

What, then, is the soul but a prisoner of your flesh? An undying yet constrained energy, bound and enslaved within a shuffling, steadily rotting suit of tissue and savage needs?

Automated Media Mark Andrejevic, 2019-09-24 In this era of pervasive automation Mark Andrejevic provides an original framework for tracing the logical trajectory of automated media and their social political and cultural consequences This book explores the cascading logic of automation which develops from the information collection process through to data processing and finally automated decision making It argues that pervasive digital monitoring combines with algorithmic decision making and machine learning to create new forms of power and control that pose challenges to democratic forms of accountability and individual autonomy alike Andrejevic provides an overview of the implications of these developments for the fate of human experience describing the bias of automation through the logics of pre-emption operationalism and framelessness Automated Media is a fascinating and groundbreaking new volume a must read for students and researchers of critical media studies interested in the intersections of media technology and the digital economy

God in our Nature Peter Kenneth Stevenson,2007-09-01 Arguably the leading Scottish theologian of the nineteenth century John McLeod Campbell s theology is much criticized and often misunderstood Previous accounts have tended to overlook both his sermons and his Christology This reassessment of his thought breaks new ground by offering a detailed study of his sermons and by identifying the distinctive Christology which contributes to a clearer understanding of his doctrine of atonement Drawing upon the full range of Campbell's work God in our Nature brings to light a trinitarian theologian whose pilgrimage represents a journey within evangelicalism rather than a departure from the evangelical fold

The Black Mirror Raymond Tallis, 2015-08-25 In this beautifully written personal meditation on life and living Raymond Tallis reflects on the fundamental fact of existence that it is finite Inspired by E M Forster's thought that Death destroys a man but the idea of it saves him Tallis invites readers to look back upon their lives from a unique standpoint one's own future corpse From this perspective he shows the world now vacated can be seen most clearly in all its richness and complexity Tallis blends lyrical reflection humor and the occasional philosophical argument as he explores his own postmortem recollections He considers the biological processes and the senses that opened up his late world and the million nooked space in which he passed his life His inert dispossessed body highlights his ceaseless activity in life the mind boggling inventory of his possessions and the togetherness and apartness that characterized his relationships in the material and social worlds Tallis also touches on the idea of a posthumous life in the memories of those who outlive him Readers who accompany Tallis as he considers his life through death will appreciate with new intensity the precariousness and preciousness of life for here he succeeds in his endeavor to make the shining hour shine more brightly

Beyond Constraint Shona N. Jackson, 2024-10-11 In Beyond Constraint Shona N Jackson offers a new approach to labour and its analysis by demonstrating the fundamental relation between black and Indigenous People's sovereign free and coerced labour in the Americas Through the writings of Cedric Robinson Walter Rodney C L R James and Sylvia Wynter Jackson confronts the elision of Indigenous People's labour in the black radical tradition She argues that this elision is an effect of the structural relation of antiblackness to anti indigeneity through which native and black bodies are arranged on either side of a split between unproductive labour and productive work necessary for capital accumulation and for how we read capital in political economic critique This division between labour and work forces the radical tradition to sustain the break between black and Indigenous peoples as part of its critical strategies of liberation To address this impasse Jackson reads the tradition against the grain for openings to indigeneity and a method for recovering lost labours

Theologies of the Gospel in Context David Schnasa Jacobsen, 2017-08-25 Many preachers and teachers of preaching talk about the gospel few name it Theologies of the Gospel in Context assembles a gifted group of homileticians who think that preachers need to be able to articulate the gospel not in general but in a certain time and place in context They consider what gospel sounds like for people under oppression in capitalist economies in neocolonial contexts for survivors of trauma and for disestablished mainline churches marred by racism Preachers will appreciate these preacher scholars desire to articulate the gospel with clarity especially since the term is so often left unexplained Homileticians will see a new genre of doing their work as teachers and researchers in preaching a vision that helps preaching see itself not just as an adjunct to exegesis or communication but a place of doing theology In these pages homiletics is more than technique it is a truly theological discipline
