Karpat,2001-05-03 Combining international and domestic perspectives this book analyzes the transformation of the Ottoman Empire over the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It views privatization of state lands and the increase of domestic and foreign trade as key factors in the rise of a Muslim middle class which increasingly aware of its economic interests and communal roots then attempted to reshape the government to reflect its ideals Tumultuous Decade Masato Kimura,Tosh Minohara,2013-03-18 The 1930s was a dark period in international affairs The Great Depression affected the economic and social circumstances of the world s major powers contributing to armed conflicts such as the Spanish Civil War and the Second World War This volume focuses exclusively on Japan which witnessed a flurry of progressive activities in this period activities which served both domestic and international society during the tumultuous decade Featuring an interdisciplinary and international group of scholars

Reporting Islam Elizabeth

Poole,2002-06-21 It is a widely held view that since the end of the Cold War attention has focused on Islam as a central force of disruption within a New World Order Nothing has heightened this more than the assault on the World Trade Center and Pentagon and the reporting of these events Reporting Islam is a timely contribution to this debate which looks at the ways in which Muslims are represented in the British news media Elizabeth Poole examines the claim that Muslims are universally demonized in the British press and comes to some illuminating conclusions Reporting Islam is of great value to students of media cultural studies Islamic studies and politics

Images of the Muslim Woman in Early Modern English Drama

Öz Öktem,2021-01-29 Early modern scholarship often reads the dramatic representations of the Muslim woman in the light of postcolonial identity politics which sees an organic relationship between the West's historical domination of the East and the Western discourse on the East This book problematizes the above trajectory by arguing that the assumption of a power relation between a dominating West and a subordinate East cannot be sustained within the context of the political and historical realities of early modern Europe The Ottoman Empire remained as a dominant superpower throughout the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and was perceived by Protestant England both as a military and religious threat and as a possible ally against Catholic Spain Reading a series of early modern plays from Marlowe to Beaumont and Fletcher alongside a number of historical sources and documents this book reinterprets the image of Islamic femininity in the period's drama to reflect this overturn in the world's power balances as well as the intricate dynamics of England's intensified contact with Islam in the Mediterranean

Islam Jacques Waardenburg,2008-08-22 This book presents some twenty essays on different aspects of Islam in history and the present These essays are grouped into eight larger sections The first The Beginnings deals with the transition from pre-Islamic understandings and reason an essential part of the Quranic message The next two sections deal with Islam specifically as a religion with its particular signs and symbols The question of rules of interpretation in Islam and its structural features is discussed here Sections four and five deal with ethics in Islam including Muslim identity and human rights and certain social functions of Islam Section six introduces some 19th and 20th century reform movements with special attention given to developments in Saudi Arabia and the puritan characteristics of present day Islamic revival movements The final two sections discuss contemporary issues Islamization processes and policies Islamic ideologies the ideologization of Islam and the political uses of religion Throughout the book the author shows the links between the religious and other interpretations and uses made of Islam and the contexts in which they are made The Introduction signals some important developments in Islamic studies since World War II

Re-Imagining the Other M. Eid,K. Karim,2014-07-24 The twenty first century exploded into the global imagination with unforgettable scenes of death and destruction An apocalyptic clash of civilizations seemed to be waged between two old foes the West and Islam However the decade long and ruinous war on terror has prompted re assessments of the militaristic approach to Western Muslim relations A growing number of academics policymakers religious leaders journalists and activists view the struggles as resulting from a clash of ignorance Re imagining the Other examines the ways in which knowledge is manipulated by dominant Western and Muslim discourses Authors from several disciplines study how the two societies have constructed images of each other in historical and contemporary times The complexities and subtleties of their mutually productive relationship are overshadowed by portrayals of unremitting clash thus serving as encouragement for the promotion of war and terrorism The book proposes specific approaches to re imagine the Other in order to mitigate Western Muslim conflict
