, media, images, technologies, finance, and ideas. Combining the analysis of theatre in Sierra Leone and its aesthetics with its policy, structural, and institutional context, this book highlights in much detail and nuance the interconnectedness between the micro and the macro levels of cultural production between the local and the global and between aesthetics politics policy governance structures and institutions This book links the particular findings from the author s fieldwork to larger issues of contemporary local cultural production within the context of globalisation commodification and decolonisation adds a postcolonial perspective to existing theories and approaches to cultural production management and policy which is still largely missing from the existing discourse and also contributes to addressing the gap in the knowledge about the context of contemporary cultural productions in diverse African contexts This book will be particularly useful for both theatre scholars with an interest in the political economy of theatre and more broadly those seeking to understand the nuanced challenges and opportunities faced by policymakers artists and arts managers to embrace the cultural and creative industries in this context It also offers excellent insights for policymakers who wish to improve their understanding and interventions beyond superficial best practice snippets and simplified success stories
