From Leaders To Rulers:

From Leaders to Rulers Jonathan Haas, 2012-12-06 The evolution of complex cultural systems is marked by a number of broad sweeping patterns that characterize many different cultures at different points in time across the globe Over the course of the past 100 000 years there has been a general evolutionary trend for cultural systems to get larger and more complex A consistent element in the broad course of cultural evolution has been the emergence and subsequent development of centralized forms of political organization The record of the first modern humans illuminates a global wide pattern of relative social equality and decentralized decision making processes Prior to about 10 000 years ago there are no indications of clear social political or economic hierarchies In these early millennia archaeological markers of social ranking are lacking and there is a similar absence of evidence pointing to the presence of leaders chiefs or rulers The pattern of social equality began to change at different moments and at different rates in various parts of the world in the course of the last 10 000 years In some areas such as Mesopotamia politically centralized hierarchies emerged very early and developed rapidly while in others such as the Arctic political centralization never emerged outside the context of Western colonialism In every culture area the origins and development of politically centralized social systems and the emergence of leaders and rulers followed a unique evolutionary trajectory depending on local history and environment From Leaders to Rulers

The Voice of the Seven Thunders George Kevyn Weber,2014-07-18 There is no time for the people of the world to waste to decide to change their ways and their ways of living The world is in a crisis that it has not been in before Actually the world has been in countless crises in the past before disaster calamity or catastrophe struck the people of the earth We are not talking of crises of natural disasters calamities or catastrophes that have hit the earth we are talking about man made man engineered and man designed disasters calamities and catastrophes that have hit the world from time to time History is full of them and apart from those natural disasters caused by God or the Devil themselves the rest were caused by man themselves Now this revelation is not about the natural but about the spiritual Power mad dictators rulers and potentates the world over are normally the cause of these disasters calamities and catastrophes and nature has little to do with them although they did affect nature in some way or another Small and great Wars were started by whosoever caused them without any due regard of men s lives and the resultant horrors hardships and horrendous pain lived on in the hearts and lives of the people that survived No one can add these things up nor can they count the cost in human suffering misery and pain nor the cost of men s souls lost all for the sake of man s vanity The current synopsis is catchy and intriguing This synopsis is well written and it will entice readers into picking this book up and reading it Cynthia Sherman Writer s Literary Publishing Services Critique Division

Ruler Personality Cults from Empires to Nation-States and Beyond Kirill Postoutenko,Darin Stephanov,2020-09-13 Encompassing five continents and twenty centuries this book puts ruler personality

cults on the crossroads of disciplines rarely if ever juxtaposed before among its authors are historians linguists media scholars political scientists and communication sociologists from Europe the United States and New Zealand However this breadth and versatility are not goals in themselves Rather they are the means to work out an integrated approach to personality cults capable of overcoming both the dominance of much discussed 20th century poster examples Bolshevism Nazism Fascism and the lack of interest in the related practices of leader adoration in religious and cultural contexts Instead of reiterating the understandable but unfruitful fixation on rulers as the cults focal points the authors focus on communicative patterns and interactional chains linking rulers with their subjects in this light the adoration of political figures is seen as a collective enterprise impossible without active if often tacit collaboration between rulers and their constituencies

King of the Mountain Arnold M. Ludwig, 2013-07-24

People may choose to ignore their animal heritage by interpreting their behavior as divinely inspired socially purposeful or even self serving all of which they attribute to being human but they masticate fornicate and procreate much as chimps and apes do so they should have little cause to get upset if they learn that they act like other primates when they politically agitate debate abdicate placate and administrate too

King of the Mountain presents the startling findings of Arnold M Ludwig s eighteen year investigation into why people want to rule

The answer may seem obvious power privilege and perks but any adequate answer also needs to explain why so many rulers cling to power even when they are miserable trust nobody feel besieged and face almost certain death

Ludwig s results suggest that leaders of nations tend to act remarkably like monkeys and apes in the way they come to power govern and rule

Profiling every ruler of a recognized country in the twentieth century over 1 900 people in all Ludwig establishes how rulers came to power how they lost power the dangers they faced and the odds of their being assassinated committing suicide or dying a natural death

Then concentrating on a smaller sub set of 377 rulers for whom more extensive personal information was available he compares six different kinds of leaders examining their characteristics their childhoods and their mental stability or instability to identify the main predictors of later political success

Ludwig s penetrating observations though presented in a lighthearted and entertaining way offer important insight into why humans have engaged in war throughout recorded history as well as suggesting how they might live together in peace
