Implications of Kazakhstan's Adoption of International Financial Reporting Standards Oksana Kim,2017-02-21

Despite having an underdeveloped supporting infrastructure and limited resources Kazakhstan was the first CIS country to require international financial reporting standards in 2004 for banks and in 2005 for all public companies What were the economic consequences of this important reform In the 1990s Kazakhstan s capital market reforms mirrored those of Russia due to the two countries cooperating mode driven by a high level of resource interdependence and environmental uncertainty following the collapse of the Soviet Union Yet by 2003 dependence on external donors the IMF World Bank took precedence over interdependence with Russia As a result Kazakhstan unilaterally proceeded with adoption of IFRS while Russia backed up from this initiative This study reports that Kazakhstan s inflow of foreign direct investments was the greatest among the CIS nations following the adoption of IFRS In addition in 2005 11 Kazakhstani public firms reporting quality was higher than that of the Russian public firms operating in a similar environment but exempt from the IFRS reporting requirement

Kazakhstan was the first CIS nation to repay its external debt ahead of schedule and to receive an investment grade from Moody s rating agency The book concludes that Western style capital market reforms in this emerging market with a not so distant communist past had significantly positive outcomes Transition, Recession and Labour Supply Paolo

Verme,2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2001 Exploring the relationship between the recession and labour supply in Kazakhstan during the 1990s this volume develops an innovative new model of the transitional process in the context of the CIS It departs from conventional economic models explaining the process of transition transferring the focus of attention from labour demand to labour supply with a view to clarifying how the transitional recession has affected households and in turn how these changes modified the supply of labour Paolo Verme examines how the dynamic of the reallocation of labour between state and private enterprises has been drastically altered by the growth of self employment and also takes a much needed look at the contribution of other factors offering an original explanation of this most important economic
