Letters On Literature Politics:

The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance, 1868 Republics of Letters Peter Kirkpatrick, Professor Robert Dixon, 2018-08-30 Republics of Letters Literary Communities in Australia is the first book to explore the notion of literary community or literary sociability in relation to Australian literature What to Read, and How to Read Charles H. Moore, 2023-02-24 Reprint of the original first published in 1871 The publishing house Anatiposi publishes historical books as reprints Due to their age these books may have missing pages or inferior quality Our aim is to preserve these books and make them available to the public so that they do not get lost Strindberg's Letters, Volume 1 August Strindberg, 1992-05-04 This is the first major collection in English of August Strindberg's letters the most vital and wide ranging body of correspondence in Scandinavian literature Of ten thousand surviving letters Michael Robinson has selected and translated more than five hundred of the most important which trace Strindberg's development and provide a comprehensive view of the life and work of this towering figure in European literary and theatrical Modernism The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1868 Literary Politics of Scottish Devolution Scott Hames, 2019-11-01 Considering an unprecedented range of literary political and archival materials it explores how questions of voice language and identity featured in debates leading to the new Scottish Parliament in 1999 Publisher description

Selected Letters of Rebecca West Rebecca West, 2000-02-09 From the time that George Bernard Shaw remarked that Rebecca West could handle a pen as brilliantly as ever I could and much more savagely West's writings and her politics have elicited strong reactions This collection of her letters the first ever published has been culled from the estimated ten thousand she wrote during her long life The more than two hundred selected letters follow this spirited author critic and journalist from her first feminist campaign for women's suffrage when she was a teenager through her reassessments of the twentieth century written in 1982 in her ninetieth year The letters which are presented in full include correspondence with West's famous lover H G Wells and with Shaw Virginia Woolf Emma Goldman Noel Coward and many others offer pronouncements on such contemporary authors as Norman Mailer Nadine Gordimer and Arthur Schlesinger Jr and provide new insights into her battles against misogyny fascism and communism West deliberately fashions her own biography through this intensely personal correspondence challenging rival accounts of her groundbreaking professional career her frustrating love life and her tormented family relations Engrossing to read the collection sheds new light on this important figure and her social and literary milieu The Price of Literature Patrick M. Bray, 2019-03-15 The Price of Literature examines the presence of theory in the nineteenth century French novel something Proust likened to leaving a price tag on a gift Emerging after the French Revolution what we now call literature was conceived as an art liberated from representational constraints Patrick M Bray shows how literature's freedom to represent anything at all has meant paradoxically that it cannot articulate a coherent theory of itself unless this theory is a necessarily subversive literary representation or the novel's theoretical turn. Literary thought or the theory produced by the text can only function by exploring what escapes dominant representations. The Price of Literature analyzes how certain iconic texts from the nineteenth century by Mme de Staël, Hugo, Balzac, Flaubert, and Proust perform a theoretical turn to claim the freedom to represent anything in the world but also literature's ability to transform the world it represents. The conclusion advances a new way of thinking about literary scholarship, one based on how literature redistributes ways of writing by lending form to thought.

Letters to the New Island W.B. Yeats, 1989-10-24 From 1888 to 1892 W.B. Yeats contributed a series of essays on literature and Irish folklore to two American newspapers, the Boston Pilot and Providence Sunday Journal. These important but little-known pieces show his intense engagement with current books, plays, personalities, and controversies. They also make major statements about the issues of cultural nationalism and theatrical reform that preoccupied the poet. Newly edited, annotated, and introduced by George Bornstein and Hugh Witemeyer, Letters to the New Island offers a fresh glimpse of Yeats as an active polemicist, critic, and all-round man of letters.

The Imperial Script of Catherine the Great Vera Proskurina, 2022-06-23 Empress Catherine II produced a body of written material so vast and diverse that it seems impossible to provide a general characterization of the works contained in the authoritative twelve-volume collection assembled by A.N. Pypin from handwritten source material. This book does not attempt an all-embracing review of Catherine's entire literary output, which consists of works in multiple genres and languages. The Russian empress's writings have been the repeated subject of serious analysis for nineteenth and twentieth-century researchers; all of these in one way or another demonstrate that across a variety of genres and formats, with a greater or lesser degree of independence and originality, the literary works of Catherine II always express her politics and ideology. These texts were carefully prepared for their publications and stage productions, executed magnificently. As a rule, the most significant works were translated into French, German, and in some cases, English. European readers as well as the Russian public were expected to be attentive witnesses to and happy consumers of the monarch's compositions. Amongst rulers, the literary productivity of the Russian empress has no analogue in history. This volume is the first study in English of the vast literary output of Catherine the Great.
