Excerpt from Letters to Living Authors Sir There is a certain quality which more than talent or genius or energy or force of will lies at the bottom of all material success the quality which is known among men as worldly wisdom You can scarcely be congratulated on possessing it for throughout your career you have shown less concern for the comfort and convenience of your patrons the public than any other literary caterer living today Indeed with the exception of Carlyle no British writer of this generation has been so utterly regardless of the ease of the critics and the pleasure of the general reader About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
