Kate Quintons Days:

Kate Quinton's Days Susan Sheehan, 1985 The Pulitzer Prize winning author reports on the daily existence of the elderly focusing on a high spirited Irish born woman and her responses to aging illness and dependency on others Aging, 1983

The 'Other' in Ourselves Kate de Medeiros, Kelly Niles-Yokum, Judith L. Howe, 2018-10-22 Increasingly scholars from many disciplines have begun to incorporate various modalities from the humanities and arts novels films artwork and other forms of expression to help connect students with the experience of aging in deeply meaningful and person centered ways This collection examines how these approaches are incorporated into gerontology and geriatrics education Rather than focusing solely on measurable outcomes such as changes in learning over time which is the purview of empirical pedagogy chapters focus on strategies for successfully incorporating a specific work into the classroom descriptions of humanities and or arts exercises with students or older adults and other ways that explore how the humanities and arts can be applied successfully and meaningfully in educational settings This book was originally published as a special issue of Gerontology Geriatrics Education Life for Me Ain't Been No Crystal Stair Susan Sheehan, 2013-12-03 On October 7 1984 Crystal Taylor gave birth to a baby boy whom she named Daquan Crystal was only fourteen She was living with a boyfriend whom she was too young to marry and her mother was addicted to heroin and cocaine So under the law Crystal and Daquan became wards of New York State s foster care system a sprawling often slipshod web of boarding facilities halfway houses and paid surrogates that cares for almost 60 000 children Life for Me Ain t Been No Crystal Stair is the story of what happened to Crystal and Daquan as well as to Crystal s mother who herself had grown up in various foster homes It is a story of three generations of poverty addiction and abuse and also a story of astonishing human resilience And Susan Sheehan tells it with the same flawless observation humor and compassion that she brought to her classic Is There No Place on Earth for Me Surviving Dependence Mary Ball, Frank Whittington, 2020-11-25 To date there has not been a clear look at the home care experience of older African Americans Surviving Dependence Voices of African American Elders attempts to meet the need for recording and interpreting the ordinary life of elderly African Americans on their own terms in their own surroundings and in so far as possible in their own words Ball and Whittington s research is unique in two ways it focuses on older people who are African American and poor and it describes the viewpoint of care recipients and their relationships with the public programs designed to help them This book provides an in depth view of the experiences of these seven frail elders as both care receivers and as active participants in their own care The two primary themes the significant disabilities that often accompany old age and the tenacious will and ability to cope possessed by our informants are reflected in the title Surviving Dependence Time Briton Hadden, Henry R. Luce, 1984 The New Neighborhood Senior Center Joyce Weil, 2014-11-03 In 2011 seven thousand American baby boomers those born between 1946 and 1964 turned sixty five daily As this largest U S generation ages cities municipalities and governments at every level must grapple with the allocation of resources and funding for maintaining the quality of life health and standard of living for an aging population In The New Neighborhood Senior Center Joyce Weil uses in depth ethnographic methods to examine a working class senior center in Queens New York She explores the ways in which social structure directly affects the lives of older Americans and traces the role of political social and economic institutions and neighborhood processes in the decision to close such centers throughout the city of New York Many policy makers and gerontologists advocate a concept of aging in place whereby the communities in which these older residents live provide access to resources that foster and maintain their independence But all aging in place is not equal and the success of such efforts depends heavily upon the social class and availability of resources in any given community Senior centers expanded in part by funding from federal programs in the 1970s were designed as focal points in the provision of community based services However for the first wave of boomers the role of these centers has come to be questioned Declining government support has led to the closings of many centers even as the remaining centers are beginning to rebrand to attract the boomer generation However The New Neighborhood Senior Center demonstrates the need to balance what the boomers want from centers with the needs of frailer or more vulnerable elders who rely on the services of senior centers on a daily basis Weil challenges readers to consider what changes in social policies are needed to support or supplement senior centers and the functions they serve

Journal of Visual Impairment & Blindness ,1985 The New Yorker ,1984 Last Rights Barbara Logue,1993-01-01 Several recent trends demographic social and economic are increasing the incidence and public support of deliberate death among the old and sick The number of elderly people is at an all time high Medical technology can prolong the lives of these men and women but it cannot keep them independent free of pain or competent to manage their own affairs Never before have so many been so sick for so long Changes in the size and structure of the American family make long term home care almost impossible while exorbitant health costs and scarce resources limit the provision of highquality care by paid workers Researcher Barbara J Logue refers to any deliberate behavior that causes death as death control She points out that death control like birth control involves very serious and deeply personal decisions choices that ought to be made on the basis of reliable information with care and compassion without coercion She goes on to assert that like birth control death control should be performed legally and with the help of the medical community Without access to assisted deaths many frail old people are left to endure wretched deaths Some die slowly of neglect or malnutrition in nursing homes Others take their own lives sometimes by violent means while they can still act independently because they are afraid that no one will help them if they wait until they are very sick Some die alone fearful of implicating friends or relatives in their back alley euthanasia While some die too soon because they are poor uneducated or hard to manage others are overtreated and their deaths delayed because doctors and hospitals want to increase their income or fearprosecution if they help a patient die Barbara Logue describes these and many other hazards inherent in our present long term care system noting that all too often the system causes suffering instead of alleviating it After assessing the alternatives she urges that we must make compassionate death control as available as birth control We must regulate and monitor it like any other medical procedure taking steps to minimize the risks while maximizing the benefits
