Ryan, 1985 In a Panamanian pond male tungara frogs Physalaemus pustulosus gather in choruses giving their advertisement call to the females that move among them If a female chooses to make physical contact with a male he will clasp her and eventually fertilize her eggs But in vying for the females the males whose calls are most attractive may also attract the interest of another creature the fringe lipped bat a frog eater In The Tungara Frog the most detailed and informative single study available of frogs and their reproductive behavior Michael J Ryan demonstrates the interplay of sexual and natural selection Using techniques from ethology behavioral ecology sensory physiology physiological ecology and theoretical population genetics in his research Ryan shows that large males with low frequency calls mate most successfully He examines in detail a number of explanations for the females preferences and he considers possible evolutionary forces leading to the males success Though certain vocalizations allow males to obtain mates and thus should be favored by sexual selection this study highlights two important costs of such sexual displays the frogs expend considerable energy in their mating calls and they advertise their whereabouts to predators Ryan considers in detail how predators especially the fringe lipped bat Trachops cirrhosus affect the evolution of the tungara frog's calls Herpetology George R. Zug, Laurie Vitt (J.), Janalee P. Caldwell, 2001-05-30 This book is a review of all the myriad aspects of the biology ecology evolution physiology and behavior of amphibians and reptiles Midwest Amphibian Conservation Rebecca K. Smith, William J. Sutherland, 2014-05-16 Amphibian Conservation is the fourth in the series of Synopses of Conservation Evidence linked to the online resource www.ConservationEvidence.com This synopsis is part of the Conservation Evidence project and provides a useful resource for conservationists It forms part of a series designed to promote a more evidence based approach to biodiversity conservation Others in the series include bee bird farmland and bat conservation and many others are in preparation Approximately 32% of the 7 164 amphibian species are currently threatened with extinction and at least 43% of species are declining Despite this until recently amphibians and their conservation had received little attention Although work is now being carried out to conserve many species often it is not adequately documented This book brings together and summarises the available scientific evidence and experience relevant to the practical conservation of amphibians The authors consulted an international group of amphibian experts and conservationists to produce a thorough summary of what is known or not known about the effectiveness of amphibian conservation actions across the world The book is packed with literature summaries and citations a veritable information goldmine for graduate students and researchers It also admirably provides decision makers with a well researched resource of proven interventions that can be employed to stem reverse the decline of amphibian populations John G Palis Bulletin of the Chicago Herpetological Society Yearbook of the National Society for the Study of Education National Society for the Study of Education,1925 The Renewal of Life Margaret Warner Morley,1906 Persons: Theories and Perceptions Désirée Park,2013-11-11 This volume grew out of a dissatisfaction with some issues that seem to be rooted in the Empiricist tradition At least since Locke that which is perceived has enjoyed a major share in any systematic account of what we claim to know A main purpose of this study therefore is first to distinguish and subsequently to relate what can be perceived and what can be under stood To this end the account of persons and personal identity begins with a description of selected types of sense perceptions While writing a good part of the discussion on vision I had the advantage of questioning Dr P B Loder about the properties of light She not only clarified some issues but prevented several errors from creeping into the text a result for which I am very grateful I should like also to express my appreciation to Mrs G K Stamm Okkinga who provided hospitality and a friendly interest from the beginning of this study Finally I wish to thank Miss I Ris and Mr W de Regt for their careful and resourceful preparation of the typescript The Rizzlerunk Club: Best Buds Under Frogs Leslie Patricelli,2021-11-09 For Lily it s the worst first day of school ever Who would want to be friends with the new girl whose debut act is to throw up on the playground on somebody s shoes Fortunately quirky Darby comes to the rescue Darby likes frogs and candy and oddball stuff and soon she and Lily have formed their own club the Rizzlerunk Club But before you can say BFF Darby s former best friend mean spirited Jill who had moved to London returns unexpectedly Can Lily and Darby s friendship survive the British invasion Peppered with charming illustrations and hilarious mishaps involving conjoined frogs accidentally shaved eyebrows and school pranks gone awry this engaging tale of fourth grade life will have readers wishing they could join the Rizzlerunk Club for real Publisher
