an attempt to shake up how we deal with inscriptions Broad themes include the embodied experience of epigraphy the unique capacities of epigraphic language as a genre the visibility of inscriptions and the interplay of inscriptions with literary texts Although each chapter focuses on specific objects and epigraphic landscapes ranging from Republican Rome to early modern Scotland the emphasis here is on using these case studies not as an end in themselves but as a means of exploring broader methodological and theoretical issues to do with how we use inscriptions as evidence both for the Greco Roman world and for other time periods Drawing on conversations from fields such as archaeology and anthropology philology art history linguistics and history contributors also seek to push the boundaries of epigraphy as a discipline and to demonstrate the analytical fruits of interdisciplinary approaches to inscribed material Methodologies such as phenomenology translingualism intertextuality and critical fabulation are deployed to offer new perspectives on the social functions of inscriptions as texts and objects and to open up new horizons for the use of inscriptions as evidence for past societies

Tell El-Hesi Bruce T. Dahlberg, Kevin G. O'Connell, 1989 In 1970 The Joint Archaeological Expedition to Tell el Hesi sponsored by the American Schools of Oriental Research and a consortium of educational institutions entered the site with the objectives of investigating in greater detail and with more refined methods the stratigraphic divisions identified by Petrie and Bliss This book appears as the fourth volume in the Joint Expedition's series of final publications regarding their field experience and findings The Joint Expedition had its first field season in June 1970 and returned to the site for further excavation in the summers of odd numbered years The first four seasons 1970-75 have been designated Phase One and were largely limited to the later occupation levels on the summit and southern slope of the site's northeast hill or acropolis although there were also probes and limited exploration of the larger Early Bronze EB city

The Dawn of Agriculture and the Earliest States in Genesis 1-11 Natan Levy, 2023-11-29 This book invites a close textual encounter with the first 11 chapters of Genesis as an intimate drama of marginalised peoples wrestling with the rise of the world's first grain states in the Mesopotamian alluvium The initial 11 chapters of Genesis are often considered discordant and fragmentary despite being a story of beginnings within the context of the Bible Readers discover how these formative chapters cohere as a cross generational account of peoples grappling with the hegemonic spread of domesticated grain production and the concomitant rise of the pristine states of Mesopotamia The book reveals how key episodes from the Genesis narrative reflect major societal revolutions of the Neolithic period in Mesopotamia through a three fold hermeneutical method literary analysis of the Bible and contemporary cuneiform texts modern scholarship from archaeological anthropological ecological and historical sources and relevant exegesis from the Second Temple and rabbinical era These three strands entwine to recount a generally sequential story of the earliest archaic states as narrated by non elites at the margins of these emerging state spaces The Dawn of Agriculture and the Earliest States in Genesis 1-11 provides a fascinating reading of the first 11 chapters of Genesis appealing to students and scholars of the Hebrew Bible and the Near East as well as those working on ecological injustice from a religious vantage point
