Children and AIDS Margaret Lombe,Alex Ochumbo,2017-05-08 The disproportional loss of individuals to HIV AIDS in their most productive years raises concerns over the welfare of surviving members of affected families and communities One consequence of the rapid increase in adult mortality is the rise in the proportion of children who are orphaned Sub Saharan Africa accounts for about 90 percent of these Mainly due to the staggering toll of HIV AIDS research effort has focused on treatment and prevention Children have received attention primarily in relation to mother to child transmission and paediatric AIDS These issues are important and compelling but fail to capture the whole story the unprecedented surge in the number of children made vulnerable by HIV AIDS In this book we reflect on the plight of children classified as vulnerable review interventions implemented to improve their welfare and grapple with the concept of vulnerability as it relates to human rights and the African child

Oxford Textbook of Community Mental Health Graham Thornicroft, Robert E. Drake, Oye Gureje, Kim T. Mueser, George Szumukler, 2025-01-11 Community mental health has evolved as a field of practice and as a research discipline during the last 50 years Now newer concepts such as shared decision making the recovery approach evidence based practice implementation science telemedicine and mobile device technology are adding layers of texture to this domain These developments require an ever more sophisticated understanding of the very latest evidence and experience in community mental health care to respond to the values goals needs and preferences of people with lived experience of mental health conditions This second edition of the Oxford Textbook of Community Mental Health addresses recent changes and achievements current controversies and future challenges while emphasizing areas of convergence where social values health medical sciences and policy formation converge and meet This edition also features a new section on global mental health to emphasise what is known about the mental health gap in low and middle income countries and the evidence of how to respond to these huge global challenges Like community mental health care itself the authors are multidisciplinary international and bring both clinical and scientific perspectives to this volume This textbook will be an invaluable and authoritative source of reference for all mental health specialists for people with mental health conditions for staff in non governmental and governmental organisations and indeed for all who are dedicated to creating better mental health services and systems

The Chronic Psychiatric Patient in the Community R.D. Budson, I. Barofsky, 2012-12-06 The purpose of this book is to present an integrated approach to the treatment of the chronic psychiatric patient living in the community This requires that topics as diverse as pharmacokinetics psychotherapy and community organization be appropriately coordinated Such an approach is partly complicated by the wide range of differences among patients in terms of social skills intellectual capacity and psychiatric diagnosis In addition unclear insular or overlapping roles of various mental health disciplines further confound integrated treatment efforts Given such complexity any single clinician's point of view is subject to the distortion inherent in specialization Too often a volume in the field of mental health focuses either on only one aspect or presents only one clinician's unique perspective of a task that is in fact multifaceted We have tried to avoid this pitfall by having representatives from many of the concerned professions present a variety of treatment approaches and associated issues in one text Further the editors have attempted to illuminate the relevant clinical and or administrative interrelationship between the subjects of each section through a succinct introductory commentary The book is divided into five sections The first section represents an attempt to address some of the interactive sociological psychological and pharmacological background issues common to all
