of Print in Eighteenth-Century Fiction Christopher Flint, 2011-09-08 Eighteenth century fiction holds an unusual place in the history of modern print culture. The novel gained prominence largely because of advances in publishing but as a popular genre it also helped shape those very developments. Authors in the period manipulated the appearance of the page and print technology more deliberately than has been supposed, prompting new forms of reception among readers. Christopher Flint's book explores works by both obscure scribblers and canonical figures such as Swift, Haywood, Defoe, Richardson, Sterne, and Austen that interrogated the complex interactions between the book's material aspects and its producers and consumers. Flint links historical shifts in how authors addressed their profession to how books were manufactured and how readers consumed texts. He argues that writers exploited typographic media to augment other crucial developments in prose fiction from formal realism and free indirect discourse to accounts of how the novel defined itself as a genre.

The Monument of Matrones Volume 3 (Lamps 5-7) Colin B. Atkinson, 2017-03-02 As its compiler Thomas Bentley writes, The Monument of Matrones 1582 is a domesticall librarie plentifullie stored and replenished. This 1500 page book is one of a long line of books of secular prayer reaching from the Middle Ages through the sixteenth century. English compilations of prayer and meditations that grew out of the English Reformation. It is unique because it is addressed specifically to women and contains prayers and meditations written by women as well as for them. The Monument helped define women's roles in the Anglican Church and is intertwined with the whole nature of the Protestant Reformation and the place of women in it. The work is divided into seven numbered parts which Bentley titles Lamps. This structural theme is based on a fusion of the imagery of the wise and foolish virgins and their lamps in Matthew 25:1-13 with the vision of the seven lampstands or seven branched candlestick in Revelation 1:20. Volume 1 contains Lamps 1-3, Volume 2 contains Lamp 4, and Volume 3 contains Lamps 5-7. The Introductory Note that appears in each of the three volumes provides an overview of the contents of The Monument which will help the reader to appreciate the riches of this immense book. It is also significant in identifying for the first time the compiler Thomas Bentley as the churchwarden of St Andrew Holborn, City of London. The copy reproduced in this edition is the British Library copy where necessary pages from The Huntington Library copy have been substituted.

First Readers of Shakespeare's Sonnets, 1590-1790 Faith D. Acker, 2020-09-22 For more than four centuries cultural preferences, literary values, critical contexts, and personal tastes have governed readers' responses to Shakespeare's sonnets. Early private readers often considered these poems in light of the religious, political, and humanist values by which they lived. Other seventeenth and eighteenth century readers, such as stationers and editors, balanced their personal literary preferences against the imagined or actual interests of the literate public to whom they marketed carefully curated editions of the sonnets, often successfully. Whether public or private, however, many disparate sonnet interpretations from the sonnets' first two centuries in print have been overlooked by modern sonnet scholarship with its emphasis on narrative and amorous readings of the 1609 sequence. First Readers of Shakespeare's Sonnets reintroduces many early readings of Shakespeare's sonnets arguing that studying the priorities and interpretations of these previous readers expands the modern critical applications of these poems thereby affording them numerous future applications This volume draws upon book history manuscript studies and editorial theory to recover four lost critical approaches to the sonnets highlighting early readers interests in Shakespeare s classical adaptations political applicability religious themes and rhetorical skill during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries The Fleuron ,1973 Space as Language Will Hill,2023-08-24 This Element examines the function and significance of typographic space It considers in turn the space within letters the space between letters the space between lines and the margin space surrounding the text block to develop the hypothesis that viewed collectively these constitute a metalanguage complementary to the text Drawing upon critical perspectives from printing typeface design typography avant garde artistic practice and design history the Element examines the connotative values and philosophies embodied in the form and disposition of space These include the values attributed to symmetry and asymmetry the role of active space in the development of modernist typography the debated relationship between type and writing the divergent ideologies of the printing industry and the letter arts and the impact of successive technologies upon both the organisation and the perception of typographic space The Private Press Roderick Cave,1983 The Monument of Matrones Volume 2 (Lamp 4) Colin B. Atkinson,2017-03-02 As its compiler Thomas Bentley writes The Monument of Matrones 1582 is a domesticall librarie plentifully stored and replenished This 1500 page book is one of a long line of books of secular prayer reaching from the Middle Ages through the sixteenth century English compilations of prayer and meditations that grew out of the English Reformation It is unique because it is addressed specifically to women and contains prayers and meditations written by women as well as for them The Monument helped define women s roles in the Anglican Church and is intertwined with the whole nature of the Protestant Reformation and the place of women in it The work is divided into seven numbered parts which Bentley titles Lamps This structural theme is based on a fusion of the imagery of the wise and foolish virgins and their lamps in Matthew 25 1 13 with the vision of the seven lampstands or seven branched candlestick in Rev 1 20 2 1 In this facsimile edition Volume 1 contains Lamps 1 3 Volume 2 contains Lamp 4 and Volume 3 contains Lamps 5 7 The Introductory Note that appears in each of the three volumes provides an overview of the contents of The Monument which will help the reader to appreciate the riches of this immense book It is also significant in identifying for the first time the compiler Thomas Bentley as the churchwarden of St Andrew Holborn City of London The copy reproduced in this edition is the British Library copy where necessary pages from The Huntington Library copy have been substituted

Ma(r)king the Text Joe Bray,Miriam Handley,Anne C. Henry,2018-12-20 First published in 2000 this volume is a unique collection of essays which draws our attention to the importance of those textual elements traditionally ignored in literary criticism These include punctuation footnotes epigraphs typography cover design white space and marginalia features which significantly affect the meaning of a literary text The first section of the book opens with a proposal for a new theory of punctuation The essays which follow are devoted to detailed interpretations of particular marks in the work of individual writers including Spenser Richardson and George Eliot The consequences of this approach to the literary text are examined in the second section of the book which begins with a debate on editorial practice and responsibility and features insights from editors Attention is drawn in particular to the special issues thrown up by dramatic texts translations and electronic editions The relationship of marks to the main text is far from subordinate and we cannot appreciate the full interpretative potential of a text without considering this The essays here compel us to assess the interaction of textual and literary meaning To mark a text is to make it     The Writings of Stanley Morison ,1976     The Gutenberg Parenthesis Jeff
