Issues In Geography Teaching:

Issues in Geography Teaching Chris Fisher, Tony Binns, 2000 Issues in Geography Teaching examines a wide range of issues which are of interest to those teaching geography from the early years through to higher education including the role of research and the use of ICT in teacher training the significance of developing critical thinking skills broader educational issues such as citizenship and development the importance of environmental education the position and role of assessment the present state and status of geographical education and issues that are likely to be of concern in the future Issues in Geography Teaching details the contexts presents the facts and raises thought provoking questions which should stimulate Teaching Geography 11-18: A Conceptual Approach Lambert, David, Morgan, further interest and discussion John, 2010-01-01 This book provides a practical guide for students and practising teachers as to how concepts can form the basis of geography teaching This is particularly important at this time as the revised national curriculum for Geography which takes effect from September 2008 has greatly reduced the prescribed content to be covered and instead emphasises that geography is underpinned by a small number of key concepts that provide the building blocks for curriculum planning The new national curriculum for geography identifies 7 concepts Place Space Scale Interdependence Physical and human processes Environmental interaction and sustainable development and Cultural understanding and diversity and theses areas are reflected in the book s table of contents This focus on concepts represents a significant shift in how geography is to be taught in schools yet there has been little extended discussion of what a concept led approach to teaching and learning would entail This book will provide geography teachers with a theoretically robust and practical approach to curriculum planning based on the concepts that underpin the subject Handbook on Teaching Social Issues Ronald W. International Handbook on Geographical Education Rod Gerber, 2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on

Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education
